HALDIMAND COUNTY BACON HOG FAIR

The Haldimand County Bacon Hog Fair will be held at Nelles Corners on Tuesday, Oct. 12th, 1926.

The objects of the fair are as follows:

1. To encourage farmers to take more interest in the type of hogs known as selects.
  2. To produce bacon hogs on a community basis.
  3. To market the hogs at the proper time for best results.
  4. To give farmers an opportunity to purchase choice breeding stock at market prices.
- A good prize list has been prepared, consisting of nine classes in breeding and three classes in market. Farmers are requested to take an interest in the fair and to make exhibits if possible. For a copy of the prize list, write to Hector Grogan, Cayuga, R.R. 5.

This is the first Bacon Hog Fair to be held in Haldimand County and all farmers are especially requested to attend. This fair is yours. Take an interest in it. Make it successful by exhibiting entries in the various classes and by your attendance. If the Bacon Hog Fair at Nelles Corners is made a success this year, it will be possible to conduct two more Bacon Hog Fairs in Haldimand County.

Thanking you for your co-operation in staging a successful Bacon Hog Fair.

POND—LENG

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leng, Port Dover, when their eldest daughter, Jessie Mae, was united in marriage to Mr. Hartley C. Pond, only son of Mr. John Pond, Jarvis; the service being conducted by the Rev. D. MacLennan.

The home was prettily decorated with roses of Sharon and hydrangeas. To the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Pond, sister of the groom, the bride entered the parlor with her father. The ceremony took place under a bridal veil of roses of Sharon and hydrangeas. The bride looked charming in her wedding gown of rose beige crepe, with shoes and stockings to match, and carried a shower bouquet of sunburst roses. Following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, after which the happy couple left by motor for Buffalo and points east. The bride travelling in a smart navy and rosewood costume and wearing fitch fur.

COUPLE SHOWERED

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Saunders when a large company of friends and neighbors tendered a Variety Shower to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carpenter. In spite of bad roads and numerous thunder "showers," the house was filled with guests who brought many beautiful gifts of silver, china, cut glass and household linen. The evening was spent in music, games and dancing, also toasting the newly-married couple. If good wishes have any influence, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter should have a very long life well filled with happiness and prosperity.

CHEAPSIDE W. I.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Community Hall on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 21st. The meeting opened with the President in the chair, also the usual way, by the singing of the ode and the Lord's Prayer, which was repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted. Mrs. Meehan gave the report from the garden party which showed we cleared $77.40. It was moved by Mrs. Armstrong, seconded by Mrs. Buckley, that we pay $80 on the piano. The Secretary then read a letter from the Children's Hospital asking that we send fruit to them. It was decided that each member bring a quart jar of fruit to our next meeting toward the box to be sent to the hospital. The different committees were then appointed. Lunch Committee: Mrs. Norman Buckley, Mrs. Sandy Schwyer, Mrs. Eric Atkinson and Mrs. Metcalfe; Programme Committee: Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. G. McBurney, Mrs. Eric Atkinson. Then the program followed: Reading by Mrs. Armstrong "How Jimmie Helped;" song, "Juanita;" reading by Mrs. Eric Atkinson, "Real Neighbors;" song Nellie Grey; reading by Mrs. G. McBurney, "The Nurse's Story." Then a contest was put on, "On Trees," which was much enjoyed. The meeting closed with singing the National Anthem and the Myzpah Benediction. Lunch was then served in the hall and a very social half hour was spent together. One new member was added.

Every member is requested to be present at the next meeting as there is some new business to be taken up.

70th Anniversary and Congregational Reunion

Knox Church held a very successful anniversary and congregational reunion on the occasion of its 70th anniversary on Sunday and Monday, 25th and 26th inst. Invitations had been sent out to every member and adherent, past and present, of the church whose address could be obtained, with the result that large numbers were present at both services on Sunday, and also at the gathering on Monday evening.

On Sunday at both services the church was filled to capacity, members being present from Toronto, Brantford, Hamilton, Cayuga, and the surrounding district. The church was splendidly decorated, and music appropriate to the occasion was rendered by the choir.

Rev. W. T. Brown, present minister of the congregation, was the preacher at both services, and expressed the pleasure it gave to the session and managers at seeing so many present.

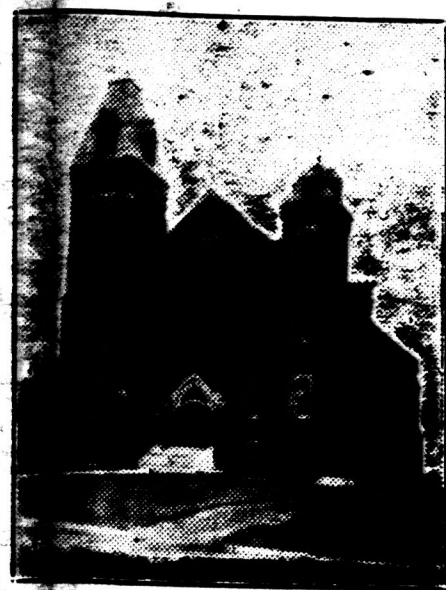

The morning sermon was a tribute to the memory of the pioneers who founded the church. Basing his remarks on the 11th Chapter of Hebrews, the speaker said in part:

"Dull must be the man, dead to adventure and enthusiasm must he be whose spirit does not quicken, who is not stirred to the depths of his being at the roll call of these heroes and heroines of a bygone age—these great hearts of the soul, who lived nobly and who died grandly, and whose name liveth for ever more. Is it to be wondered that today stand at this juncture of our church's history looking back upon the glorious past, thinking of its achievements, that we turn for a subject to the roll call of the noble ones of Israel."

"Seventy years have gone since this church was founded, the allotted span of a man's life. What changes have come! Seventy years ago a congregation was organized with a membership of 18 communicants, its meeting place the old public school. Today 230 are on the roll and we worship in this beautiful edifice. But it is not of the present we would speak, rather it is of the past. Just as the sacred writer gloried in the roll call of the heroes of Israel, so we glory, and with justice, in the remembrance of those who founded this church, the pioneer fathers and mothers of this community. When we think of them, of the lives they led, of their valiant struggle against odds, of their victory over adversity and discouragement, our hearts are quickened, they are stirred as the heart of the soldier is stirred by the call to action."

"The pioneers of this district, the men with nerve and brain, with brawn and sinew, who with broad axe hewed out for themselves homes in a new land, who fought the giants of discouragement and hardships, who cleared the land and made it blossom as a rose. The pioneer women who with a courage that equalled that of their men folk, a love that was all powerful, a faith that was unquarable, stood beside their men folk, aiding and upholding them. The pioneers, architects of a new age, builders of a new dominion, who built better than they knew, whose works do follow them, who laid the foundations of our greatness and prosperity, it is of them that I would speak."

"They gave us a noble example in their sturdy independence and integrity of character. They called no man master save One. They stood upright before the world of nature, faced it unafraid, and forced it to do their bidding and give them sustenance. It is true that they lived in a narrower world than ours, that their outlook was limited and confined. But they were men and women in every sense of the word."

Knox Church, Jarvis

Pioneers of the past! Founders of this church; those who follow in your footsteps owe you a debt that cannot repay, those who are young children rise up and salute you, honor you, pay you homage. Mighty men and mighty women, we praise God for you.

"The pioneers have passed on, for them the golden sunset has deepened in the west; for them the warrior's burden has been laid down. Slipping the sleep of the just they lie in God's acre, here and in other places. Over the grassy mounds that mark their resting spot the breeze of fall is blowing, whispering to them, calling to them of bygone days, of things they cherished and loved. Others have taken their places. A new generation has arisen who now see them to be heroes of a mighty cause, fighters of the good fight, runners of the straight race, keepers of the faith."

Travely
They said their say
And the echoes are ringing still Travely—
Travely—
To the haven under the hill."

"Like Mr. Valiant for truth they passed over, and the trumpets sounded for them on the other side."

"We can learn something from these men and women. Let us be frank at the outset and say that we are conscious of the fact that they had their faults as well as their virtues. They can be idealized, and the tendency is to do so, to make them appear as near perfect as possible. But they would be the first to scorn such a thing, for it would not be an altogether truthful picture. They were no plaster saints, they were human beings, red blooded men and women, with all the failings and passions of humanity. We admit that. Dour and stern and perhaps narrow in many things, yet they left us a heritage none can take, they gave us something richer than gold or silver, something more beautiful than precious stones—they gave us a noble example."

"They gave us a noble example in their sturdy independence and integrity of character. They called no man master save One. They stood upright before the world of nature, faced it unafraid, and forced it to do their bidding and give them sustenance. It is true that they lived in a narrower world than ours, that their outlook was limited and confined. But they were men and women in every sense of the word."
