EASTER AND SPRING

One cannot dissociate Easter and spring, no matter how early or late the religious festival may come nor how unseasonable the weather attending its advent. Easter is spring and life is reborn. The dead days are past and the requiem of winter is forgotten as the birds sing the resurrection of nature. The poet sighs, the sun smiles, perhaps, and the woman with a new spring hat looks anxiously at the meteorological emanations from the shrine on Olympus which the irreverent flippantly call the weather works. Enveloping and hallowing it all is the atmosphere that sends the soul journeying beside still waters, through peaceful valleys, soft grasses, and awakening buds and soothing it with imaginary scents of flowers awaiting only warmth to spread their sweetness on a newly aroused world.

Besides its religious meaning, that is the spirit and significance of Easter and it is older even than the Christian religion. The display of colors no raiment in unison with the earth throwing off its old garments is as ancient as the race. Man always has wanted to sing as soon as the birds did and he has done so. Even the Bible has its beautiful allusions to spring, and the vernal festivals of ancient days were a public expression of the song that was in the hearts of the people as a whole. We do not have anything we did not inherit, so it is not strange that a woman wants a pretty hat at Easter time. As a matter of fact it would be strange if she did not. And it is not to be expected that poets will quit carolling about spring as long as nature sends winter, that inspire poets to say "Oh, wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

RENOVATION

Communities looking about at this time of the year for ways of expressing civic pride can find no better vehicle than a "clean-up, paint-up" campaign.

Than the present, there is no time of the year when a community can look dirtier and more uninviting or cleaner and purer. Undisturbed, winter's accumulation of dirt and debris hides all that is clean and fresh. Washed off and carted off it reveals a panorama little the worse for the wear and tear of the rigorous months.

Every property owner, householder and business man should sense an overpowering duty in the spring of the year to make his buildings and grounds fit into nature's picture of cleanliness and freshness. And the performance of this civic duty costs little in time, expense and effort.

It is the little thing that counts. A rusty can can mar a yard; a new coat of paint can "make" a house. Undesirable neighborhoods are known by the cans they keep, desirable ones by the well kept lawns they keep. Nothing better tells the character of a community and its people than the size of its public dumps.

So the town one wants to live in is busily engaged these days in clearing away the wreckage left by winter, covering up the scars, and helping nature mend her wounds.

MOVING TIME

Well, it's getting toward moving time again, and how busy a good many folk will be! They'll have to bring in the piano box from the back yard, where it has been either a playhouse for the children or a coop for the chickens. They'll have to wren the old comforts around the chiffoier, and newspapers around the chair-legs. The old house will have to be cleaned up, and so will the new one. Something will be lost—something always is—and much will be thrown away.

There is a great deal of waste about moving. You remember Ben Franklin, in his wise way, said: Three removes are as bad as a fire. Yet when spring comes we see all the disadvantages of the old place, the landlord isn't willing to do very much in the way of papering and painting, and a new place looks a lot better.

What is even better than a new house of someone's else to live in, is a home of your own. Then when you want something done you do it yourself and have the satisfaction of knowing it has added a little to your own property. You feel established and your neighbors begin to think you amount to something. This year you buy new screens, and next year put a little hedge around the lawn. The whole thing's yours. You have a just pride in it.

It is a fine plan, if you must move, to move just once more—into a home of your own.

AN APPRECIATIVE SUBSCRIBER

Montreal, March 24th, 1927.
The Editor, The Jarvis Record,
Jarvis, Ont.
Dear Sir:—
If I have properly reckoned, my subscription to the twenty-second issue of your paper may be a day or two later, although now residing many miles away.
It arrives every week on Friday or Saturday.
And is received and perused with delight.
The very same day or else the same night.
And now, Mr. Editor, I wish to express my very best wishes for your success in your efforts to "Boost" and honestly strive to keep the "Old Home Town" alive.
Sincerely yours,
F. L. Turner.

The Melting Pot

Among the appropriate gifts for young men graduates are overalls.

Driving in the country is safer. The rural telephone poles are fragile things.

A reformer is a man who thinks every acquittal a miscarriage of justice.

Self-government doesn't long survive if government itself tries to do it all.

Another good way to save money is to make more than you have time to spend.

Well, a man has a right to call his bald area a "spot." Think how large sun spots are.

Why fall out with people? Do you cuss an oak tree because it doesn't bear apples?

Perhaps the easiest way to acquire a dominating personality is to be born feminine.

"I appeal to your intelligence" usually means: "Now I'll try a little soft soap on you."

The thing that makes critics tire some is their inability to find anything new to scold about.

There's no need to worry when he's out at night if she likes to sit on dad's lap at home.

WE GO ONE BETTER

He stood there by the bloomin' door.
Ah, he was just a sap.
And no one opened it because
He didn't give a rap.

His socks were full of great big holes.
Though he had lots of yarn.
For he was, of the shiftless sort,
And didn't give a darn.

He spilled the glue pot on the floor.
It made an awful muss.
He was a very saintly man
And didn't give a cuss.

The river flooded o'er its banks.
The men turned round and ran.
They might have saved the land from flood,
But they didn't give a dam.

Why Shouldn't They Be?
She remarked to her husband that Roberts, the night gateman, said that women are better drivers than men.
Husband growled, "Why shouldn't they be. They've got nobody in the back seat giving them orders."

SOME BAD EGGS EXPOSED— BUT ARE NOT TOO ROTTEN

Pete Banks says, there is no difference between an old man, a young man, and a worm—the chickens get them all.

English Vicar (making announcement)—"Next Sunday being egg day on behalf of the cottage hospital, will the congregation please lay their eggs in the font as they come into the church?"

Marshall Roberts says the reason happiness never hatches for some people is because they keep chasing the hen off the nest.

Bruce Hair says a man in Kansas City can lay 36,000 bricks a day. Go out and read this to you hens.

Dick Nelles says with the spreading of prohibition, cocktails will be confined to the barnyard.

THE MARCH ROD AND GUN AND CANADIAN SILVER FOX NEWS

The first of a thrilling series of stories, based on the early fur trading days in the North West written by Samuel Alexander White is one of the notable features of the April number of "Rod and Gun and Silver Fox News" which is just issued. The story "Blinded Brigades," however, is only one item of a table of contents. Bonycastle Dale has an interesting miscellany of nature notes from the Maritimes. H. Mortimer Batten F. Z. S. writes this month about the porcupine and the skunk. Valuable woodcrafting information is contained in W. C. Motley's "Outdoor Talk" while the angling, gun and kennel specialists have also very good departments. The matter of national conservation of fish and game resources is the subject of considerable discussion in the April issue.

"Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News" is published monthly by W. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock, Ont.
