Turtle, 10,000,000 Years Old, Found
Dug Up in North Dakota With Floating Rocks and Other
Prehistoric Relics

ON EXHIBIT IN ST. PAUL

St. Paul—Floating rocks and a petrified turtle are included in the collection of prehistoric relics which have been found in the Bad Lands of North Dakota and placed on exhibition at St. Paul, Minn.

The turtle and other articles were picked up in the proposed Roosevelt Park region near Medora, and were described recently by C. R. Stauffer, professor of geology at the University of Minnesota.

"The turtle probably was buried ten million years ago by hot ashes carried by the wind from the erupting Rocky Mountains," explained Prof. Stauffer. "The fact that the shell is intact, indicates that the turtle did not die a natural death."

He said the floating rocks were melted by the intense heat of burning coal mines. The molten rock was full of gaseous bubbles which remained as the mass solidified, thus making the rocks buoyant.

Other articles in the exhibit includes a petrified piece of redwood, the point of a prehistoric mammal and bones of other animals, buried centuries ago.

"Well, well, old fellow, you look half dead. Why don't you take a vacation, or have you?"

According to the public's idea here are two kinds of chorus girls and the other kind aren't working.

"Modesty is a disease," states a doctor. Some of our novelists and playwrights have a decidedly healthy outlook at that rate.

"Will you promise to marry me?" "No, but I'd like to have an option on you till the end of the season!"

Mistress—"Who was the gentleman who called just now, Mary?" Mary—"That wasn't no gentleman, mum, it was the master come back for his coat."

"You seem to have a good deal of faith in doctors," said Barratt to his invalid friend. "I have," was the reply. "A doctor would be foolish to let a good customer like me die."—Tit-Bits, London.

"One, two; one two; higher, faster, higher."
Oh, why did I eat that pie?
These exercises three.
"Head to left, bend to right. Forward, backward; stop."

A pound a day must melt away.
I'm melting drop by drop.
No rest. No peace. No beauty nap.
Haven't had a decent meal;
But no one gives a rap.

"One, two; one, two"—I'm sick and tired of that.
I want to eat. I want to sleep.
All right, then, I'll be fat!

"Is your husband a good provider, Mandy?"
"Shuh is a providah, nothin' but. He's going to buy furniture providin' he gits the money; he's goin' to git the money providin' he goes to work; he goes to work providin' there's nothin' else to be did, providin' the job suits him. He sutlinly is a providah."

Doctor—"Oh, pretty good, but I wouldn't start reading any continued stories."

The story that fishing-worms can sing probably originated from some fisherman who heard a mosquito while he was putting on the bait.

Some men put business before pleasure; the wise ones put pleasure in business.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR FLOWER LOVERS SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Quebec Lady.

Mrs. David Logan, Thetford Mines, West. Que., gives unstinted praise to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the good they have done in her family. Mrs. Logan says: "I have been a user of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for many years, as occasion required, and have always found them a most reliable medicine. My husband, who was recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, and was in a very weak condition, took the pills, and through them gained health and strength. My daughter was in a run-down condition, and was forced to discontinue work. Again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were resorted to and she was soon restored to excellent health. Then my eldest boy had an operation performed for adenoids, which left him in a weak condition. Once more Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were tried, and he was soon in excellent health. So I can truly say that more than satisfaction has been obtained by the use of this medicine. The pills have done more good in my home than hundreds of dollars worth of more expensive medicines."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the innards, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of the face and lips that are the result of this impure blood.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GARY'S HAND WAVES STEEL MILLS START

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation passed his hand several times over a glass sphere on his desk at 71 Broadway, New York, on June 16 last and a minute quantity of electricity thus released, amplified and transmitted to Pittsburgh, set in motion a 700-volt motor-generator used to furnish power for the rolling machinery of the Homestead Works of the Carnegie Steel Company. Says "The Iron Trade Review" (Cleveland):

"The demonstration was arranged by the corporation and the Westinghouse Electric Company as a feature of the convention of the iron and steel electrical engineers at Pittsburgh. The delegates visited the Homestead works to witness the spectacular start."

"The sphere on Judge Gary's desk was lined with silver and served as a plate of a condenser. Judge Gary's hand served as the other plate. A grid-glow relay, a recent Westinghouse development, connected by telegraph line to the Westinghouse works at Newark, interrupted the continuous 42.95 meter wave of the station there. The wave thus interrupted traveled by air to Pittsburgh, where it was picked up in the Westinghouse works at Homestead, amplified, and transmitted by wire to the Homestead mill. Acting through sensitive relays, the wave then set the generator in motion."

"It was said the grid-glow tube employed in the demonstration was probably the most sensitive device of its kind perfected for practical use. The tube is a relay operated by a small current and controlling a current of much greater amplitude. The ordinary relays used in electrical engineering have an amplifying power of about 10,000, but the tube will amplify 100,000,000 times. It requires about one-hundredth of a watt for operation, or about one-fourth the energy expended by a fly in crawling upward one inch in one second."

"The Homestead mill is one of the largest steel works operated by electricity. No less than ten thousand carloads of material were required to electrify it, including 336 motors of more than 100,000 horse-power, 61 cranes of from 5 to 275 tons lifting capacity, 80 miles of conduit for electric wiring and 30,000 tons of structural steel."

Minard's Liniment relieves Backache.

Down the winding country lane walked a strange trio—a pretty and perfectly composed girl and two men—on whose faces could be perceived the influence of the green-eyed monster. Suddenly a severe thunderstorm came on. Lightning flashed vividly on one of the men, confessed that he was frightened. "What are you afraid of?" asked the other man coldly. "I'm as cool as can be." "Of course you are," snapped the first speaker. "And if I were alone I should be the same; but I'm afraid for Miss Marple in this lightning. She's so attractive!"

"What is the new structure you have put up on the hill there?" asked a curious visitor of a farmer. "Well," replied the farmer, "if I find a tenant for it it's a bungalow; if I don't, it's a barn."

Peace and Parity

London Observer (Ind.): At Washington it rested with the United States to lay down the standard for capital ships. At Geneva it rests with Britain to lay down the standard for light cruisers. This follows both from Britain's own dependence on imported food and from the world-wide extent of her Empire. Cruisers are the guarantees of communications and supplies alike, and Britain's needs determine her requirements. Whatever they may be, there can be no dispute as to the right of the United States to build up to the same level. How far she may care to exercise that right is, of course, a matter for her own people to decide.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Sufficed So She Could Not Walk. Returned to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mining, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed, I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and had had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it."—Mrs. NEAL BOWSER, R.R. 1, Mining, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.
