

House

Every room where there is a fire should be an escape route that is kept clear. In some houses, these escape routes are concealed in the radiators and elsewhere almost anything that can be used to get from the room to the street.

After proper humidity is reached, look for gas from the coal stove or gas furnace. A small amount of gas so small that it is not perceptible to people yet is sufficient to cause plants to die. Rooms should be thoroughly ventilated three times a day, at all weather, care being taken to see that they are not too dry.

Will play havoc with the time of the year, the out-of-doors or too hot or the candles on a hot sunshine. The best place for the mantel is a place for it if that is the coolest places in the house. The mantel should be removed from heated rooms and kept there until ready to be occupied.

These general rules for greenhouses and plants are able to prolong a bloom. It is surprising how long flowers will last under conditions than they receive only casual care.

Run Down in Health

Why Many Men and Women Are Bodily Handicapped.

When you are so run down in health that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy your leisure hours, or obtain rest, it is time you looked to the cause. If you do not, a serious breakdown is almost sure to result. In nearly all cases this condition, which doctors usually describe as general debility, is due to poor blood—blood that is deficient in red corpuscles. When the blood is thin and weak your whole system suffers. You lose appetite, have no energy, your nerves trouble you and you feel restless.

What you need is help to build up your blood and you should begin at once to make your blood rich and red by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will soon notice the difference in your health by a better appetite and increased vigor. The reason is that the new blood created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stimulates all the organs of the body to healthy activity and so the system gains nourishment and strength. If you are weak or out of sorts, begin gaining new strength today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was in a badly run down condition," says Mrs. J. Potter, of Winnetka, Ill., "when I began using Williams' Pink Pills and they fully restored my health. I strongly recommend this medicine to all weak people."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BARKING IN PHONE BRINGS RESCUE PARTY

Philadelphia.—The barks of two pet Boston terriers carried over an open telephone wire brought neighbors to the rescue of Mrs. Mabel Henry, 35 years old, who was being beaten by a masked man in her West Philadelphia home.

Before help arrived, however, the dogs, biting at the intruder's hands and chewing his clothes, had routed him. One terrier was licking the bruises inflicted by the mistress's assailant and the other was pawing frantically at the kitchen door when Mrs. Catherine Lehman and her husband, with other neighbors, reached the house. Mrs. Henry was unconscious on the kitchen floor.

While her husband was away for a short time Mrs. Henry was talking over the telephone with Mrs. Lehman. The receiver, which she had put down to answer the intruder's raps, was knocked to the floor during the ensuing struggle, and the dogs' barks were carried to the ear of Mrs. Lehman.

Ford Advertising Cost $1,700,000

Five-Day Campaign—Every U.S. and Canadian Daily Used

New York.—The new Ford has been heralded into the world with one of the most remarkable advertising campaigns ever known.

The campaign, which ended Wednesday, for the present, cost $1,700,000 for five days. Full page advertisements were carried in about 2,000 daily papers or virtually every daily in the United States and Canada.

Individual dealers, through additional advertising, brought the figure to $1,700,000. No such advertising appropriation, it was said, has ever been made for so short a campaign. It was confined entirely to daily newspapers.

About 12 per cent of the national total spent by the company was for advertising in Jewish newspapers. No other foreign language medium was used.

Mountain Named For Premier Baldwin

Monday.

Fitting monuments to four former Prime Ministers of Canada and a memento of the visit of the present British Premier, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, have been set aside in the Rocky Mountains of Canada where a series of peaks have been officially named the Premier Group, and five of them have been named respectively, Mount Statley Baldwin; Mt. Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Mt. Sir Mackenzie Bowell; Mt. Sir John Thompson and Mt. Sir John Abbott.

The naming of a mountain after Premier Baldwin in honor of his visit to Canada during the Diamond Jubilee year of Confederation was considered a fitting mark of the Dominion's esteem for him.

OWL-LAFFS

In astonishment the judge turned to the witness and asked: "Do you mean the court to understand that you stood by and saw this man strike down the poor woman again and again?"

"Yes, your honor. I saw it all."

"And you made no effort to interfere?"

"I couldn't, your honor."

"Why not?" thundered the judge.

"I was filling my pipe."

One of the chief rewards of business is its accumulated friendships, built upon mutual understanding and esteem. At this season, when sentiments of friendship, appreciation and good cheer find universal expression, we are happy to have this opportunity of greeting the increasing number of friends, new and old, who have by their good will added pleasure to the tasks of our daily life. We wish them an overflowing measure of happiness and prosperity and hope we may have, for many years, the continued inspiration of their friendship.

Italian Auto Racer Escapes Death As Car Somersaults at 150 Miles An Hour

London.—While flashing over the Pendine sands recently at 150 miles an hour in an attempt to break the world's speed record, the Italian racing driver, Foresti, turned a double somersault with his car and nearly shared the fate of Parry Thomas, the English motorist killed under the same circumstances on the same course.

Signora Foresti saw her husband's baby Demonator car skid, strike a flag, spin around, overturn, roll over and finally come to rest a complete wreck in a dense column of smoke. In a state of almost collapse she was hurried to the spot in an automobile, only to learn that her husband was alive and almost unhurt.

Foresti, a blackened figure, climbed from the wreckage, lifted his arms above his head in a gesture of despair and then sank into the arms of a bystander. Blood was streaming from a cut over his eye, but aside from bruises and a strained shoulder this was his only injury.

Foresti had made one effort to beat the existing mile record, but failed by three seconds. In a second effort he was near the end of the mile when he struck a pole. The rear of his car rose in the air, almost flinging the driver from the cockpit. The car turned twice on its side and the figure of Foresti was visible being dragged along on his back. Then with the engine still running, the car, with a series of final crashes, turned twice over him.

This was Foresti's second escape. On the Pendine course last August his car skidded at 130 miles an hour and his leg was scorched by backfire.

Parry Thomas was killed there last Summer when one of the driving chains on a back wheel broke, decapitating him after the car had somersaulted.

BANS KAISER ROLE IN PLAY

Court Order is Read in Berlin Drama Instead of Wilhelm's Lines

Berlin.—Leo Lania, author of "Rasputin," a Communist play running on the Placator stage here, appeared in his famous "three kings" scene in person, instead of a figure dressed and masked as ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, and read a court order preventing Wilhelm being represented instead of the lines written for that role.

The court attended a performance, and since Franz Joseph is depicted as a bigot and fool, it concluded that the ex-Kaiser's character would be misrepresented.

The theatre has appealed the case and means to have the court order read every night until a final decision is rendered.

MADE HER BABY PLUMP AND WELL

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit conferred upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak in enthusiastic terms of them. For instance, Mrs. Zepherin Lavole, Three Rivers, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to regulate the baby's stomach and bowels, and make him plump and well. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all mothers to do likewise." Most of the ordinary ailments of childhood arise in the stomach and bowels, and can be quickly banished by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets relieve constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, allay teething pains and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are safe even for the youngest and most delicate child. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LEFT GEMS TO QUEEN MARY

Countess Torby Bequeathed Historic Jewels to Her

London.—Countess Torby, the daughter of Prince Nicholas of Nassau and his morganic wife, and granddaughter of Pushkin, the Russian poet, bequeathed a ruby brooch and pendant, originally chosen for the Empress Alexandra of Russia, to Queen Mary.

The Countess, who died last September and left English property valued at $85,000, directed that the pearl necklace she was in the habit of wearing daily should be sold to pay the death duties on the estate.

Peking Raid Bares Red Hand in China

Documents From Russian Embassy Show Moscow Bribed Nationalist Generals

Intended To Betray Them

Peking.—Backing of first one Chinese faction or general and another, at the same time taking care that each faction's army was honey-combed with Communism—that, in brief, has been the official policy of the Russian Government as shown by revelations of some of the papers seized last April when Marshal Chang Tso-lin's troops raided the Soviet Military Attaché's office adjoining the Russian Embassy in Peking.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Marshal Feng Yushiang, General Chiang Kai-shek and General Tang Sheng-shi have all suffered from the perfidy of their supposed Russian allies, the new documents reveal. Orders from the Russian Government, transmitted to Michael Borodin through the embassy here, contain definite instructions in the cases of these Chinese leaders first to "create an efficient military force," and second, "at the same time to sow the seeds of decay in the army in order to insure that it cannot turn against us in the future."

In the case of Marshal Feng Yushiang, the specific instructions were that "his army must be developed into a strong force to be used for our purpose, but must be so controlled that when our goal is reached the machinery can easily be pulled."

"WHITE" MAKES DISCLOSURES

These revelations have been made by M. Mitarevsky, a "White" Russian who was retained by the Peking Government to assist the official Chinese Commission appointed to sift the vast mass of incriminating papers seized in last April's raid.

Both Moscow and the Chinese Nationalist Government have always declared that Borodin was not sent to Canton by Russia but that he went there at the invitation of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen and was paid his salary by the Canton regime. Yet the documents seized here show that Borodin reached Canton on October 6, 1924, traveling on Russian money, made regular weekly reports to the Soviet Embassy here and to Moscow, and was regularly supplied with large sums of Russian funds.

Instead of being a day of rest, Sunday has resolved itself into a day of arrest.
