THE BALKAN SITUATION

Experts Agree The Strained Relations are Ominous

Another Balkan war is predicted by the editors of some of our most conservative dailies unless European Powers intervene to check the growing hostility between Jugaslavia and Albania. The rupture of diplomatic relations between these two Adriatic countries on June 4 would mean little, observes the Washington Post, if only these two Balkan States were concerned, "but in view of the strained relations between Italy and Jugoslavia, the incident may be the forerunner of highly important events." The French Foreign Ofice, reports J. G. Hamilton, in a Paris dispatch to the Baltimere Sun, 'has agreed with Great Brits - to do its utmost to prevent a situation, frankly recognized as dangerous to the peace of Europe, from developing further." The League of Nations also has bean asked to investigate the rupture of diplomatic relations between the two Adriatic countries. To the Louisville Courier Journal:

"The break between Jugoslavia and Albania is both sudden and ominous. Muszolini has refueed to submit the quartel to the League of Nations, and has rejected the offer of France, England, and Germany to smooth out the difficulties.

He said that he was on his way to Virginia from Fiorida, and when his automobile broke down near the plantation of "Dr. King" he was shanghaied to work there, escaping only two weeks aro.

The Governor is inclined to doubt the truth of the sensational charges. It was pointed out that Dr. W. R. King of Oglethorpe County has been indicted on charges of peonage, involving not only negroes but also two or three white men. Dr.King is a prominent doctor and farmer. His trial will begin in the United States court in Athens.

I. SAMUEL'S INTEGETY AS JUDGE, 1-6. II. H'S APPEAL TO THE WITNESS OF HISTORY, 7-15.

INTRODUCT ON With the acceptance by the people of Saul as king of Gilgal, the old order marked by the occasional and local rule of judges came to an end. Samuel whose authority had been exercised chiefly in the region immediately north of Jerusalem, from the Jordan westward to the Philictine lowland, but who had also been recognized as an outstanding national and religious leader by all the tribes of Israel, now felt it to be his duty to resign the While he had not opposed the will of their demand for a king implied dissatisfaction with his own administration of justice. He may have felt this all the more keenly because his sons had not walked in his ways, and had which he had appointed them brought dishonor upon his own name, 8:1-4. I.
