SUMMER CAMPS

Well, what's your program for this summer? Not sure yet? Well, listen while you are thinking about it, did you ever attend a C.S.E.T. Camp? If you have, we have a "hunch" that we know where you are going to live for at least one week this summer. Show me a chap who has attended a real C.S.E.T. Camp and who is not out to move heaven and earth in order that he may "get out there" again, and I will show you a fellow who needs immediate attention from the family doctor.

Just think of it — with seven glorious brand new sun rises, the call of the bugle, just after you've found the soft spot that you've been looking for all the night, the daily dozen, the breath-taking morning dip, the breakfast — oh that breakfast, the like of which even mother could not make — did I say could not, I mean would not, she loves us too well; then the morning vespers when we cannot help but remember that One of whose companionship we have become so certain during these days. He speaks to us in voices we have never listened to before as we do now, the voices of the out-of-doors; even the silence speaks to us out here. Now to the routine of the day, the routine that never grows monotonous because it is an intensive course of training we are following here, so varied, so interesting that the day never seems to be long enough for all that capable leadership can suggest. The week is filled with a study of camp craft, birds, flowers and trees, first aid, athletics, swimming, life saving and inter-group competition. With the sunset that can be seen only at camp, with the twinkling of the big dipper and the North Star there comes the camp fire. The camp fire — what a host of memories gather round that word, indeed it seems to denote the place where the stuff of memory is stored, memories of great days, memories of real pals, memories which always help us to become the kind of a chap of whom we had visions, the kind of a fellow we really wanted to be during that week in camp.

There is going to be one of these camps in Haldimand this summer and it needs you. Get in touch with some boy who knows the particulars, and if at all possible don't let this summer pass without an effort to be one of the boys at Haldimand Boys' Camp.

NANTICOKE W. I.

The June meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Oakes on June 2nd at 2:30 p.m. The meeting was opened in the usual manner by the Opening Ode and the Lord's Prayer, after which the minutes of the May meeting were read and adopted.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mr. and Mrs. F. Fleming for the floral tribute sent them in their recent bereavement.

The program committee for the coming year was appointed as follows: Miss Mabel Thompson, Mrs. W. H. Evans, Miss Julia Evans and Mrs. A. W. Oakes.

Mrs. W. H. Evans gave us a reading on "The Man Who Never Grows Old." This was followed by a community song, "Old Folks At Home." Mrs. F. Field then gave us a reading on the life of Pauline Johnson, one of our Canadian poets. Miss Cora Henning then favored us with an instrumental selection.

The roll call was answered by many interesting pioneer stories. Mrs. Evans told us of "White Peter," Mrs. Field of "Abigail Beaker," and Mrs. Oakes of "Florence Nightingale."

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem, after which a dainty luncheon was served by our hostess.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Oakes for her kind hospitality. There were 11 present.
