"Why," said a tall youth to a little person, who was in a company that numbered six big men, "I declare you are so small that I did not see you before."

"Very likely," replied the little man. "I'm like a gold dollar among six copper pennies—not easily seen, but worth the whole of them!"

"Rheumatism in Every Joint"

This New York woman suffered untold misery until Warner's relieved her. Read her letter:—"I had rheumatism in every joint in my body and had to be turned and lifted in my bed. This was followed by order. I had no appetite and felt low spirited. I wanted to sleep all the time. I was then persuaded to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy. I was so improved after taking one bottle that I continued with excellent results." Name on request.

"Worth its weight in gold"
Says Ottawa Matron

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois could not hold pen to write. Nerves completely shattered, health ruined. Now alert, vigorous and strong, she gives praise to Tanlac

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mme. Beatrice Charlebois, of 22 Ross St., Ottawa.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells."

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, so nervous to be still for even a few moments. Even my household became too much for me."

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

Build up your health on Tanlac, nature's own tonic made from roots, herbs and bark. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

A careful canvass shows that the infant death rate in cultured homes has decreased from one puppy dog in every five families to one puppy dog in every ten. A better knowledge of dog hygiene, as taught by Radio, is thought to be the reason.

Systems That the Head in This Should Not Be Neglected.

Weak, lacking in strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, poor appetite, digestion disturbed—these are the symptoms of a great majority of people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The great value of this medicine in cases of this kind is proved by the statement of Mrs. W. Hemmer, Kingston, Ont., who says:—"Following a severe cold I was left in a run-down, nervous condition; I had pains in the neck and limbs and could scarcely move about. I did not sleep well at night and was despondent and discouraged. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can truthfully say that after the use of six boxes, the change in my condition was nothing short of marvellous. The pains vanished, I slept well, had a good appetite, and in every way felt well and strong. I also gave the pills to my daughter, who was in an anaemic condition and feeling quite miserable, and in her case, too, they restored health. I hope my experience may help some other weak person."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which contains many useful health hints, will be sent free on request.

A SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR CHILDREN'S COLDS

Cold in the head is very common at this time of year, especially in the very young. Neglect of a cold is prone to lead to serious consequences. To relieve all congestion of the system is the first step in treating a cold, whether in infants or adults. For the very young, Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal means of doing this. Containing no narcotics or other harmful drugs they soothe the child's fretfulness, relieve its suffering and ensure convalescence.

Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for relieving indigestion, constipation and colic. They check diarrhoea; break up colds and simple fevers; promote health-giving sleep and make the dreaded teething period easy. The Tablets are the one medicine that a mother can give her little ones with perfect safety as they are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Drop the Minor Key.

That the smile is mightier than the frown, and "Do" a far better soldier than "Don't," is a lesson which most reformers are sadly in need of learning. It is easier to scold than to inspire, but only the inspirers lead forward and win humanity's battles. Words of warning are needful, but when prolonged into lectures of pessimism they defeat their purpose by driving the audience away or putting it to sleep.

Take the matter of conversation. The country was impressed when told that its natural resources were being destroyed and wasted so rapidly that ruin would result unless there was a change for the better. But after that had been dinned into our ears for a decade, we would have preferred to let fate do its worst than listen longer to the prophets of despair.

The effective conservationists are those who, leaving the negative for positive lines of thought, bid us feast our imagination on the glorious prospects in preserving and increasing the treasures with which nature has endowed our land. . . In all concerns of the Commonwealth, and of individual affairs as well, it will profit us to get out of the minor key and to think less of the lions in the way than of the rewards ahead.

"I Am Music."

Voice of the Universe, Priestess of Earth, Life's Lyric of Love—am I. Song of angels in the house of good; the snare and delusion of hell.

I whisper of passion; I breathe romance; I am the inspiration for work and play. Though I am a balm of peace, yet on the battlefields I stir men's hearts and urge them on to greater deeds of valor. I dwell in the peaceful chambers of content, but I am present always in the pits of war. I lead true lovers to the altar, I muse by the cradle. I stalk by the open grave. I am the incense upon which devout prayers rise heavenward. Know me, and I will comfort you always.

If my song be in your heart, you will hear my voice in the babble of the brook, the chant of the birds, the rustle of the leaves, and the billows of the sea. The wind and rain and the flowers and the dew all speak to you of me. The rattle of traffic, the clatter of hoofs, the hum of the motor, the song of the mill; ah! I change the very air.

Down through the ages I have walked with men, yet none have ever fathomed me. With the prince and the beggar I roam the earth and all men love me. For I am the spirit of the very best that is in them, and they praise and strive for the best that is within me. I am the soul of the art. I am Music.—Robert L. Shepherd.

Coal Still King.

Experts in all parts of the world are tackling the problem of how to use coal to the best advantage.

Professor Bergius, of Heidelberg, has reduced coal to a paste, and combined it with hydrogen at a very high temperature and pressure. The resulting fluid has all the properties of crude petroleum, and can be treated in the same way to produce petrol and other oils.

Another scientist reduces coal to a gaseous form and then liquefies the gases. He has produced methanol, which seems to have all the properties of wood alcohol; synthol, equivalent to a high-grade petrol; and a substitute for benzene.

General Patart, a Frenchman, has been experimenting with coal-produced synthetic alcohol, which shows a saving of 15 per cent. in calories over petrol. The temperature of the radiator in which it is used was considerably lower than in cars using petrol.

Soon it will be possible to distil coal at the pit, recover the valuable primary oils and gases, and then transmit them by long-distance piping to where they are wanted. Estimates show that the cost of transmitting 100,000 British thermal units would be slightly over three farthings for seventy-five miles.

An intelligent working man has a vocabulary of 5,000 words, while an educated man should know from 8,000 to 10,000 words.

English Woman, Engineer, Finds Way to Color Steel.

Many of the fittings and ornaments about our houses, instead of being of brass, copper, silver or gold plate, may hereafter be made of attractively colored steel, now that a woman engineer, of Birmingham, England, has found a secret process of coloring said to make the manufacture of colored ornaments commercially practicable. The new product will be used, among other things, for buttons, buckles and other personal ornaments, furniture and door trimmings.

Paying a Debt.

Having enriched itself many times by borrowing convenient and expressive words from the French language, the English language is now paying a good share of its debt by making France a present of one of the most valuable and cherished words it possesses, a word dear to the heart of every English-speaking person—"home."

Singularly, considering that the French are a home-loving people, France has never had any equivalent for "home." The nearest she came to it was "foyer," meaning hearth, or "chez nous," at our house, both of which fall short of the significance of home. English-speaking people have often remarked the lack with commiseration.

But now the phrase "le home" is appearing in French newspapers as a caption for domestic and woman's news and in advertisements of department and furniture stores. At first it was used in quotation marks, but, having successfully passed that probation stage, it appears on an equal footing with any French word—home, just like that.

If we had had to get along without home when France adopted it there would have been some prompt and vigorous objections. We could no more dispense with the word than with what it stands for. But, fortunately, there is plenty of home to go around, and the more the word is used, the better. You're welcome, France.
