Trail Riders Finish Romantic Journey

A cavalcade of 250 horsemen, the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, whose long rides and exploits over the twisted trails of "The Top of the World" have become classic, returned recently to Lake Louise from their annual ride, thus adding another romantic page to the history of this organization in the

Their return was strangely silent and different in fact than one might, without thinking, expect. No undue ceremonies or song terminated the mountain journey of these men and women from all parts of America and altitude of 8,000 feet and brought the Trail Riders given to those who their journey ended. They would stampede above the clouds. revel in the memory of it silently, for The great Pow-Wow which took they had learned, as someone has place in the Ptarmigan Valley on put it, that "great joys like great August 14th, combined the Riders of griefs are silent."

Artists, writers, scientists, explorers and others of international reputation made up the parties. In the ranks of these loyal devotees of the trail were men with such distinguished titles as Duke de Leuchtenberg, Count of Beauharnois, and the Marquise D'Albizzi. Other prominent members who recently completed the ride at Lake Louise were, Morley Roberts, John Murray Gibbon, Lawrence J. Burpee and Madge MacBeth all well known writers, and Carl Rungius, Leonard Richmond, R.B.A., A. C. Leighton and other prominent artists.
