EASTER

Easter proves the mighty reality of idealism.

Easter is God's promise and humanity's hope of a regenerated human race.

Easter is the rainbow reaching from heaven to earth with its heavenly promise of better things.

Right and peace will yet kiss each other. Good will to man will yet take the place of ill will. The healing of love will heal the scars of hate. The night of every grave has its morning; even the grave of world-wide peace. Out of the dark and Moody soil of strife will surely blossom the lilies of brotherhood, peace and progress.

Easter knows both sides of life, the tragic and the triumphant. But it believes that the triumphant will triumph. In the bright lexicon of this day there is not such word as failure. "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

Easter confirms the undying faith of human hearts. How do we know that better days are ahead? We do not know. Yet who would predict that the dead rose bushes will ever come to life again? Or that frail song birds will ever return with their sun-kissed songs? Yet these things will be.

Easter says, "Look up, God reigns, and the universe is secure."

ENCOURAGING FOURISTS

Touring in Canada is an American fad, and touring the United States is quite as popular with Canadians. But it is conceivable that there would have been more crossing of the international boundary for pleasure had there been less red tape involved in the undertaking. Border formalities have been the fly in the ointment of touring on the other side of the boundary.

For some years both governments have been trying to make it easier to cross the border. The latest move in that direction is abolition of the permit heretofore issued to American motorists upon entering the Dominion for an extended stay. Issuance of these permits necessarily delayed tourists at the border, with a consequent tie-up of traffic.

Now the motorist who does not remain in Canada longer than thirty days needs only the registration card for his return to re-enter the United States. Those who wish to remain longer must furnish the bond as in the past.

It is to the mutual advantage of both countries to foster this exchange of guests. Canada reaps a rich harvest from the hundreds of thousands who come from the States in the course of a year, and the United States does not discount the value of the tourist business coming from the Dominion. But the benefits are not confined to the materialistic. As long as these two great American people enjoy mutual understanding and sympathy all will be well along the international boundary, and the seed of understanding and sympathy is knowledge gained by actual contact.

KING NICOTINE

The vogue of tobacco and its centuries-old persistence are not easily explained and for that reason, perhaps, the "weed" is the more irritating to those who take life with deep seriousness and would ban everything that is pleasant and not useful. There is Biblical authority for taking a little wine "for the stomach's sake" and, prohibition notwithstanding, there are some worldly souls who still contend a hot toddy is essential in the treatment of colds and pneumonia, but no one has ever claimed any therapeutic powers for tobacco unless it be those centenarians who ascribe their longevity to the use of tobacco in cornob or end form. In view of the fact that so many millions obtain so much pleasure from tobacco and that its use is at least not beneficial to the health, is expensive and often filthy, it is not surprising that the war on Demon Nicotine has been waging ever since white men acquired the tobacco habit. Sir Walter Raleigh was censured for introducing the weed into Europe, the Puritans of the Massachusetts Bay colony prohibited its use and anti-cigarette laws have been passed and repealed in many states.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

It would seem that the net result of these centuries of protest, prohibition and repression has been an enormous increase in the use of tobacco, especially in the form of cigarettes. One American manufacturer makes 100,000,000 cigarettes a day and there are hundreds of factories in the business of preparing tobacco for smokers.

Perhaps the candid addict explained the situation when he expressed this sentiment: Tobacco is a dirty weed.

I like it. It satisfies no normal need. I like it. It makes you thin, it makes you lean, it takes the hair right off your head. It's the worst darn stuff I've ever seen.

HEALTH SERVICE

of the CANADIAN MEDICAL ASS'N.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH IS PAVED WITH GOOD PREVENTION

Almost everybody thinks that the other man has the easier and better job. There is a general tendency to ascribe success to luck. In the same way, many communities excuse their failure to secure health for their constituents because of some local difficulties and, at the same time attribute the success of other communities to "just luck."

It is true that every place has its own problems of difficulties. It is equally true that the healthy community has succeeded, not because of luck, but because its members did what was necessary to overcome their local difficulties.

Throughout Canada you will find a great variation as to health conditions between places that may be fairly well compared with each other. There is, of course, a reason for this. This reason is not hard to find; it is a simple one. Where the best health work has been done, there the health conditions are best, and so on down the scale, the health of the community corresponds to the health work done by the community.

Every citizen should enquire as to the health standing of his home town or county, find out how it compares with others, ask these questions of the local or provincial departments. Every citizen should then ask himself whether or not he and his fellow-citizens are providing the money and other support necessary to enable the health department to pave the health road of the community with sound preventive measures, so that the citizens may travel along in happiness, free from the bumps of disease, the fogs of ill-health, the sudden and unexpected crossings of epidemics and the precipitous descents of preventable fatal illnesses.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 154 College St., Toronto, will be answered. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

MILES of Low-Price Transportation

A GOOD used car is the lowest cost transportation you can buy. The unused miles of dependable service in the used cars we have on our floor at the present time offer remarkable opportunities for money-saving. The distance these cars have travelled is insignificant when compared to the thousands of miles of Unused Transportation which they represent . . . and the prices are far below what you would expect. Let us demonstrate to you how easy it is to own a good used car.
