DEATH OF CHAS. REICHEL

The death of Charles Reichel occurred at his home in Fisherville early on Saturday morning, February 25. He had not been in good health for a couple of years, but his death came suddenly and was a great shock to his family and friends. He was one of the outstanding men in Rainham Township and was prominent in business and political life. He attended the Conservative convention in Winnipeg last October as delegate from Haldimand. He spent his life in the Township of Rainham, where he was born 67 years ago. His widow, two sons, three daughters, three sisters and four brothers survive. His immediate family consists of Clarence Reichel and Mrs. Wm. Walbur, of Hagersville; Fred, of Jarvis; Mrs. A. Peas and Mrs. F. Crosswell, of Fisherville.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, February 27th.

NO LEGAL RIGHT TO TITLE

Regina, Feb. 22.—After wrestling for hours with the constitutional question, Has "the Presbyterian Church in Canada" the legal right to use that title? The Private Bills Committee of the Saskatchewan Legislature late last night decided such right did not exist.

The question came before the committee by reason of a proposed amending bill to the United Church of Canada Act of this Province, brought to the Legislature by those representing the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The bill itself merely calls for the appointment of a Commission to settle disputes as between the two bodies in the matter of church property.

When the petition was presented to the Legislature some days ago, an objection was filed by the United Church of Canada, and the Legislature, in sending the bill to the Private Bills Committee for consideration, ordered it to first decide the validity of the objection, namely, that the title, "the Presbyterian Church in Canada" could not be used by non-concurring congregations to Union.

FINE CONCERT AT ST. JAMES' CHURCH, SIMCOE

The music lovers of Simcoe, who visited St. James' church last Thursday evening received a rare treat, when Miss Myrtle Hare, of Toronto, assisted by Miss Aileen Bowden, musician, also of Toronto, gave a delightful concert. The event, which was under the auspices of the young ladies of Plus Ultra Class, attracted a large and appreciative audience.

Miss Hare, who made her first concert appearance here, is endowed with a most charming voice of great range and power; indeed of all the contraltos in Toronto, she is said to be the most gifted in respect to the former quality. Her singing was as true and beautiful in the upper register as in the lower, and no matter what demands the songs made upon her, the listeners received the impression of a reserve force more than capable of responding to these calls. She has a grateful freedom from the annoying and distracting tremolo all too often "served up" by singers. In addition, to perfect enunciation, adequate sense of expression, her smooth rich and mellow voice rendered her audience most sympathetic, and earned general applause. Delightful as all her long program was, Miss Hare attained her greatest success in Liszt's "Die Lorelei" (in German), and in the sacred numbers "He Shall Feed His Flock," and "Come Unto Him," from Handel's Messiah, and "The Lord Is My Light," by Allisten. The other selections embraced by her share of the program were "Still as the Night," by Bohm; Charles Kingsley's "Sands of Dee," set to music by Wilfred Clay; "The Piper of Love," by Molly Carrow; a traditional old English folksong "Come Lassies and Lads;" "The Kerry Dance;" "The False Prophet," and "Were I Not a Blade of Grass," by the Russian composer Tchaikowsky. The latter was entirely new to most of the listeners with an interesting poem, and most delightful musical setting.

Miss Hare, who is yet in her early twenties, has a most promising future, and it is said that she purposes going to Europe for further study. Simcoe can almost claim a share in her, as she is a sister of Mrs. Claude Pond, and of Mr. Merrill Hare, of this town.

Miss Aileen Bowden, the reader, was very attractive in manner and appearance, and proved herself to be a very clever performer. She had a command of various dialects and impersonated her many characters excellently. Her selections, which varied from grave to gay, were well-chosen and Miss Bowden received hearty appreciation from her hearers. The always arduous and highly important role of accompanist was taken by Mr. P. G. Marshall in a decidedly pleasing way, his organ accompaniment of the numbers from the "Messiah" being most effective.—Simcoe Reformer.

They looked very charming in their hats and dresses which were made at the School of Home Economics.

The attendance was over 400, and the program lasted for three hours. It was indeed interesting to note that the audience paid the best of attention which was a compliment to the quality of the program rendered.

From 6 to 7:30, the Ladies' Aid of the United Church served an old-fashioned hot supper to over 125 students. This was greatly appreciated by all present and great credit should be given to the Ladies' Aid for co-operating with the School in putting on the supper.

Immediately after the supper suitable addresses and presentations were made to the Staff by the students.

For the rest of the evening the students enjoyed their closing dance in Peacock's Hall.

The closing exercises were entertaining, educational and greatly appreciated by all. Full credit should be given to Miss Row, Miss M. MacMurchy and Mr. Hart for the excellent program presented at the closing exercises. A complete report of the School will appear at a later date.

However, I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all the organizations and individuals who have contributed in any way to make the Jarvis Three Months' School the largest and best in the Province of Ontario during the past winter.

Yours in appreciation,
C. C. Main,
Rep. for Haldimand County.

FAREWELL PARTY

The home of Mr. James McCarthy was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday evening, February 17th, when some 65 friends and neighbors assembled to do honor to Jim who is about to leave the community.

The early part of the evening was spent in cards, after which a bountiful lunch was served. After lunch, the address, given below, was read by Mrs. Fred Martin, at the close of which Mrs. Wray Boufield presented Jim with a handsome "smoker set."

Although taken by surprise, Jim made a very fitting reply in which he thanked those assembled for their kindness. He also expressed his gratitude for the many favors that had been bestowed upon him in the past, especially during his recent illness.

Jim's reply was followed by a short program after which his many friends returned to their homes feeling they had spent a very pleasant evening.

ADDRESS

Dear Jim:—
We, a few of your many friends and acquaintances, having learned of your approaching departure from our midst, are here assembled this evening to pass with you once more a few of those pleasant hours in which we have so often taken pleasure in the past.

During the number of years that you have passed in this community, by good-fellowship and upright-ness, you have proven yourself worthy of the great title, "True Friend." Your untiring efforts in need of assistance, have won for you the very greatest respect of this community.

Before making our last adieu, we beg of you to accept this gift as a token of the high regard in which you are held among us. We also join in wishing you many more years of the very best of health and happiness.

On the trip to Phoenix by way of Yuma, the drivers took the car over 145 miles of dirt and gravel roads that were rough and rutted, but maintained an average speed of 58.26 miles per hour, demonstrating the ability of the Ford Motor to sustain high speed hour after hour under grueling

PLAY SCORELESS GAME

The Fire Brigade team and a number of the members journeyed to Dunnville on Tuesday evening to play a return match of broom ball. After but a few minutes play in the third period, the ball burst and the game called off, neither team scoring.

Both teams played for all there was in them, except Charlie Ponnell, who said he didn't even get a chance to give the ball one whack. We cannot single out any one as starting, for each player had to admit he had seen clusters—falling on the ice was the general rule—in fact, it was the only real combination work shown. Jarvis had one error checked against them—Jim Johnson, goal, allowed one of the Dunnville boys to be "shot" into goal right before his eyes.

After the game the Dunnville boys entertained the visitors to a luncheon, followed by a social hour spent in music and fairy stories.

The Dunnville team will come up Tuesday night for another game—rather to "bust" our ball.

STRYCHNINE CURED CANCER

Mexico City, Feb. 20.—Because Enrique Lopez was suffering from a cancer of the face for which doctors at Mazatlan, State of Sinaloa, told him there was no cure, he took a heavy dose of strychnine in an attempt to commit suicide, but he lived, his cancer disappeared, and now the medical officials of the country are investigating possibilities of strychnine as a cancer cure, press dispatches from Mazatlan relate.

Lopez, who for many months had been suffering from a disfiguring and painful cancer of the face, lived in the village of Quilita, near Mazatlan. He came to see various doctors in the larger city and all pronounced his case hopeless. He bought a quantity of strychnine, which medical officials say, was sufficient to kill three men, and drank it.

Becoming frightened, he summoned aid, the poison was counteracted and his life was saved. The cancer immediately disappeared, say the dispatches. His story was investigated, and apparently substantiated by a number of medical authorities with the result numerous doctors are experimenting with strychnine as a possible cure for cancer.

In response to numerous telegrams to the municipal president, Teodoro Lemen Meyer, of Mazatlan, that officials investigated the story of Lopez and, according to dispatches, corroborated it. Although the intended suicide happened almost a month ago, Lopez claims he has never had any recurrence of the cancer and for this reason investigations are going forward rapidly in Mexico to determine the value of strychnine as a cancer cure.
