Hospital for Sick Children

67 College St., Toronto 2, Ont.
December, 1923.

Dear Mr. Editor:—
For some years past the work that this Hospital has been able to do for the children of Ontario has been seriously cramped through lack of space. A point was reached where the Trustees had to decide whether its service should be restricted to the utmost number of "Sick Kids" whom it could provide with cots or whether it should add to its room.
There are many youngsters suffering from afflictions of the spine and joints, whom only many long months can restore to health and strength.
Medical care will help; but what they principally need is fresh air and sunshine. Hitherto the Hospital for Sick Children has looked after such children in an institution close by a city playground where more fortunate boys and girls enjoy their sports, (imagine their plight, lying month after month listening to the shouts and laughter of other children.) In October last, the Hospital for Sick Children opened its country annex devoted to youngsters whose one chance to have their limbs straightened or their bodies built up must be in some place where they have sunshine and fresh air, plus nursing care and medical attention.
On a neighbor of and near Weston, away from the muck of the city, children are winning their way back to health in an environment of sunshine, pure breezes and quiet.
The country hospital at Thistle-down is a God-send for children whom it will take a long time to cure. It also liberates a hundred cots in the parent institution for youngsters who can be set right in a short time if quickly given constant attention. So the Hospital for Sick Children has now two doors to keep open day and night to every case, color and creed.
For more than half a century the Hospital has depended for the very existence upon the public response to its annual appeal which, being in behalf of children, is appropriately made at Christmas time. For over fifty years the R.P.S.C. has been enabled to make both ends meet by the donations of its friends, whether such be a dollar or an endowment.
But the end of 1923 finds it with many large bills to pay for its new venture.
To its old friends the Hospital for Sick Children once more appeals. It is because so many of your readers are included in that ever-growing circle, that I trespass upon your space to remind them that it was their generosity in the past that enabled the Hospital's Trustees to build for the future. With an extra effort stimulated by a new need, cannot the "Sick Kids" be put more at ease?
Sincerely yours,
REV. R. ROBERTSON,
Chairman, Annual Committee

SYMPTOMATOLOGY

Symptomatology is the study of the signs and symptoms of a disease—or of such alterations in a healthy function as give evidence of the existence of a disease.

By cultivating the habit of thoughtful observation you will become expert in noting changes in the important symptoms that occur between the visits of the physician and you will be able to recognize the changes in your patient that may demand the doctor's immediate attention.

Considerable knowledge of the patient's condition is gained from the expression and color of the face. An appearance of anxiety is characteristic of some diseases. Any unusual condition of the skin is to be regarded as important, especially heightened color or extreme paleness, blue-ness of the lips' great prominence and contraction or dilatation of either or both pupils, swollen or drooping eyelids. Notice whether the knees are drawn up or relaxed and whether the patient slides down in bed.

Every editor an expert. The departments of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, are all headed by men of practical experience and nation-wide fame—that's why it's first in public esteem. The subscription price is only $1 a year or three years for $2.

1924 DECEMBER ROD AND GUN
And Canadian Silver Fox News

In view of the increasing interest in the farming of muskrats an article in the December issue of "Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News" on a new muskrat ranching venture on a large scale is of special note.
In addition to this, the latest issue national sporting magazine carries its customary acceptable collection of hunting, fishing and outdoor yarns by well known authors.

Among the contents are a narrative of moose hunting by N. H. Roberts, a prominent shooting expert and one on fish hatchery work by Jack Loyle, and many other timely articles on deer and duck hunting, trapping, angling, guns and ammunition, dogs and the silver fox industry by thoroughly capable writers.

FIFTY

Fifty years ago today my wife was a child,
But she soon a lady grew, gentle, meek and mild.
At the age of twenty-one she became my bride.

Was she not a happy girl by her husband's side?

CHORUS:—

Will you be a lady, will you be a bride Will you be a happy girl by your husband's side.

Will you keep his love serene, will you keep his smile, Will you love him all your life or just a little while.

If I had told my loving wife she soon would be fifty.

She would turn her back on me and set up very high.

But it don't take very long to add thirty years to life, So I hope she still remains a kind and loving wife.

—T. Butcher.

DISINFECTION

So many enquiries have been made concerning the disinfection of a room or house after a case of communicable disease has occurred, that the matter is chosen for the subject of this article.

The objective of disinfection is to destroy the germs which cause disease. Disease germs grow only inside the human or animal body. They leave the body of the sick in the discharges and secretions of the body.
Once outside of the body, the germs die off—most of them very quickly.
Drying and sunlight are nature's methods of destroying these enemies.
Dark, damp corners delay nature's actions.

Concurrent disinfection is the term used to mean the disinfection that is carried on during a disease. It aims, by prompt disinfection of the body discharges and secretions, to destroy the disease germs they contain before there is any chance of their coming in contact with some well person. The eating utensils are disinfected to destroy the germs in the saliva that is left on cups, spoons, etc., by the diseased person. Concurrent disinfection is most important and must be thoroughly carried out until the patient has recovered.

Terminal disinfection is the term used to mean the disinfection after recovery of the patient. If Concurrent Disinfection has been properly observed, there is no need of Terminal Disinfection, because all the secretions will have been looked after.
This is the point which needs to be clearly understood; proper care during the disease prevents its spread.
To try and kill off a few germs that may have survived in a room, after the recovery of a patient, is a matter of practically no importance compared with the need for destruction of the millions of germs given off during the course of the disease.

Terminal Disinfection has been dis-
tention given to Concurrent Disinfection.

PLENTY OF ENTERTAINMENT

If any of the five hundred Ontario farm boys who are to visit the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto this month, have any time on their minds on which to be homesick, it will not be the fault of those who have arranged the program for their visit. Starting off with a bang-up dinner at Hart House, the famous social centre of the University of Toronto, on the night of the arrival, the boys will have three days crowded with interest, entertainment and instruction. Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, will be the chairman at the banquet, and the boys will hear addresses by Premier Howard Ferguson and Dr.
H. J. Cody, the chairman of the Board of Governors of the University.

On Wednesday, November the 21st, the boys will be taken for a tour of the Union stock yards and the packing plants where they will see the whole process of marketing livestock and the ultimate manufacturing of the animals into meat products. In the afternoon of the same day they will be taken through the huge manufacturing plant of the Massey-Harris Company Limited and will see the different factory processes in the production of farm implements. They will be guests of the Council of Canadian Meat Packers at luncheon and the Massey-Harris Company at supper. In the evening they will attend the Royal Winter Fair. In the evening they will be guests of the T.
Easton Co. Limited, at a banquet.

On Friday, the last day, the boys will be taken through the Ontario Parliament Buildings, and will be giving a motor trip around the Capital City as guests of the City of Toronto. More time will be spent in inspecting exhibits at the fair, and in the evening, these boys that have survived three days of high living and are not overcome by the pangs of indigence, will be treated to another banquet by The Robert Simpson Company Limited.
