GORDON HAZLETT MEETS WITH PAINFUL ACCIDENT

On Tuesday morning, while working on the C. N. R. & B. gang at Jarvis, Gordon Hazlett met with a painful accident.

The men were engaged in placing a stone which was suspended on a heavy chain. Part of the stone broke off, uncoupling the chain, the hook-end of which striking Hazlett in the face.

Dr. Leatherdale was summoned and the injured lad taken to the doctor's office. On examination it was found that the lower jaw was fractured, 6 or 7 teeth knocked out and the lips badly lacerated. After receiving first aid Gordon was taken to the Simcoe hospital.

BOOSTER CLUB ENTERTAINS

An enjoyable evening was spent Friday night last by the members of the Booster club, who with their husbands and gentlemen friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hair. There were about 50 present. The evening was spent in cards and dancing. A guessing contest was staged, in which Mrs. C. S. McCarter and W. Hoebel were the winners.

A lunch was served at midnight, when the president, Mrs. J. H. Brown and the secretary, Mrs. Geo. L. Miller, were presented with bouquets of roses as an appreciation for their services. This was followed with a short address by Geo. L. Miller. In the course of his remarks he lauded the work of the Booster club and the unselfish community spirit prevailing among the members. Concluding his remarks he thanked the members on behalf of the gentlemen for their invitations.

On dispersing each and every one thanked the host and hostess for their hospitality.

SHOULDER DISLOCATED

While in the act of unloading hay from a wagon, the team bolted, throwing Alfred Lamb to the ground. One of the wheels passed over his left shoulder, resulting in a dislocation and lacerated muscles.

THE LUNAR ECLIPSE

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 27, 1928—BY REV. DR. MARSH

In the very early hours of Tuesday morning our faithful old moon was eclipsed. She entered the Penumbra about 1.05 a.m.

The Umbra 2.04 a.m.

Totality beginning 3.29 a.m.

and ending Umbra 5.13 a.m.

and leaving Penumbra 6.18 a.m.

The sky being cloudy no observations could be made.

Whilst Lunar Eclipses are of little or no scientific value, yet they are always spectacular and arouse public interest. In all ages this has been true, and why should this not be so, for, as a rule, the general public are not informed as to these strange occurrences.

In the historical record of all nations are found many references to eclipses, and such was the superstitious dread and fear with which eclipses were regarded that special rites were made of their occurrence. The ancient historian often referred to them as the manifestation of divine displeasure, regarding them as portent of evil, which in our more enlightened age is, of course, tolerated with amusement.

The earliest eclipse recorded in history was an eclipse of the sun, on October 22nd, 2136 B.C., the path of this eclipse being over China. The record tells of two Chinese astronomers, Hsi and Ho, who incurred royal displeasure and were beheaded, not only because they failed to predict the eclipse, but because they were so drunk at the time that they were totally unable to perform the rite of beating drums, sounding gongs, shooting arrows, etc., to scare off the black dragon which was about to devour the sun.

The next eclipse recorded was also in China, during the reign of Emperor Yew Wang, on June 4th, 780 B.C. Records of 36 eclipses that occurred between the years 720 B.C. and 405 B.C. appear in the Chun Tsew, written by Confucius.

It would require quite a large volume to give a complete history of solar and lunar eclipses. In the Bible we have accounts of eclipses, for in Amos viii, 9 we read: "And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord God, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day."

This eclipse of the sun occurred on June 15th, 763 B.C., and there is no doubt that this eclipse was the eclipse of Nineveh, of which we have record on an old Assyrian tablet.

Was it an eclipse of the sun when our Lord was crucified "when the sun was darkened at mid day"? Yes, truly, the Son of God was eclipsed, Dead and Buried, but on the third appointed day the eclipse went off. "He arose," never again to be over shadowed.

JARVIS W. L.

The November meeting of the Jarvis Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Harris on Wednesday, November 21st, with 29 present.

The meeting was opened by the Institute ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer. It was decided to give donations of $5 each to the Hospital for Sick Children and the Institute for the Blind. The Institute members also expressed willing to donate $40 to help seal the Arena. It was decided to have the usual 25c Christmas gift.

REEVE AND COUNCIL WERE ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

R. S. Colter, K.C., was elected as Reeve of Cayuga by acclamation. He has been Reeve of the town for the last eight years and was also warden of Haldimand. Members of the council were also elected by acclamation.

THE FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY STAR

The recent announcement of the Family Herald and Weekly Star to give a year free with a two year subscription appears to us a move in the right direction. Not that the Family Herald needs to reduce its price; it is recognized that at one dollar per year it is the greatest value in Canada today. The "year free" offer, therefore, means this—the subscription is still one dollar for one year, but for two dollars you receive a subscription for three years instead of two years.

Hundreds will literally leap at this big offer and well they may. When one considers that for a two dollar bill you can have a paper of the calibre of the Family Herald and Weekly Star coming to your home for three full years—it goes without saying that it is a somewhat tempting offer.

THE NOBEL PRIZES

For the 28th consecutive year the Nobel prizes have just been awarded by the Swedish Academy, the Academy of Science and the Academy of Medicine. This year Norway received one prize in literature, France one in literature and one in medicine, and Germany two in chemistry. The prize in physics was held over.

On December 10 each Nobel prize winner will this year receive a sum of about $42,000, as compared with $32,478 in 1927. Originally each prize was worth $40,511, but the value shrank to $30,802 in 1923, the lowest so far. In 1925 the prizes were worth $31,093 each. The increase in value this year is due partly to the remission of some of the Swedish taxes and partly on account of improved business conditions.

Since 1901, the first year when the prizes were distributed, 140 persons have been awarded prizes aggregating a total sum of about $3,975,000. Twenty-six of the prizes were awarded in medicine, 33 in physics, 25 in chemistry, 28 in literature, and 28 for peace work.

A survey of the nationality of the winners shows that 31 of the prizes have gone to Germany, 21 to France, 20 to the British Empire, 9 each to Sweden and the United States, 7 each to Switzerland, Denmark and Holland, 5 each to Norway, Austria and Italy, 4 to Belgium, 2 to Poland and 1 to Russia.

One of the prizes in medicine went to Canada, when Dr. F. G. Banting, of the University of Toronto, with whom Dr. McLeod was associated, received the award in connection with his sterling work on the problem of diabetes and discovery of the now famous insulin treatment for diabetes patients.

Only six women have been prize winners, and out of these Madame Curie, Paris, got half a prize in physics and later one in chemistry. The others were Baron Von Suttner, of Austria (peace); Selma Lagerlof, of Sweden; Signora Grazia Deledda, of Italy; and Sigrid Undset, of Norway (Literature).

The Nobel prizes were instituted by Alfred Nobel, the Swedish engineer and inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896, bequeathing his whole fortune to the Nobel foundation. All prizes are awarded in Sweden, with one exception, the peace prize, which is decided upon by a committee of the Norwegian National Parliament. The check which accompanies the specially engraved diploma for this prize is, however, drawn on a Stockholm bank. The prizes are given out every year on December 10th, Nobel's death anniversary. At this solemn ceremony the winners are expected to be present.—Free Press.
