The Story of Bimbo

SAGACIOUS CANINE

a Dog

through its snow-elad gorge, was not winter or summer. frozen entirely over. In the middle or four feet .. cross an easy jump for uirg: the malamute dogs pulling the sled, A dog accustomed to taking orders dug in the brake. A short distance turn the look insolently, as if to say, up-stream he again turned, leapt the "Well, what ya goin' to do about it?" gap and, when the entire outfit had A little more of this lagging and he cleared the opening, dropped down would get Bimbo's answer at the bo or the other dogs scarcely could I gence, brave y and devotion. So, in- ming he had ever experienced in so three sticks marking the summit of the stead, he went back to the place where short a time. Bimbo had refused to cross. With a Usually one such lesson was suffi-forward an I rewarded Bimbo by rub-ways. As lead-dog he was a stern last few miles on a train of the partly- kon. After many years of trailing disciplinarian to his fellows, and completed government railroad. Half throughout the vast interior of the II. THE FATHER'S HOUSE, John 14: 1-6. guarded jealously his own privileges. a dozen other teams were crowded into North with him, the war finally down the rocky hillside!

of my little log cabin, was his, my leader's, by right of might, and for the were at it, although in quarters too confined for a good free-for-all. Bimbo handled hin.self in a most masterly throat of every contending malamute and the sight of every contending malamute and the sight

Poor Moos, undoubtedly it was his one hundred and fifty pounds that had throat to leg or tail, o whate and observed his keen interest in city of their furry hides presented itself, wasys took his dispoctessing hard. In harnese, at the "wheel," he was a verifiable Red Grange. Dragging sled verifiable Red Grange. Dragging sled soundly thrashed. Needle's to say, In the North Rimbo Kad navar plan.

Walks about the residential sections, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, but throat to leg or tail, o whate and observed his keen interest in city many prefer the site of Gordon's Callife. Moreover, he thrived on his new vary, with the garden near by. Here was a rock-hewn tomb, where him did not seem to pine for his salmon, tallow, and rice.

Henley in the Middle throat of the Holy Sepulchre, but throat to leg or tail, o whate all observed his keen interest in city wany prefer the site of Gordon's Callife. Moreover, he thrived on his new vary, with the garden near by. Here was a rock-hewn tomb, where him of all the disciples. He feels that Jesus is slipping away, and that were not to see him any more. If only they could know the road by which he could know the road by and dogs, he fairly waded through Bimbo secured plenty of room, which and the made use of by stretching out full wave had keld himself. Were word wave had keld himself. meet upon the craik But to Bimbo size length and going to sleep. of upsetting his opponent at the first his position in the team, he was entitled to this special privilege, and, fortunately for Lim, he possessed the fighting prowess to support him : this contention.

No two dog mushers agree upon the extent of the qualities that might reasonably constitute the perfect leaddog, says the writer, adding, "but all agree that, as with men, pedigree is not necessarily the measure of capacity for real leadership. Many potential leaders are bred from selected, pink-eyed Siberian wolf-hounds, or from pedigreed setters trained to service in the North, and a chosen few might set up speed and endurance records in the great Nome Sweepstakes." Reading on:

Yet a Mackenzie River husky, born in the humble environments of a squalid Indian camp, and maintaining an existence in spite of starvation raWhen the trail is gritty, and marks the very qualities necessary to lead his team over the most perilous trails trail sense, he was easily the best that I had ever known. He was the kind days' travel. of dog that stood in one's mind for ancestry, pedigree, blue blood; as if bred from registered stock, and trainal from pupp hood to wear the jingle-times revealing his moccasins, especially of a leader. And yet he was bells of a leader. And yet he was cially those on his hind legs, worn simply one of the litter whelped in a through the bottom. He were out Siwash fish-camp on the coast of twice as many mecrasins as any other he had been picked up as a common driver or a slewing down of the sled, and for weeks thereafter was thought have time ou. for a "blow." than the sum paid for him! He had er, and Bimbo was. One of the best been bought at Seward to fill out a pieces of trailing he ever did was to lead Mrfl uise over Rainy Pass, on the Tukon. At that time he answered to ridge of the high Alaska Range, in a some other name. It would be more driving blizzard. This is how Bimbe correct to say that he responded to handled the situation: ho name at all and, placed in the when the storm broke we were too far up the mountain ide to turn back.

There was nothing to do but stagger

Lead Dog of Note dogs not considered worth their reconnected the barnessing of the team used him. A driver borrowed the dogs a number unfamiliar with their position in the team. By chance he placed Rimbs in the lead!

Immediately Bimbo's right to leadership was apparent; and from that time he retained it. This honor entitled him to the freedom of the camps, The icy Alaskan river, plunging and thereafter he was seldom chained

A new dog in a team is always the channel was free. At this par- problem, we learn, but Bimbo was alticular place the gap was only three ways equal to such oceasions. Contin and negotiable by the sledge itself, on'y from some shouting driver soon But Bimbo, the lead-cog, ordered to learned, when placed in my team, that eross the ice and make the jump, re- the real orders came from the leadfuned to leave the shore. Three times dog. When the rest of the team were the driver, Merle Howard Guise, who straining at their collars to get the tells Bimbo's story in "Bey's Life," heavily loaded sled up the steep grade, urged Bimbo across to the opening, and the musher had his hands full at and three times the canny canine re- the gee-pole, was no time for any dog fused to budge. Then "on the third to shirk. At such a time, a quick, attempt, as we reached the channel, backward glance from the panting he turned sharply up-stream and drag-ged the disorganized team along the to the shirker if he were a newcomer; glare ice, in spite of the act that I perhaps the laggard might even re-upon the ice and put his head between next stop for rest, or even at the end make out the handle-hars of the sled his paws to receive his whipping. cf the day. For a moment he would which I gri ped. Then, about three And Mr. Guiss admits that he was imagine, probably, that the whole team o'clock, as we passed out of the storm sorely tempted to punish his lead-dog, had jumped him, as Bimbo set upon zone just before night settled down, but, he remembered Bimbo's intelli- him and gave him the neatest trim- there stood the government tripodatick he struck the ice, and to his concient to make a "good soldier" of the bing the ice from his face, it was with sternation it broke. It was only a thin newest acquisition to the team. But a feeling of a onder at an instinct that sheet, not several feet thick as he had once Kobuck and Notack, dogs new to me seemed inspired. supposed. Bimlo had saved them all to the team, decided to "gang up" on from an icy death in the water, and Bimbo to revenge initiatory trounc- and Bimbo in this way: he had his reward in increased affectings each had previously received. We It was at Seward that Bimbo had had just completed a six-hundred-mile been purchased, as a common work Bimbo showed his devotion in many trail journey, and were enjoying the dog, for that first long trip to the Yu-An instance of this is related by Mr. the box-car, and the cramped quarbounders the on- way to the Outside, and from Seward. Pagengraphian of Christ's return is thus definitely in-

The disturbance woke me, and I to the sled next to Bimbo. Soon they raised myself to one elbow. A slight began to edge into him, forcing him was unbearable, so I took him out gospels, but these d not invalidate his spiritual presence to all believers. With me to live the rost of his life on the main account. silence, and I dropped back into bed. crowded him still farther until he was a well-earned pension. Bimbo had gained his objective! The at the end of his chain. Again they post of a no:, the gunnysack that pressed him. It was too much! Bimbo spacious back porch of a friend's home throat of every contending majamute style, and the pair must have thought undoubtedly it was his Bimbos, so quickly did he turn from walks about the residential sections, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, but by Thomas the description of the Holy Sepulchre, but by Thomas the Lorentee of Christ.

Though a splendid fighter, Bimbo team of powerful prutes it he has not a quarrelsome dog. In fact, in check. It is practically impossible from anything more bellicose than V. 6. In the other bases of the control of the property of the pro many a bully would display his teeth and utter contemptuous, low-throated finsults, without seeming to arouse the alightest interest. In the matter of a large team of high-spirited dogs without first lashing the towline and sled to trees or stumps. A good leader, tering out from a parlor and, sniffling spoken of his resurrection during his goal and the way."

bristling back and threatening growls. Is made to the appearance in Galilee, without first lashing the towline and sled to trees or stumps. A good leader, tering out from a parlor and, sniffling spoken of his resurrection during his goal and the way." for one man to harness and put in line bristling back and threatening growls. is made to the appearance in Galilee, in his toes as the harnessing proceeds. by the other ogs.

When his 'arness was snapped into place, Bimbo would drop immediately fellow's being taken away. or two on the tow-line he would ignore refusing to look back. A dog might give a pull that would move him a foot or so, which would be riet with a turn of the head. But a violent tug that jerked him to his feet brought swift retaliation from Bimbo, and for the next few days the offender would be too much occupied licking his wounds to disturb his lestier on a harnessing or any other occasion.

The feet of the Northern malamute and the husky are exceptionally tough, and better adapted to hard going than the feet of the "outside" dog of fine breeding, yet they require the same on the snow indicate bleeding feet, the careful driver halts and puts moc-To me, Bimbo was the ideal lead-casins on the furred pads to protect dog; to others, perhaps, he was merely These moccasins, or canvas sacks, if not ripped off by the fangs of the wearer, usually last for one or more

Alaska, and turned loose as a puppy dog in the team, attesting to his con-When Bimbo was about one year old the tow-line until a word from the indicated that the other dogs must grent lashings by the Jap who drove blindly ahead—and leave the outcome to Bimbo.

Even on the Yukon this sullenness For three hours I could not see Bim-

Sink Bays Walanced to Great

Fifty British boys, arriving at Montreal over Canadian National Railways to commence farm work in Canada, were given a hearty reception and were entertained at a luncheon by Dr. W. J. Black, Director of Agriculture and Colonization for the Canadian National System. The boys are going to Lindsay, Ont., where they will be placed on farms under the jurisdiction of the Rotary Club of that city, which already has succeeded in its efforts to place British boys with Canadian farmers and give them a chance to establish

The World Was separated Mr. Guise

At Settle, I installed Birbo on the ways had held himself apart from ti ned in all the accounts are here A small lead-dog, however intelligent, is sure to cut a sorry figure in a team of powerful brutes if he has not the weight and strength to hold them but refrained. Fortunately for them, as he had been rejected by dogs said to have the appearance or men. There is a measure of rebuke in these words to the women, as if they should have known him better. However, he answers the question by giving one of the greatest but refrained. Fortunately for them, as the third day. him and under his belly, as though V. 9. We must read John 20: 2 and daying him to knock the blue-ribbon Matt. 18: 8, from which passage we in his toes as the harnessing proceeds. bow off its neck. When a young woman learn that Mary Magdalene had run in maid's apron and cap came to the from the sepulchre to tell Peter and door and stamped for "Wiki-Wik's" John of the removal of the stone, so return. Bimbo seemed hurt at the little that she had not seen the angels then.

> A Texas man says it's his ambition to have a suit of clothes for each day. that time. Afterwards, however, they Most of us have that now, but it's the spoke of it.

CONNIE MACK'S DAUGHTER FOLLOWS HIS LEAD

Sunday School

royal palace, where there are many March 31. Lesson XIII-The Future

Introduction—Our hope for the in greater power. The promise of all save Bimbo. Bimbo, now in his as the foundation on which the Chris-writers, in making mention of the sec-The two Siwash dogs were chained twelfth year, had served me faithfully. tian church rests. There are differ-ond advent of Jesus. But this passage down the rocky hillside!

The two Siwash dogs were chained to the sled next to Bimbo. Soon they The thought of separating from him ences in the several narratives of the also includes the return of Jesus. But this passage was unhearable so I took him out gosnels, but these do not invalidate his enjoited.

THE VISIT OF THE WOMEN, Luke The resurrection was the spiritual re-

V. 1. The evidence of the resurrec-scribed as the scene of this great act. them of the Father's all-sufficient for a while half about the residential and love must different fly."

The silence mentioned in Mark 16: 8 may be explained by the fact that while Mary told the apostles, the others were at first so overcome with

V. 10. In the other gospels these different roms. There will be a place Life (Easter Lesson)—Luke 24: be translated "stations," as if there for all in that heavenly home. It is ANALYSIS.

Lesson

THE VISIT OF THE WOMEN, Luke he could not receive them. If it were

He will always be with his disciples. turn of Christ to the church.

V. 4. The angels which are men-

Famous Father Has Lovely Daughter

cluded. Jesus also tells them that they

An instance of this is related by Mr. the box-car, and the cramped quarters gave these two newcomers the opportunity, they thought, for retaliation.

A low grow . . . a snarl . . a yelp portunity, they thought, for retaliation.

Bimbo, now in his as the foundation on which the Christ.

V. 2. Different places have been de-am the way, the truth, and the life." that adorn the bank of the river. The He is the true, living way. He is the river itself, lying apparently motiononly road by which pilgrims may less between level and green meacome to the Father's house. "To konw dows, has, its blue surface marred

this place, and he likens it to a great

Love

Old as the ages, Bright as the day Love is immortal, Happy and gay.

Rare as red roses In a deep shade Blooming forever Never to fade!

Old as dim Egypt, Love's in her prime! Stronger than Troy, Outlasting time!

Pearls for a princess. All in a sca! Gold for a ruler-Love still for me!

The Old Way of Warmth

finder.

two main schools of thought about his sketch-book, and has place it on a room, and this method is often carried and wistfully at the rich green meadto what English taste finds intolerable ows, and the red cows, and the long stuffiness. . . . Perhaps, if the cold white reach of the river shining palely continues, the American habit of tak- beneath the faint green heights in the ing iced drinks as a defence against north. the hot dryness of steam-heated rooms "Is Henley the prettiest town in the will give way to the consumption of world, I wonder?" she said. mulled wines and the neguses which Englishmen drank before the days of replied you Rosen, gently.—From "The the cocktail and central heating. The Strange Adventures of a Phaeton," by real argument for supplying local William Black. heat by means of a fire or foot-warmer was that you could keep your feet warm and your head cool; in a centrally heated room or carriage it is window sewing this morning. I possible to have only a stuffy head "So she was but to do not be was ill?" while one's extremities grow unpleasantly chilly.

a leader in sporting events at Mt. St. Joseph's Academy in Philadelphia. - Will H. Hays.

Trout Fishi

have been the very shade of he Walter explained the poullarities of "processifinating" trout in told by Ray V. 11. In Il gospels the report in secret with doubt. There is no evi-Bergman in the April issue of "Field dence that the disciples were in .n and Stream". This old fellow ambied expectant mood. If they recalled the up to a fisherman who hadn't been words of Jesus about his resurrection, having the best of luck and casually they likely applied these to his return said, a twinkle in his faded blue eyes:

afterwards in glory. They did not "Guess ye ain't had much 'sperience think of his lead body coming back wi these here 'crastinatin' trout, have V. 12. This is described more fully ye? Tain't nothin' unus'al. They in John 20: 2-9. The position of the clothing is evidence of the way in had some sperience wi' 'em, fer ye which the resurrection took place. The cert'nly 'nly do a lot o' trout fishiu'. physical body was transformed into a Yer shoes is all worn f'om the rocks. spiritual body, . nd the linen clothes them wadin' pants o' yourn is all II. THE FATHER'S HOUSE, John 14: 1-6. everythin' ye got shows 'sperience an' V. 1. Few passages in the New use. But sad d' ye ever study the Testament at more widely known, or game like ye orta? I mean the way have brought more comfort tlan this trout feel 'bout it. They's a lot like chapter. The minds of the disciples ourselves.

are greatly disturbed over the impending departure of Jesus, and they can-tinues this sage old angler. "Trout cuities. This passage consists of an as are slightly willin', continual swers given to the several questions castin over the same spot and these put by the disciples, and all of these here bivisible flies. See how they's bear upon the statement of Jesus that made? Good stiff hackles, a stiff tail he is about to leave them. He gives to make 'em ride high, without the them the assuring statement that he hook point penetratin' the water, an' is going to his Father's house, but only white on the top so's ye know where that he may make ready for their arrival when the time comes. The one neavish an disgrunted cause ye ain't duty of the disciples is to have faith prevish an disgruntled cause ye ain't gettin' fish. Chances is, it's yer own V. 2. Heaven is here described - fault, an ye'll never learn that a way. the abode of God the Father, where he Try an' think like a trout does, an' is seen in all his perfection. Jesus ye'll get better fishin'. S'long." had to use earthly figures to describe "Skunk cabbages poking their noses upthrough the earth, restless angiers fumbling among flies hooks and lines Be thou faithful unto death, and I pilgrims may stop for a while. The are all signs of approaching spring. were many places where the 'eavenly In the same paper Seth Briggs starts two ideas of rest and progress are in- fishermen.

should trust him enough to know that "The best way to catch fish," be says, "is to keep your line wet and not think too much about the lure you are using or going to use. It is seldom possible to take trout on a dry fly during a snow storm or when the water freezes on your line, but the man who fishes consistently, conscientiously and intelligently with any lure with in reason, usually comes

"Here is a suggestion to those who in the past have twiddled their thumbs until the first of May. Get out this year on the opening day with a good selection of wet flies and try V. 4. Jesus things that they should your luck. Take a few each of Hare's have known more than they seem to Ear, Coachman, Cahill, Cowdung, know. However dark their minds March Brown and Queen of the were, yet they should have some idea Waters. Put on one or at most two of the kind of life Jesus had lived, and of the kind of place to which such on your leader and fish them hard a one would go. Ilad he not taught on your leader and usu them nare them of the Father's all-sufficient for a while before you change to a

which he was going then they might Early morning in Henley! From follow on patiently, hoping some daover the wooded hills in the east there comes a great flood of sunshine that lies warmly on the ruddy side of the old inn, on its evergreens ,and on the slopes of sweet-scented mignonette, and sweetbrier and various blossoms here and there by a white ripply of wind; the poplars that stand on its banks are rustling in the breeze; there are swallows dipping and skimming about the old bridge, and ducks paddling along among the rushes and weeds, and cattle browsing in the deep green; and farther on, some highlying stretches of rye-grass struck into long and silvery waves by the morning

All the stir and motion of the new day have come upon us; and Henley. clean, white, and red, with its townhall shining brightly down its chief street and all its high clusters of old fashioned houses backed by a fringe of dark-wooded hills, shows as much life and briskness as are usually seen in a quaint, small, old-fashioned English town. But where the silence and the stillness of the morning dwell is away up the reach of the river. Stand-F. Howell Woodring in the Path-blue stream, reflecting a thousand ing on the bridge, you see the dark bright colors underneath the town. gradually becoming greyer in bue until it gets out amid the meadows and the Manchester Guardian (Lib.): It is curve that is glimmering like silver in interesting to notice that in these days the north, it sweeps under the line of of frigid travel some passengers are low, soft green hills that have grown calling out for old tin foot-warmers pearly and grey in the tender morning which used to be the most comforting mist. Bell is standing on the bridge, of railway companions. There are too. The Lieutenant has brought out the proper strategy in campaigning stone parapet before her. But someagainst cold—the European and the how, she seems disinclined to begin American. The American practice is work thus early on our journey; and, not to heat the person but to heat the instead, her eyes are looking blankly

I noticed your wife sitting by the "So she was; but to day she's on the

Mary Mack, daughter of the "Athletics'" famous manager, Connie Mack, the value of the spirit of self-sacrifice. that old one about "the higher they By the barder they tail."

For all earth Not waged an the elv What North what t State's rights ever qu Well underst 3 uirre It all were o Austerlitz, Ge Marne, Border vendet

On lines disp

For any feud

ust be a

thers,

others.

Men always

bappy

genuir

stami testa i increa

count

remed

Canad

itely o

back y

down.

William

day. A

dealers

mail, p

Medici

Ontario

PI

Bo

selves

Thi

Yo

postage

POST O