Galantry. Fine—A style expert is one who can make a woman feel modest when she doesn't look it.

Still, if you keep the first Ten Commandments the sewer ones won't seem so annoying.

"Bobby," inquired his pa, "did you wash your face before the music teacher came?"

"Yep."

"And your hands?"

"Well," said Bobby, "I washed the one that would be next to her."

Money usually accomplishes more when it's tight, but it's different with a man.

Landlady: I'm sorry the chicken soup does not seem very good. I showed the new cook just how it should be made, but she doesn't seem to have caught the idea.

Boarder: I think it's the chicken she failed to catch.

A man runs into debt, but he seldom comes out of it faster than a walk.

The two uppermost thoughts now controlling the minds of women are bills and girthing control.

Automobile Insurance

Ottawa Journal (Cons.): (The dates for third party automobile insurance have gone up 60 per cent.) When automobile owners get their new bills and discover the increased cost of probable that a very large number of them will drop this part of their policies and retain merely those applying to loss of the automobile only. Against quite a large proportion of owners of motor cars the public has always had no redress; there are many from whom nothing could be collected by people injured by their cars. To increase that number by making the cost of insurance for legal liability more expensive, almost prohibitive in some cases, is a serious thing.

Promise and Performance

London Weekly Scotsman (Cons.): The Liberals and the Socialists may have their marvellous cure-alls in the way of promises. The Unionists have their solid achievements in the way of safeguarding and rate-easing, which are already beginning to operate, and which will solve the unemployment problem in the only way it can be solved, by a steady and increasing absorption of the unemployed into productive industry.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS WIN GREAT PRAISE

Many Mothers Always Keep Them in the House.

Thousands of mothers state that they know of no other medicine for little ones so equal Baby's Own Tablets—that they always keep the Tablets in the home as a preventive of childhood ailments, or if ailments do suddenly grip their little ones they feel safe with such a remedy at hand.

Concerning the use of the Tablets Mrs. Donat Foudre, Tingwick, Ont., writes:—"I have nothing but praise for Baby's Own Tablets. They are the only medicine I have ever given my two little ones and I am glad to state that the Tablets have always kept them in perfect health. I feel so safe with the Tablets that I always keep a box in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and make the cutting of teeth painless. The Tablets are absolutely safe, being guaranteed free from all injurious drugs. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sons of Farmers to Be Instructed

Kent Education Committee to Provide Way for Lads to Work and Learn

London.—The Kent Education Committee is providing a residential farm institute to give agricultural education to the sons of working farmers and other young land workers who can afford to spend only a comparatively short time away from their work, and for whom the courses at college are too expensive.

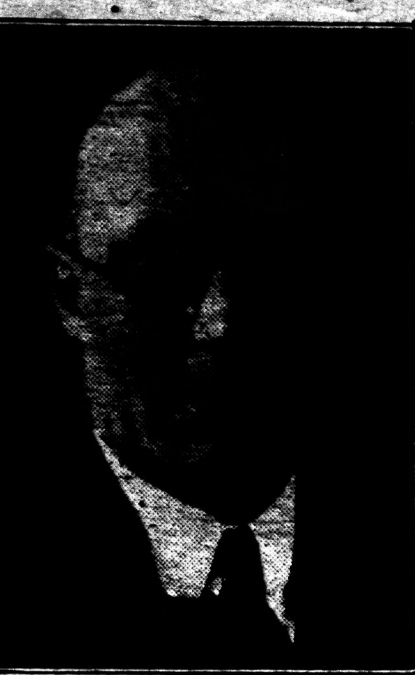

The institute, which will be opened later in the year, is situated at Borden, near Sittingbourne. It comprises a large lecture-room, two smaller lecture rooms, two laboratories, two students' common rooms, a staff-room, a carpenter's shop, a blacksmith's shop, a large dining hall, single cubicles for 40 residential students, and accommodation for the teaching and domestic staff.

Seven acres of land are available for sports and games; and there is a farm of 250 acres which will be used primarily for demonstrating, under normal farming conditions, the theory underlying the agricultural practices taught in the lecture-rooms.

In addition to the boarders, day students will be admitted. The fees will be low, and a number of scholarships will be available.

Woman in Men's Clothes Not New

Some Remarkable Parallels to the Case of "Colonel Barker"

The case of "Colonel Barker, D.S.O.," who confessed, recently, to being a woman who had masqueraded for six years as a man, is very far from being unique. It would not be hard to fill a book with precedents. Both our Army and our Navy have produced their share of them, writes Francis Gribble in The London Reference.

There was, for instance, Mrs. Welch, who fought and was wounded in the battle of Ramillies. Her sex was discovered in hospital. After her recovery she was given the post of regimental cook.

In the churchyard of St. Nicholas Church, Brighton, is a tombstone to the memory of Phoebe Hessel, who died a hundred years ago at the age of 108. In order not to be separated from her soldier husband she enlisted and served for nearly twenty years with the British Army in the West Indies, and on the Continent, being wounded at the battle of Fontenoy.

Then there was Mary Ann Talbot, believed to have been a daughter of Lord William Talbot, Steward of His Majesty's Household. She served as a powder monkey under Lord Howe on the glorious first of June; and she subsequently became an actress and played Juliet at Covent Garden.

Still more famous is the case of Or. James Barry, whose name heads the list of Inspectors-General of Hospitals in the 1865 Army List. Dr. Barry died in July of that year, and it was then officially reported to the Horse Guards that the doctor was a woman.

Her professional career had extended over half a century. She had fought a duel at the Cape with Sir Josiah Cloete. It is said that she was the legitimate granddaughter of a Scottish Earl, and had adopted the medical profession because she was in love with an army surgeon.

An interesting French case is that of Mme. Virginia Chesquiere of Delemond, who entered the army as a "substitute" for her brother, disguising herself in his clothes, because he had no stomach for fighting. She was promoted to the rank of sergeant for saving an officer's life at War am, and was mentioned in the Order of the Day for distinguished services under Juncos in Portugal.

Public Ownership in Australia

Harold Cox in the London Financial Times: The Australian State Railways have for years been losing money heavily. The loss now amounts to several millions a year. Again, the losses on State shipping have been so serious that the Commonwealth Government has reluctantly found itself compelled to abandon its shipping venture, and the ships have been sold off. The many smaller State enterprises on which Australia has embarked also show heavy losses. These definite results fully justify the Dickham Commission in their strong recommendation to Australia to look for prosperity to private enterprise, facing its own risks in the hope of securing profits, rather than to State interference with trade and industry.

West Indian Federation

Brighton, Jamaica, Sept. 21.—Just as it is doubtful if Substantia would be founded; there is not yet sufficient community of interest in the various colonies. The recently concluded West India Conference has done a great deal to improve that situation; and conferences to be held in the future will do more. The ground is being prepared; proposals have been drafted for unified legislation relating to tariffs and shipping; these West India today are more inclined to speak with a common voice than they were twenty years ago. All these things will have their influence on the political and economic developments of the immediate future; but many doubt whether the present generation will see the advent of anything approaching Dominion status. There are cross-currents observable here, one of them being the tendency to regard the Eastern and Western groups of colonies as having interests that cannot easily, if at all, be harmonized.
