THE QUIET COURAGE

Lacing that is a flash of inspiration struck from the mood of a moment is often created by the emergency which needs it, so that under sticks of necessity men outstrip the measure of their ordinary powers. Such bravery is close kin to recklessness, but captures the imagination and commands the applause of those who stand safely or doubtfully aside when fate throws down a challeng.

But a quieter and commoner coursge sets the pace and level of daily life. Because it endures all doubts and trials and disappointments, there remain such thing, as hope and amis ion and optimism to make the future worth waiting for, despite the sold logic and hard facts which preach # gospel of discouragement. So the world grows slowly better because men will have it so, urged on by the on a second convictions of an honest

COURTESY

We Canadians are not the most people in the world, and we might as well confess it. Many a humbler people have much to teach in the grace of urbanity and the fine art of gentle manners. We are s young nation, and in spots at least still raw and a little crude. We have and yet learned that conduct is nine tenths of life. But if we are wise, we will improve our manners and for, the habit of courtesy in all the comucts of life. Courteous people with them an indefinable of arm.
