

A SPRING TONIC AN AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation of Good Health Now by Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the Springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. Winter is always a trying time for those who are not in rugged health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny summer months, and grow increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak, or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in all the realm of medicine, there is no safer or better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood, which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening the nerves and running down organs, and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

Mrs. L. Hopman, Summerville, S.C., writes: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been of the greatest benefit to me. A few years ago I was in a badly run-down condition. I became so weak and nervous that I could scarcely go about, and doing my housework left me completely used up. Everything seemed to worry me, and I was in a very discouraged condition when I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon found the pills helping me, and continuing their use I fully regained my health. Since then I always take a few boxes in the Spring to build me up for the hot weather, and always find the best results. I therefore cheerfully recommend these pills as the best of health builders."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Truth About Porridge

A few years ago Scots who had crossed the Border and won success used to ascribe their triumphs to the "porridge" on which they had been fed as children.

Recently they haven't been saying quite so much on the subject—probably because porridge is now more easily obtained in England, and those who praised it might be expected to eat it as well. And now a doctor comes along who says that it is lacking in food value, and that, if you are going to eat it, you must take cod liver oil along with it.

Porridge and cod liver oil doesn't sound particularly appetizing, but it is certainly true that the old faith in porridge as a food is on the wane. And the porridge fanatics cry: "Look what fine men and women Scotland raised on oatmeal in the old days!" Isn't really an argument. Doubtless they were—because only the very strongest and healthiest specimens could survive the diet.

The condition of salvation is that kind of belief in Jesus Christ which authenticates itself in repentance for the past and in an amendment of life for the future.—Noble.

Owl Laughs

We like people who can work without making too much noise.

He—"I'd be willing to die a thousand deaths for you."
Glady—"Just one would suit me perfectly."

The new-rich family really needs a big house. It's so much easier to hide old Dad when swell company comes.

Poet—"Have you an opening for a poet of real genius?"
Editor—"Certainly. We have several doors and any number of windows."

Chicago Mother—"And now, my dear, go in and shoot father good night."

Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow the hospital and undertaker will get you.

Happiness: Not what we have, but what we use. Not what we see, but what we choose. These are the things that mar or bless. And swell the sum of human happiness.

The things nearby, not things afar. Not what we seem, but what we are. These are the things that make or break.

And gives each heart its joy or ache. Not what seems fair, but what is true. Not what we dream, but the good we do.

These are the things that shine like jewels in Royal Diadems. Like jewels in Royal Diadems. Not as we take, but as we give. Not as we want, but as we live. These are the things that make for peace.

These are the things that shine like jewels in Royal Diadems. Like jewels in Royal Diadems. Not as we take, but as we give. Not as we want, but as we live. These are the things that make for peace.

My part about the prohibition business is that it is necessary to the play in the finale.

"Oh, no," cried Jimmie bitterly, "there ain't any favorites in this family—not much! If I bite my finger nails I get a rap over the knuckles, but if baby eats his whole foot they think it's too sweet for words."

Nothing could be worse than sitting on top of the world all by yourself.

A husband gets mad if his wife assumes that he has time for trifling household errands, and his wife gets mad if he pretends that he hasn't.

Waste of words: "Children, keep quiet!"

Tenderfoot—"How do you know there has been a picnic here?"
Second Tenderfoot—"I see by the papers."

One trouble with industry is that no sooner than it is adjusted it has to stop for readjustment.

A patient in a hospital awoke after an operation and found the blinds of his room drawn.

Patient—"Why are those blinds down, doctor?"
Physician—"Well, there's a fire burning across the alley and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation was a failure."

An old railroad says: "Trying to see through a pair of dirty specs is just about as difficult as trying to see signals in a dense fog."

Nothing grows so burdensome from long carrying as a grudge.

"Now, listen, boy, you had better watch your step, because I work in the supply department of my father's business and he's an undertaker."

What has become of the old-fashioned child welfare program that used to be done in the woodshed?

How you use to-day determines how tomorrow will use you.

It's the little things that bother us nowadays—you can sit on a mountain, but not on a tack. Then there is the case of the ambitious man who started on a shoe string and got slapped.

WARNING TO MOTHERS

Watch the Health of Your Little One at All Times

No mother can expect that her child will escape all the ills to which he is subject. But she can do much to lessen the severity of these troubles. The mother should be constantly on her guard to prevent childhood ailments, or if they come on suddenly, as they usually do, to have the means at hand to relieve them.

Thousands of mothers have found Baby's Own Tablets the best remedy for little ones. Thousands of mothers always keep the Tablets in the house as a safeguard against the sudden illness of their little ones.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus banish constipation and indigestion. Break up colds and simple fever and make the cutting of teeth easy. The Tablets are absolutely guaranteed free from injurious drugs and may be given to the youngest child with perfect safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

How should a postman's trousers be creased?

While the business community is clamoring for a return to the penny post, the "big-wigs" of the Post Office are worrying about the dress of their staffs.

There is a demand, on the part of the postmen, that "trousers should be creased front centre instead of at the side." At the same time, they want a new style of hat.

To make matters worse, the claim that women Post Office employees should be able to wear sleeveless dresses is causing much heartburning.

It's all very important, no doubt, but most of us would be quite prepared to accept any changes in Post Office fashions without a demur, if only we got back our penny post!

That farmers all over the world realize the advantages of horses for agricultural work is shown by the following figures just published by the National Horse Association. In 1938 the only horses in Australia were on station, three horses in a cold. In 1900 they had increased to 203; in 1950 to 159,951, and now there are 2,250,361. In Great Britain there are 1,204,198 horses engaged in agriculture. Despite the enormous depletion of horses in France during the war, there are now 3,000,000 in that country. Although millions of pounds have been spent in the United States trying to displace them, there are 20,000,000 horses and mules in the country. Germany has 3,965,000 horses, excluding those attached to the Army.

A Shy Youth

"In his youth he was too shy to learn to dance, and it would indeed be difficult to picture him in a ballroom. He has never read a novel or war book. He does not play bridge. He is content with his own family circle or the company of a few old friends."

Fond of botany, he delights in long walks across the veld, and whenever an opportunity occurs he steals away to his farm in the Eastern Transvaal, on the edge of the Low Veld. At the end of his day's work in the Union Buildings at Pretoria he walks to his home in a nearby suburb.

For him the pomp of power has no attractions. The simplicity of Republicanism appeals to him. He shakes hands with his native servants. He is as courteous to the down-and-out poor white as he is to a multi-millionaire or a duke.

Rolls Steak With Potatoes

About two pounds of lean, thick steak. Cut in thin slices, and roll each piece up with the fat in the middle. Place in a large dish, and add pepper and salt. Fill up with cold water and put in the oven for two hours. If the gravy boils away, fill up with boiling water. Place whole, pared potatoes on the top one hour before the dinner is wanted. Bake the potatoes brown, and serve in the dish.

Observation

Little by little we subtract Faith and Fidelity from Fact. The Illusion from the Truth. And starve upon the Residue.

What is the sense in tears or laughter?

The Root of things is what we're after.

But fallen trees will spill their fruit And worms and darkness keep the root.

Fallen days will spill their sun, But paper heavens must be won. And so, while we geometrize, A bird outwits us, twice as wise.

There matter is not all of marrow. The harvest leaps not from the bar. Joy by day or stars by night.

And a gun-button will not fight For by day or stars by night.

Samuel Haffenstein, in Harper's Magazine.

Ancient Egyptian Mummy is Found

Discovery Made by University of Pennsylvania Expedition

Philadelphia. — Two very colorful personalities of ancient Egypt have been brought to light by the University of Pennsylvania expedition at Maydum, according to a report just received from Alan Rowe, field director in charge of excavations.

One is a woman called Sat-Her-Em-Hat, who went in for costly jewelry. Her mummy, bearing its amulets and jewels, has been brought out of its tomb, where it lay undisturbed for 4,000 years.

The other is a magician named Zedi, who lived in the time of Cheops, about 2550 B.C. Zedi's mummy has not been found, but evidence of his remarkable life has been unearthed in the form of historical inscriptions.

Herodotus, son of Cheops, wrote as follows concerning Zedi:

"There is a townsman, Zedi by name, who is 110 years of age. And he eateth five hundred loaves of bread, a haunch of beef, and drinketh one hundred jugs of beer unto this day. He knoweth how to make a lion follow after him with his leash trailing on the ground."

The mummy of Sat-Her-Em-Hat lay upon a pad of folded linen 70 feet long by four and a half feet wide, according to Rowe's report.

The railways own the largest group of hotels in Britain are the largest owners of docks, use 15,000,000 tons of coal a year, and have the biggest interest in the canal system.

Willie came in crying and holding his head. "What fell on your head," asked his mother. "I did," he sobbed.
