

Was Run Down Now Well Again

Takes Pleasure in Recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

To the woman in the home illness is almost a calamity. Many a woman keeps on with her household duties when she is feeling ready to drop. Her head aches, she is easily tired, is depressed and nervous and has no appetite. In a word, she is anaemic and badly needs help—the health-help that only Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can give her. These pills make rich, red blood which brings new strength and energy to weak, despondent sufferers. Concerning them, Mrs. Paul Rail, Coin du Banc, Que., says: "I was badly run down, slept poorly, and awoke as tired as when I went to bed. My appetite was poor and I felt miserable. I took six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they completely renewed my health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Savages Feel Pain Same as White Folks

Although the Australian native or "black-fellow" is believed by anthropologists to represent the lowest and most primitive human race now surviving on earth, tests of the senses and mental abilities of these people, reported recently by the Royal Society of Australia by H. K. Fry, show little if any difference between them and the whites. The children of the Australian race, Mr. Fry reports, seem to have slightly keener vision than white children of the same age. Among all the Australians, children or adults, the abilities of the eyes are the same as among white people. Optical illusions, for example, affect whites and Australians in precisely similar ways. The Australians have little or no appreciation of what artists call perspective, Mr. Fry found, so that they do not readily see "depths" in a picture, but this appears to be a deficiency turned out to be merely lack of education in this conventional idea. When trained to see perspective, as white children are trained automatically by seeing pictures from their earliest days, the Australians showed quite as good an appreciation of it as anybody else. Recognition and appreciation of numbers was also the same as in whites, although the Australians lacked such results of education as the multiplication table and other elements of conventional arithmetic. The sense of pain and that of touch were found to be the same among Australians as among whites, combating the familiar but probably baseless idea that savages appear stoical under suffering because they really do not feel the pain severely.

Garden Hints

It is better to water plants in the early morning or at evening when the sun is less hot. Watering at noonday is often hard for the flowers, and also tends to cake the earth in the garden. It is well to water thoroughly and not as often rather than to water a little each day. Frequent watering keeps the roots of plants near the surface of the ground and does not develop sturdy roots that can stand drought. It is helpful, when flowers with large leaves wilt, to remove some of the biggest leaves. Such flowers as marigolds, for instance, which wilt often when first set out, are quickly revived by this attention. It is better to irrigate than sprinkle the garden. Water allowed to run in around the base of plants where it is needed and cultivation of the soil after the water has soaked in, conserves the moisture to a surprising degree. It is a good plan when moving and resetting large plants, trees or shrubs, to observe their compass location and reset them in the same relative position.

FOUR FROGS

Four frogs buried for 17 years in the middle of a brick wall of a Canadian penitentiary were found alive and well when the building was torn down recently.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach is overworked and overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

Our idea of a man truly going down in defeat is one with fallin' arches.

In a small church a child was brought forward to be baptized. The young minister, taking the little one in his arms, said: "Beloved hearers, no one can foretell the future of this little child. He may grow up to be a great business man like Henry Ford, or a great labor leader like J. T. Thomas, and it is possible he might become the Prime Minister of England."
Turning to the mother, he inquired: "What is the name of the child?"
"Mary Ann," was the reply.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera, infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Love in the Wind

By RICHARD HONEY

When I am standing on a mountain crest,
Or hold the tiller in the dashing spray,
My love of you leaps foaming in my breast,
Shouts with the winds and sweeps to their foray,
My heart bounds with the horses of the sea
And plunges in the wild ride of the night,
Plunges in the teeth of tempest that rides glee
That rides out Fate and welcome gods to fight.

Ho, love, I laugh aloud and for love of you,
Glad that our love is fellow to rough weather—
No fretful orchid hothoused from the dew,
But hale and hardy as the highland heather,
Rejoicing in the wind that stings and thrills,
Comrade of ocean, playmate of the hills.

A Sneezing Lesson

How do you sneeze? Here are some of the rules for correct sneezing given to a class of children recently.
Hold your handkerchief in your left hand—don't use your right, because you may be shaking hands with someone shortly. Take hold of the bony part of the nose, by the bridge, but be sure you don't pinch the soft nostrils.
When you feel you are about to sneeze, bend your head back until it almost touches your chest, and sneeze with your mouth open. Never sniff after a sneeze, but blow the nose and sniff again until nothing but air comes down.
If you can, a teardrop handkerchief, one tied to a button on your pocket.
Sneezing keeps the passages free and will be found to clear some kinds of eye trouble, deafness in the ears, and also help you to defeat colds.

A Revival

A white wool shirt topped with a sleeveless jumper worn over a lingerie blouse is another new revival. The jumper is made in heavy leather or to carry out the sports theme of brown and tan. Sweater tunics frocks wear most original and often in color to match the accessories.
To avoid confusion, the new frocks always have to be worn with the accessories.

Yachting Primitive Sport, Says Lipton

Sailing a Yacht to Him is Of The Essence of All Sport

By SIR THOMAS LIPTON
Engineers and scientists will build better and more wonderful ships than the great Atlantic liners, but nothing will ever be built that will fire the imagination and add so much to sea romance as the sailing ships.

Sailing a yacht to me is of the essence of all sport. Courage and physical fitness are needed, also decision and accuracy of judgment. Yacht racing is something more than mere skimming over the sea; it is an adventurous waffle with primitive nature and the complete enslaving of her riotous moods.

With Spinnaker set and belled, balloon-jibs bending the topmast, and mainsail stretching its utmost to catch every breath of wind, our racing yacht resembles a great bird under human control, and guided by a man's hand.

I can imagine no greater happiness than to be seated at the helm of the Shamrock, measuring a distance, judging a cross wind, serious, critical, with a practised eye taking the challenge and counter-challenge of my opponents in the race.

From the moment we jockey for the best position on the starting line, off at gunfire, until the moment of recrossing the line—winning or losing, either is thrilling as long as the sport has been fiercely contested—it is one long, breathless pleasure.

During the race we are at the mercy of two wills—man's will and the wind's will. It is a contest with nature, sea and wind, and the triumph is more meritorious if the odds are against us.

A yacht has character, individuality and a soul. You can lavish affection on a yacht, it becomes a part of your life, and during racing days it is your life!

For over thirty years my Shamrocks have provided me with unstinted happiness, and I know they have given great pleasure to thousands of others, mostly landsmen, who have been thrilled by the intense excitement of the international yacht races with America.

This dose of happy excitement and thrilling expectancy will be repeated again during the coming America Cup races in September.

With Shamrock IV, my last challenger, we won two races out of five; this year with Shamrock V, we hope to win at least three races, and make sure.

There can be nothing more thrilling in sport than a modern yacht race, both for the participants and the spectators. It is a great and satisfying sport, simple and primitive in expression, and has its beginnings in the birth of human adventure.

Iceland's New Stamp
To commemorate the millenary of the establishment of her government, the Althing, Iceland, has issued a special series of sixteen handsome postage stamps.

Their subjects recall Iceland's Viking ancestry, and we see the intrepid Viking sailors braving a storm (5 aurar) in their winter camp (7 aurar), and naming the island according to their own custom (15 aurar).

There are four stamps specially devoted to the Althing and its history. Lake Thingvallavatn, near which, at Thingvellir, the first Althing was held in 930, appears in the 30 aurar value. And we are shown this actual meeting in progress on the 50 aurar specimen. In the 25 aurar stamp, woodgatherers of Iceland are depicted.

Ludwig Heschlauer, an Austrian engraver, who is responsible for producing the dies for these stamps, re-creates interest in the Icelandic runes—the country's ancient alphabet. He has incorporated them in the frames of several of the labels.
