Miss Gladys Hewitt of Sanduski, and Bernice Park of Niagara Falls, spent Tuesday as the guest of Miss Shirley Rogers. Miss Park is spending a few days with her cousin Miss Hewitt at Sanduski.

Up the road about one-half mile, east of Jarvis, a crossing of stone has been laid across the highway. It is a high ungraded, dangerous piece of furniture, and with the dense growth of sweet clover along each side of the road, makes the spot a formidable place to travel on. Surely the public are entitled to more consideration than to have a thing of that kind imposed on them. It is not necessary to have to climb over a pile of that kind to get into Simcoe.

The report of the Jarvis Continuation School.

Form II—Harry Cox, Percie Hurst, Bruce Smith, Bert Kindred, Alina Jackson, Leighton Holmes, Henry Butcher, Margaret Ross, Margaret Ward, Ruth Glenfield.

Form I—Mary Moore, Pearl Smith.

Lily Mason, Roy Wilson, Elsie Hurst, Haver Montague, Emily Jones, Hewson Sharpe (recommended).

Pupils to pass the examination require an average of 60 percent on the whole and 40 on each subject. The extra year in Form II is advised, in most cases, as a teacher's course almost always requires four years.

On the afternoon of June 27th the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Aude, of Bartlett Avenue, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their daughter, Ada D. was united in marriage to Mr. J. J. Stead.

PRESENTATION TO SCHOOL TEACHER

A number of pupils of Miss Lonsom M. Allen assembled at her home on the last day of school and presented her with a three piece gift suit, on her retiring from the staff of the Jarvis Public School. They also presented her with the following address which was ably read by one of the pupils showing the esteem in which she is held:

Dear Miss Allen:
In presenting this gift I assure you on behalf of your pupils that as a patient teacher and most efficient instructor you will ever be remembered by your scholars with feelings of highest regard and esteem.

We look back over the period during which we received instruction from you with sincere pleasure.

We recollect your efforts in our behalf with grateful remembrance and we learned of your retirement as a teacher with sincere regret.

In this remembrance of us, please do not recollect the dullness we have often shown and the disobedience we fear we have often manifested, but please remember that when we are far separated from each other it may please you to know that we consider we are better as well as wiser from the instruction we have received from you.

CREAMERY MONOXIDE

Pepper and some very close friends motored to Crystal Beach on Sunday.

Muriel looks as if she enjoyed the week-end, but she also looks as if she didn't catch up with too much of her lost sleep.

Owing to the visit of a certain man the Office staff was increased by one last week—nice, isn't it?

Newt is going to keep his books in a leather case and wear white gloves to keep his numerous reports from getting soiled.

By the look of things the Boss is going into book-keeping on a large scale, at least he has some large books.

Its funny how news travels, even the automobile dealers are trying to get a portion of Stoney's Estate.

The Crute says that in order to keep all his books accurately, it will be necessary to hire a private book-keeper.

The Boss and Fritz were exceedingly busy working overtime Saturday night, however they seemed to enjoy it.

It is hardly fair to ask Jim to keep books, as it would be looking too much like the coal bin before he had it long.

Stoney says he don't care if Stewy does steal his cigarette butts as he is going to buy ready-made from now on. Pretty a.c.t. for Stoney.

ROCKFORD

Next Sunday morning our regular Quarterly Sacramental Service will be held. Sunday School will commence at 10 o'clock sharp.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

Much is being heard and will be heard, regarding unemployment. Changes and counterchanges will be made. Opponents will try to place the blame on opponents for the unemployment we have in Canada to-day. There can be no doubt of one thing, that unemployment reveals a hidden weakness in the economic system under which this country and most countries live. It is not creditable to any highly organized community that periodically there should be manifestations of the disease of unemployment. Men able and willing to work should always be able to find work suitable to their abilities. The efforts of political parties should be directed to finding a permanent cure for the disease, rather than blaming each other for any renewed outbreak of it.

Unemployment at this time is not confined to Canada. It is not symptomatic of either Free Trade, Protectionist, or Low Tariff countries. It appears to be fairly general, France perhaps being freest of all from unemployment at the moment. The United States, that outstanding example of High Protection, is literally staggering under the unemployment burlesque. Great Britain, at the other end of the scale so far as tariffs are concerned, has two millions of workers workless. The amount of unemployment in Canada at this time is infinitesimal as compared with some other countries far richer than ours. It is folly on our part to blame governments. It may be convenient to do so. It may help politically to do so. But true statesmanship will spend more time finding remedies than ascribing blame.

It is not sufficiently realized that we are still paying the price of war. There cannot be such a terrific upheaval as that now labelled "The Great War" without dislocation of services, industry and relationships. The destruction of property, of capital, and of human life on such a colossal scale could not be carried on without terrible and lasting consequences ensuing. The bills have to be met. To squander resources in material and man power as the fighting nations did in the years 1914 to 1918 could only mean that some day the effects of such squandering would have to be suffered. When you couple along with this the fact that the nation which profited most by the war, the United States, has got so much of the world's gold supply locked up in its treasury vaults and, along with that, has virtually refused to let its debtor nations pay their debts in goods but demand gold, it will easily be seen that there is a set of circumstances that explains it does not justify unemployment.

We Canadians should not let ourselves be deceived about unemployment. We should seek for underlying causes rather than superficial ones. We should remember that Canada is one of the richest countries in the world from the point of view of the productivity of its soil and its natural resources. No country so potentially rich as Canada, with vast natural resources awaiting development, should ever have to complain of unemployment. We should bend all our energies to the development of our heritage and not waste too much, if any, time cursing the politicians. Canada is a world trading nation to-day. We have natural products to sell to every other country. With as few restrictions as possible upon such trading with other nations, and with hard work at productive effort by our people, Canada will soon overcome its present setback and rejoice in the permanence of prosperity.
