IT'S THE CUSTOM IN CANADA

Every country has its own delightful social traditions. 25 years ago it was considered a very delicate attention for a lady to light a gentleman's cigar. In Spain, the women still light their men's cigars. In Canada, the custom of smoking Wilson's Bachelor—100% Havana filler—cigars dates back a quarter of a century.

Today, they are the outstanding ten cent brand in quality and popularity.

Another good way to meet a lot of college-trained men is to mention your desire to buy a few bonds.

Latest Farm Machinery

Manchester, Eng.—The Royal Show which opened in Manchester recently contains a series of British-made agricultural machinery claimed as an entirely new post-war industry here. The machines are designed for the use of planters and cultivators in all parts of the world. The machinery includes steam and petrol tractors for South Africa, ploughs for India, coffee pulpers for the Belgian Congo and Brazil, decorticators for East Africa and harvesters to compete with those used in the United States.

Arrangements have been completed for an industrial mission from Sheffield, comprising A. K. Wilson, representing the cutlery trade, and R. C. Hodgson, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, to visit Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Peru next month.

Summer Heat Hard on Baby

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Music Created By Light Beams

How would you like to strike the keys on a piano keyboard and find yourself playing a violin, a saxophone or an oboe. That is exactly what you will be able to do if the new musical instrument in which beams of light and a photo-electric cell are employed to produce music, comes into general use. This mechanism was developed by Professor Arthur C. Hardy and Sherwood F. Brown, of the Department of Physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The idea was originated by Mr. du Val R. Goldthwaite. Mr. Goldthwaite's plan was to produce synthetic musical sounds which have never been heard before.

The instrument operates by a glass disk, on which are recorded, photographically, a number of concentric sound tracks. The disk is rotated rapidly in front of a photo-electric cell and light from a small lamp is allowed to pass through the sound tracks. The current produced by the photo-electric cell is amplified and fed to a loud speaker. Individual sound tracks are cut off by shutters, which are electrically operated from the keyboard by the performer.

Doctors Find We Do Not Sleep Like Logs

To sleep "like a log" is an ideal of literature, not of nature. At the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Dr. H. M. Johnson and his associates have been studying the movements and postures of normal sleeping individuals by a special motion picture camera which photographs the sleeper every time that he stirs. In a recent report to the American Medical Association, Dr. Johnson, Dr. T. H. Swan and Mr. G. E. Weigan describe one normal individual thus found to twist and turn every few minutes all night long, assuming one after the other no less than 33 widely different postures. Thousands of other tests, the investigators report, have shown this almost continual twisting and turning during sleep to be the rule rather than the exception. Only persons who have been heavily drugged lie perfectly quiet when soundly asleep. What is still more remarkable, the majority of the postures assumed by the tell-tale camera are shown by the tell-tale camera to be contorted postures, with the body bent or contracted and the spinal column bowed and twisted as different as possible from the usual medical advice to lie straight and relax perfectly. Apparently, the Pittsburgh investigators report, "the most restful night's sleep is characterized by the use of a considerable variety of bodily positions, all of which are contorted; none of which indicate anythink like 'complete relaxation' of all parts of the skeletal muscular system, such as one may observe in a fainting person; but each of which appears to be well adapted to the relief of irritation that was set up in the posture last taken, as well as in the day's activities."

When Languid And Anemic

When a girl is languid, dull and irritable; when the her color fades you may be sure her blood is impoverished. When a girl's blood is poor her nerves are starved and there is serious danger of a decline. Rebuild the blood, strengthen the nerves and good health will follow.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of untold value as a blood builder. Concerning them Mrs. John Finin, Howland Station, P.E.I., says: "My daughter was badly run down; pale, nervous and under weight. We decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a few boxes she gained in weight, her appetite improved and color came to her cheeks—in fact she fully regained her former good health."

You can get these Pink Pills at medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sir James Barrie to Be Made Freeman

Author of Peter Pan Honored By Native Birthplace

Kirkcubright, Scot.—The day on which Peter Pan returned to his native town will long be remembered in Kirkcubright. Even to Sir J. M. Barrie himself, who has received so many honors in his time, it must have been a great day when he was made the first Freeman of Kirkcubright, his birthplace, which he has immortalized as "Thrums." The town, which is a quaint medley of flower-bordered alleys known as "pends," was crowded to its utmost capacity with "returning natives," all anxious to do honor to this famous son of Angus. Sir James's own birthplace stands with its back to the road. Garden daisies and pansies and such other honest and homely flowers decorate the little patch of garden. The wash-house, said to be Barrie's first theatre, strangely like the treetop house of Peter and Wendy, stands apart. The sports pavilion which Sir James has gifted to his kin folk is on a plateau high above the town, and is said to have the finest view in Scotland with, perhaps, the exception of Stirling Castle.

In handing over the pavilion Sir James Barrie gave one of his inimitably whimsical speeches. "It is easy," he said, "to make a speech anywhere else, but to do it here, on this Hill on Memories, to people who are more like me, inside, than any other people are—I tell you I would rather go in to bat over there against the West of Scotland's bowling. I remember once being called upon in America to speak to a woman's college containing 900 girls, and I said I couldn't, but that if they would come outside one at a time, I would make 100 speeches to them. I had cause to regret that offer. But I could make it with confidence to you because we are all linked together."

At the Freedom ceremony, after taking the oath, Sir James was presented by the Provost with the Burgess ticket in a silver casket which bore on its sides replicas of Peter Pan and the new pavilion. "I can assure you," said the Provost, "that this casket contains not only the Burgess ticket but the heart of Kirkcubright."

Responding, Sir James, after thanking the citizens, said: "In London I have a native of Kirkcubright living with me. He is a Kirkcubright man, and we often talk together about what he irreverently calls 'the old place.' He said to me before I left, 'What I chiefly want to know is whether you are going to say anything about me and whether the audience chered me.' (Cheers.) 'Thank you. I shall tell him.'"

Soap and Water Spoils Walls

When you find it necessary to wash painted walls do not make the mistake of using soap and water and strong cleaning powders as that is almost sure to leave your walls streaked and spotted. Instead, use warm water to which common baking soda has been added in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a gallon. Go over the walls carefully with a soft cloth dipped in this and then follow with a soft dry cloth and wipe thoroughly. You will be surprised at the ease with which you may attain perfect results.
