RETRIMENTAL AMUSEMENTS

The need of amusements in our life is very essential but over indulgence brings disastrous ruin to the physical as well as the mental. Temperate and moderate amusement is like a tonic to the soul and body, but we must not let ourselves become so indulgent that we become careless and neglectful of our health. The public demand for more amusements has increased every year. In fact the present generation only want to work six hours a day and the rest of their time to be given up to amusements and idleness. They crave luxury and comfort with no work to do whatever, if it can be so arranged.

Let us revert back to the days of our forefathers and note the hardships they endured in their struggles to build a good future foundation for coming generations. They blazed well marked trails for us to follow. If they indulged in three days of amusements in the year it was a great treat. But they never complained. Hard work made them healthy and strong, so that they lived their three score years and ten.

Medical science has proven to us today that the average life of mankind has been reduced to less than half of three score and ten. The present generations are going into deterioration with their eyes shut to the demand of that which goes to build up a healthy body and brain. As a race of people we are getting weaker and smaller every year. You cannot find but very few strong healthy men or women today. Their stature is shrinking less and less each generation. Why is this? What is the cause?

Modern development has made such rapid advancement these last few years, so that the physical muscle of the body has no need to exert itself, in the daily task. That is one of the causes of the lack of development in the physical body. Modern appliances has speeded up production so that twice the work can be done in less than one third of the earlier days. This gives the people more time for their amusements and idleness.

Now do not misunderstand these statements. Surely we must have amusements. But we must avoid the amusements that become detrimental to our future health. It has become a proven fact to me from observation that our human body slows up in its activities and the indulgence of luxurious living steps in, then the physical body at once starts to decline and after it has deteriorated for a time all the doctors and medicines in the whole world cannot bring it back to its previous condition. I personally knew two brothers who were prominent business men in Detroit. Their early life was spent in hard, physical work. They became very prosperous and finally became millionaires. What was the outcome? Ten years of luxury and fast living put them in their graves at the age of fifty two and fifty three years. The eating of rich foods and carousing, with no exercise to work or carry off the surplus energy it soon burnt out their vitality. As boys and men they had worked and toiled together. They were healthy and strong then, but illness, amusements and carousing stopped the physical and mental development, thereby letting the germ of deterioration set in.

The future outlook for the white English speaking people is not very promising unless there is some effort put forth to check the decline of the physical body. There is likely to be a stronger race of people spring up and over-come the weaker race. It has always been so according to

EDITH SMITH

A great sorrow has again fallen upon our community in the sudden illness and death of one of the brightest and loveliest young girls in the Village. On Friday afternoon at about five o'clock, Edith, daughter of Mr. W. K. Smith, passed away. Although not in robust health for some time, yet she attended continuation school and was a leader in the classes and a faithful member and worker in the Evangelical S. S.

Edith had her 15th birthday just a week before she died. In just one week, blood poisoning took her very rapidly and the end came unexpectedly. This is the third time that bereavement has touched this family. Mr. Smith's father who lived in Simcoe died suddenly a little over a year ago. Mrs. Smith, mother of Edith, died after a lingering illness, less than two years ago.

Rev. J. H. Grenzbach, of Morris-ton, a former pastor here, preached the funeral sermon, assisted by Rev. T. W. Bradt.

The Pall bearers were: Robert Smith, Laurence Smith, Alfred Smith, Millard F. Hoover, William O. Lint and Vernon Smith. The floral tributes were beautiful and among which were: The Family; Aurora S. S. Class; Ladies Aid; Continuation school; Mr. and Mrs. Love; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith; Mr. and Mrs. D. Ward; Thos Ward and family; I. O. O. F. Lodge; Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Elson Shaver and Malcom Shaver and son, of Canboro; Mrs. Annie Louks and son Wilfred, of South Cayuga; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Love and sons, Stanley and Allen, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and Family, of Simcoe; Mrs. Grinstead, of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. McIlwraith, of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fissette, of Cayuga; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith, of Waterford.

MAIN STREET APPLE SAUCE

Three business men of this town, dressed so they could get the clown, on the 24th was their great chance. So up the street they did prance.

an. L. he sure looked very cute. Coyne Allen he decided to shoot, our dear old Lea, Reeve of the town, took pity on Coyne & knocked Geo. (down) to Harvey & Fred with their Chevie (horse). Around the streets took their course, And sure did look like newly weeds, Sitting beside an old brass bed.

Then Hank with his hot dog stand, Was near run over by Fresh Air band Some dogs hot & some dogs cold, Some got lost and some were sold.

The barber shop followed in the rear To the public it sure looked queer, Pete's hair was long the barber small And his scissors were no good at all.

Our barber Jack was of little use, If you did drink like the very duc Jack Kennedy was as dry as the sun, So refused to play till he got some.

The shop was sanitary we all know, By getting first prize from the show, And Albert Leng & his watery steed Got second prize with little heed.

Bill Elliott, well he might be sore, If we do not mention his name more, So Bill you must not really mind, If in this apple sauce your name you (find.)

Motor wise people are very instructive from the rear seat but let them at the steering wheel and get into a jam, the result is that the instructive becomes destructive!

NOTE FROM NANTICOKE

I read the notes by C. E. L. about our Library. I would like to see that word Nanticoke in the Record every week. Could some one write notes on how the people of Nanticoke and vicinity built the sidewalk from the corner to the school about thirty-five years ago. I was not living here then and would like to know if they had a President, Vice Pres., Sec. Treas. and three for a sidewalk committee, as we want that walk repaired. Yours respectfully, Miss Nan T. Coke.

Reo Engineers Offer Proven Developments In Speed Wagons!

This is the second summer for the Reo Gold Crown Engine, used exclusively in Speed Wagons.

No product of Reo engineering or Reo facilities ever gave greater satisfaction to users.

Many have gone more than 50,000 miles without a valve-grind... thousands with nothing more than that.

The Gold Crown Engine has everything known to engineering now:

We mix enough costly pure chromium into the nickel-iron cast to give you cylinder walls and valve seats seven times longer lived than ordinary gray iron castings.

To match it, we use Lo-Ex pistons, so tough that they outwear two to three ordinary pistons. Seven bearings (you can't see more!) cradle the scientifically balanced crankshaft.

For most efficient cooling we put 6 gallons of water through the cylinders every 7 seconds, at top speed. A simple device so diverts the water flow that all cylinders are kept within 4° temperature of each other.

Thus all "hot water pockets"—that account in the end for frequent recurring troubles in other engines and that no repair shop can correct—are eliminated.

We cool the oil, too, with a special oil-cooling engine pan into which the oil drips from the bearings and side walls.

We maintain an oil temperature from 25° to 40° lower according to atmospheric changes in the season, and the oil is cleaned... mark this... every trip to the bearings.

There is so much to tell—such as the balancing and matching of all reciprocating parts... how Reo Engineers give you long-lived construction by eliminating both Friction and Vibration.

Right back to the rear axle, we can recite equally interesting processes and methods.

Six cylinder 7-bearing engines... 4-wheel, two shoe, internal, hydraulic brakes... built-in magazine chassis oilers and other features.

Wheelbases up to 210" ... all sizes up to 15,000 pounds net pay-load capacity with trailers... high pressure or balloon tires.
