OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH J. FEENEY.

The death of Mrs. Joseph J. Feeney of Walpole Township, at St. Joseph's hospital, Hamilton, on Saturday, October 18th, caused profound sorrow among her relatives and many friends in this district. She was in her 32nd year. Besides her husband, a family of three young children are left to mourn her loss. The funeral took place on Wednesday morning, Oct. 23rd, from her late home, 9th concession, Walpole. Services were held in St. Anne's Church at 10 a.m., and interment was made in the R. C. cemetery. The pallbearers were; Caldwell Easton, Frank Laidlaw, Gregory Devine and three other relatives of the deceased. Relatives were in attendance from Chicago, Galtby, Caledonia, Hamilton, Hagersville, Jarvis and vicinity.

The late Robert Dougherty

On Saturday afternoon last, October 18, at the home of his son, Clarence, Mr. Robert Dougherty passed away at the age of seventy-eight years. Deceased was born in the Township of Walpole, on January 8th, 1862, on the old Talbot Road. In the year 1873 he purchased the farm on which he died. In the year 1877, he married Isobel Fleming, a daughter of the late Henry Fleming, one of the pioneer families of Walpole. To this union were eight children; Lorne R. Clarence, Jessie Maud (Mrs. Stanford Vokes) of Walpole, Gladys, (Mrs. Jas. Walker, Onisda) Gertrude, (Mrs. Melvin Smelser, of Hagersville) Leah, (Mrs. Murray Hodgins of North Cayuga) Reginald of Detroit, and Harry, who predeceased him in 1929. He leaves also to mourn his passing, three sisters, Mrs. Frank Somers, Mrs. Howden of Waterford, and Mrs. T. P. Graham of Walpole.

The late Mr. Dougherty, with the help of a thrifty wife, was instrumental in bringing his farm from bushland to a high state of cultivation, erecting thereon first class buildings and leaving behind him a wonderful monument to his energy and thrift.

About 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty left the farm and moved to Hagersville, at which place Mrs. Dougherty died in July, 1926, after which Mr. Dougherty lived with his family, spending his winters with his son Reginald, in Detroit.

The funeral was held from the residence of his son, Clarence, on Monday, October 20th, with service in St. Paul's Church, Jarvis, of which deceased was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Hirst Ross interment being in Hagersville Union Cemetery. The pallbearers were: Amos C. Porter, Frank Fagan, John Bonfield, Percy G. Ineson, Chas. Mc Sorley and George Mitchell.

JARVIS LIBRARY.

It has been apparent for some time to those who are interested deeply in the welfare of the above institution, that interest is lagging, the reason for which is unknown. Many reasons have been advanced from time to time for the revival of community interest, but without success. The value to the Village and community at large, of a library such as we have, with its thousands of volumes of the best of reading matter, cannot be estimated in dollars, but from an educational standpoint its value is limitless. It is now many years since the inauguration of the library in our Village, and for some time it was supported by nearly every home, and the community became wide readers, but in looking over the shelves a few days ago, many books were discovered with their pages unsoiled by hands, and it would appear that this generation are more interested in the mechanism of an automobile, than in cultivating the art of reading and development of the mind. It is learned that the management intend, or have, instituted a personal canvass to raise funds to wipe out any outstanding indebtedness, and try to entice more active interest, for the betterment and the saving to the community of this valued asset that is so much needed in the Village. Treat the canvassers kindly when they give you a call, and be one of the boosters for the good old library.

Silver Lining Turned Into Dollars For Unemployed

"There are plenty of optimists," says Saturday Night editorially, who can always see the silver lining in any cloud, but it takes more than optimism to smelt the cloud and turn the silver into actual hard dollars.

This Canadian Publication was calling attention to a striking gain effort carried on by one of the Dominion's leading industrial organizations, Gypsum, Lime and Alabastine, Canada, Ltd., manufacturers and distributors of forty-five different kinds of Canadian building materials. In times of business depression, the effective effort inaugurated to offset conditions are matters of national interest.

"Making no bones about the existence of unemployment, this company inaugurated an extensive advertising campaign which announced: 'We are looking for fifty thousand jobs for men who need them'.

"The response was immediate and enormous. Largely this was because the series of advertisements contained specific and valuable suggestions. The copy pointed out that now was the time to undertake that projected but possibly postponed building operation, because building costs were lower than for many years.

Householders and farmers were urged to undertake those odds and ends of construction jobs, such as building a sun porch, turning a basement room into a playroom or work shop, adding an extra bathroom, for the average home owner; fixing the barn or dairy for the farmer; doing plaster repairs, fixing partitions or show windows for business men. How the company's products could be used in all connections was set forth in each instance.

With the campaign still running, enquiries to date are four times as many as the company has ever received at any time on any similar drive and under any conditions—even the best of good times. The results have been naturally increased sales as well as providing much work for men who were badly in need of it."

Dealing with this same Canadian campaign, the Montreal Gazette points out that the average citizen looks upon unemployment relief as being somebody else's business. The editorial notes that the customary attitude is to leave the matter to governments and to relief organizations.

The Gazette then goes on to emphasize that the average householder can help in a situation of this sort, and reminds him that the money spent through all ordinary agencies is in any case his money.

With reference to the effort sponsored by the Gypsum Company, it is stated, this is a constructive enterprise. If the house holder will take the trouble to look over his property, find out what needs to be done, and what, having regard for his means, can be done, and will then place the necessary order, he will be doing his part in a better and more practical way than merely picking up his daily paper and seeing what governments are doing. A multitude of small jobs of the sort indicated would provide work for a very large number of men—and food for their families."

"Hardly a householder but has an odd job or two that should be attended to," says the Toronto Globe. "Many of them have contemplated repairs or improvements which have been postponed. Is there any better time than the present to get such work done? Gypsum, Lime and Alabastine, Canada, Ltd. has been enterprising enough to start a series of advertisements directing attention to this opportunity to share in what might be regarded as welfare work, but at the same time is good business. The company, of course, has a product to sell, but the more it sells the more employment it can provide; so proceeding with odd jobs gives double improvement to the situation. The fact that it is willing to spend the money to get the idea going is to its credit.

"There are many ways in which the slack could be taken up, if the man with a little money available would consider how it could be expended advantageously."

MARRIED.

McCALL-GILBERTSON

An autumn wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends in Jarvis and vicinity was solemnized at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Simcoe, at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, October 23rd, when Helen Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gilbertson, became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McCall of Simcoe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. L. Howard, Pastor of the Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pretty gown of Chateaux green crepe, a brown hat and slippers and carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow roses. She was attended by Miss Eleanor Menzies who wore a navyblue silk suit, with hat to match and carried Talisman roses. Bruce M. Pearce supported the groom and Louis Gibson officiated at the organ and played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bridal party entered the church.

The groom's gift to the bride was a silver wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a choker of crystals, and to the best man and organist, silver cigarette boxes.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McCall left on a motor trip to Montreal and Quebec City. Upon their return they will reside in Simcoe, where Mr. McCall is a valued member of the Reformer editorial staff.

The bride is a niece of the Editor of the Record and we have pleasure in extending the usual well wishes.

Gordon Hazlett In Motor Accident

On Saturday morning last, between the hours of 1 and 2 a.m., an accident occurred just this side of Jacques bridge on the Port Dover Highway, Gordon Hazlett, the driver and only occupant of the car, apparently went to sleep, the car took the ditch and crashed into a telephone pole, throwing Mr. Hazlett out, then completely turning over.

Mr. Hazlett was knocked temporarily unconscious, but after reviving, got into his car and drove home. As soon as medical aid could be reached it was discovered he was suffering from a broken collar bone, besides being badly shaken and bruised up. The fact that the car turned over his body when he was thrown into the ditch and not harming him more appears to be nothing short of a miracle, although it must have taken great will power to drive home injured as he was.

SHOWER AT PORT DOVER FOR JARVIS NEWLYWEDS

About forty young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Greenbury of Port Dover on Monday evening of this week to shower Mr. and Mrs. B. Grant Greenbury with tokens of their good friendship. The whole affair had been kept a dark secret from the bride and groom, who were completely stunned when, on entering a dark room to remove their wraps, they were greeted with a chorus of unearthly shrieks, and before the startled pair had regained their balance the walls began to shake from the cymbals, drums, gongs and other usual implements of charivari warfare, of which, in his youthful days, the young groom had been a past master. The evening was spent in games and get-together chats. The opening of the many beautiful gifts occupied a most interesting and pleasant hour, each gift being wrapped with happy memories of former days and good wishes for the future. The groom on behalf of his bride and himself, thanked their many friends for their kindness and extended to all a hearty invitation to visit them at any time in their new home.

Among the guests were the bridesmaid and best man, Miss Grace Peas, sister of the bride, and Mr. Murray Exelby, a former Port Dover boy.

After a bountiful lunch had been served the many guests departed for their homes, wishing the couple every success. Much of the success of the evening was due to the untiring efforts of Messrs. Henry and Herbert Best, who planned and carried through with a swing the happy event and to whom Grant whispered, "Some sweet day it will be your turn."

Fire While Threshing

While threshing operations were in progress at the farm of Mr. Chas. Brown, just north of the Village, on Tuesday last, fire was noticed in the mow at the mouth of the blower pipe but through the heroic efforts of those assisting at the threshing and a liberal supply of water, the fire was subdued and a $10,000 farm standing saved to the owner.

Good Attendance At Booster Club Dance

The Jarvis Booster Club were extremely gratified by the interest that was shown and the attendance at the dance in the Arena on Friday night last. It is expected to hold another dance on Friday evening, November 7th, of which full notice will be given in our next issue.
