Compensation

There comes a time to all, who conscientiously toil and labor, when they stop and wonder, what will be the results of their efforts. Will the finished product of their efforts, be appreciated or rejected? What they would really like to know is, what compensation shall they receive for the work they have toiled and labored so faithfully to produce. Whether the compensation they expect, is of a selfish nature or not, depends entirely on the type or character of the producer.

Many people refuse to work unless they know exactly what compensation they shall receive, either in a commercial or social way. Others are satisfied just to produce a finished article that does credit to the time and energy they use in its production. One thing certain is that the quality of the finished article, reveals the spirit and character of the producer.

It is a very interesting thing to note as you travel through different parts of the world, the spirit and attitude of people, when you ask them a question, regarding direction or assistance out of some unforeseen accident. Some will answer in a very surly way, that they do not know or that they are too busy to help you out of your trouble. But if you say you will pay them for their trouble, they at once change their attitude. They become all attention and desire to help. Compensation in the form of money was all that was necessary to stimulate them into action. Others are only willing to answer any question or to give any assistance to help you out of your trouble. They absolutely refuse to accept any compensation.

A few years ago a student missionary was sent to a western town to try to change the hearts of the people there. It was only a small town of a few hundred citizens, everybody knew everyone else's business and the town was full of malice and contention. In fact the people were so mean that they rotten-egged the previous missionary out of town. However this young missionary was a man with a very winning personality and a man of great patience and endurance. He did not go there with the intention of receiving compensation in the way of money for his efforts. For six months he toiled and labored among the people. He took sides with nobody. He eventually made friends with some of the toughest boys in town. He went out in the base ball field and played ball with them, helped them organize a hockey team in the winter time. The better class of people criticized and condemned him because he did not cater more to them. They threatened to withdraw their financial support, but he remained true to his belief that the secret of his future success would be through winning the young people over on his side, which he eventually did. They became very interested in a man who could play ball without swearing and smile when trouble surrounded him everywhere. The out come of all his efforts, after fifteen months of interesting labor, was a presentation of a purse of money to help him through his college course. But what pleased him most of all was a request from the whole town that he should return after his graduation and be their pastor. The fact that he had won them over was the greatest compensation he could have received.

Almost six months have come and gone since the author of these editorials first started to write for this paper. Many severe critics have expressed their opinions in a very sarcastic way. They first said these articles were silly and not original, then they said they were too personal, however this did not deter the author from his one ambition, to bring before the public some helpful instruction that would enlarge their vision into a better and bigger life. If some of the articles sounded too personal it was no intention of the author to do so. No doubt the reason for this was that the truth struck home. One person asked to have the Record stopped. The reason was asked after beating around the bush

OBITUARY

JOHN STEWART

After a feebleness of a few months John Stewart passed away at his home, Selkirk at the age of 82 years. He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, and the following children, Emma, Mrs. Reice, Michigan, Abigail Mrs. Art Stewart, Nelles Corners, Mable, Mrs. Isaac Mino, Decesville, Mrs. Claude Jones, Welland, and James, of Selkirk, besides a step-son, Robert, of Dunnville. He was born near Chesapeake and spent his life in this community. He enlisted with the volunteers and was a veteran of the Fenian Raid in 1866. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. G. L. Burns, on Friday, interment taking place in the Selkirk Cemetery.

Two Ottaville Buildings

Are Destroyed by Blaze.

Two building in the principal block of the Village of Ottaville were destroyed by fire early this morning. The Grocery operated by Charles Mannell was destroyed, with all its contents, as was the bakery of F. Bennett, in which the fire originated. A printing shop, on the second story of the building housing the grocery and operated by J. W. Fish, was also destroyed.

for a while the person said they did not like the editorials. However, I have discovered since that they borrow their neighbor's Record, and no doubt still read the editorials.

Although there are a few that do not like these articles, there are many encouraging compliments that have been very compensating to the Author.

Through some very discouraging times and they sometimes feel as though their efforts have been all in vain, and become discouraged and downhearted. But it matters not how discouraging the days may be, or how hard the task, if we do our best and put forth the willing spirit of good faith into our work, we can rest assured that we will be compensated for our efforts some time. It may be after we have passed our three score and ten, when we hear a voice say, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

A battle fought
And a Victory won,
Is the proof and evidence
Of a job well done.

Makes His Last Run

Richard Christopher, for 50 years mechanic, fireman and locomotive engineer on the Canadian Pacific Railway, opened a throttle for the last time recently when he took his train on the run from London to Windsor, Ontario. He has been selected on various occasions to handle special trains for distinguished Canadian visitors, including the Prince of Wales, Governors-General of Canada, the Duke of Connaught, and many others. It is his boast that in all these years he has never had a single accident. A touching feature of his last run was the fact that his son, Thomas, although also a locomotive engineer, acted as his father's fireman.

Master Allen Butcher has been spending the past week with his aunt Mrs. A. C. Saunders.

A number from this vicinity attended the Vohse-Johnson Wedding on Saturday.

Mr. Murray Martin of Hagersville had tea at the home of Mr. Richard Parkinson on Sunday last.

Mrs. J. W. Kitching is spending a couple of weeks with her sister at London.

Mr. David Waterbury and family spent Sunday at Fisherville.

Several of the W. I. members attended the group meeting at Nanticoke on Thursday.

The Cheapside W. I. is planning for a two weeks sewing course to start on September 25th.

The Missionary Society are meeting at the home of Mrs. Silverthorne this week.

MAIN STREET APPLE SAUCE

Some time ago, a man came into the Record office and said, very seriously like, that this is no time for fooling and that he wanted to know who was the Editor of the Main Street Apple Sauce? Whether it was no time for fooling or not, he is still looking for the Editor.

So this very serious man, Would really like to know, Who is this mysterious Editor, That puts on the Main Street Show

Well he might be tall and dark, Or even short and slim, His name is not Amos or Andy, Or the well known Sunny Jim.

Some say it is Barber Sam, While others say, Timmish Bill, And they look at Butcher Tommy, 'Cause he is such a funny pill.

No it is not Druggist John, Or Jim of the Rexall Store, And it surely is not Laird who wrote The verse about Ver-a-dore.

Grant says it is not him, And is sorry for the guy so sore, While Editor Bob explains it all, "News come through the slot in the door."
