HEALTH SERVICE

Of The Canadian Medical Association

A GOOD START

Thirty-two teeth make the biting and grinding machine that sets the food we take into our mouths on its way to digestion. A good start is not everything, but a good start is desirable and helpful.

Thirty-two teeth are at least 64 reasons for giving them attention.
Because lack of attention leads to poor teeth, which in turn, means that the first step in digestion is interfered with and the food does not get off to a good start.

The crown of the tooth is composed of enamel, the hardest substance in the body. Teeth do not wear out from use. Chewing keeps the gums and teeth healthy. Food that is well chewed is thus properly prepared for digestion. The thorough chewing of food is good for digestion and good for the teeth.

If the teeth become decayed, pain results and chewing is avoided, so food is not prepared properly for digestion. Cavities should be promptly filled as early filling saves the teeth.

We should not wait until the teeth become painful or until we can see and feel a cavity, because this means a considerable amount of damage has already been done. Regular visits to the dentist will mean the discovery of the beginning of cavities. That is the time to treat them so as to prevent any extreme decay.

To have healthy teeth, attention must be given to the diet. Milk and green vegetables, because of their mineral content are valuable in providing for the building of good teeth.
Chew your food thoroughly and so the gums are stimulated and the gums, the health of which is part and parcel of the health of the mouth.
Brush your teeth regularly, upon the tongue, the throat and, most important of all, the last thing at night. It is better to brush the teeth after breakfast than before if you are only going to do it once. Never neglect the cleaning before going to bed.

Brushing the teeth is a good habit between the teeth and gums.
The gums. After brushing the teeth thoroughly, it is dental practice used great care must be taken not to cut the gums or harm rather than good will result.

Teeth have much to do with general health. The collection of pus in the roots may be the centre for poisoning the whole body. Visit the dentist regularly to prevent decay and also to keep the gums and teeth healthy so that the body will not be harm.

"A clean mouth is a good health insurance."
