"Keep close to duty. Never mind the future if you only have peace of mind. Be what you ought to be; the rest is God's affair!"

Handicaps
It does us good to read biographies of successful men and women and learn there that they had to contend with great handicaps but conquered them. We find very often the handicaps was the cause of their success.

Not one of us is free from handicaps which appear to impede progress. We struggle with disease, even sometimes deformity. We wrestle with doubts and fears, over-sensitiveness, feelings of inferiority and all sorts of disabilities.

For encouragement read about the man or woman who has achieved things. We find in every case the life was difficult, not always in keeping with the wolf from the door, but in materializing his vision. Nothing is worth having that is easy of attainment.

To know this gives one courage to keep on and teaches us to overcome our handicaps.

Some years ago a man was a victim of a gasoline explosion which cost him his eyesight. Like men in the full vigor of life he did not anticipate such a bad fate. He had made no provision for the future. His blackness of despair was more intense than the blackness of his sight. The years stretched out impossible.

But in this day and generation there is a way out. Twenty years ago it would have been a real tragedy, but thanks to science, which has thrown a helping hand, no handicap need floor one now if he possesses the courage to face the future with confidence.

This patient overcame his dependency when attention was centered on this man's sense of touch. Within a few weeks he learned to distinguish between various degrees of smoothness and sand when rolled between the thumb and forefinger. He began to practice with fingers and became an expert floor smoother, sampling it through his senses of touch.

He regained his feet gradually. He had his teeth and artificial teeth what he had previously received. He felt proud of himself and happy in overcoming his handicap.

Why could he do this? The answer is the principle of compensation. It came to his rescue. Take away one sense and observe the effect.

We have Robert Schumann, the musician who, while practicing on the piano permanently injured his right hand by being crushed by a hammer.

Why could he do this? The answer is the principle of compensation. It came to his rescue. Take away one sense and observe the effect.
