as a surprise to celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Parkinson, Mrs. A. Rodgers and Mrs. Carl Smi h The evening was spent in singing a song telling a story or cracking a joke all of which were fulfilled in grand old fashioned style, as Wesley, Carl and Thomas were the judges, the prize going to Mrs. C Smith as the joker in the crowd.

Mr. Parkinson entertained in his usual manner and surprised the gathering with a birthday cake. After a lainty lunch had been ser ved the crowd dispersed in the wee
