Capt. Griffith, Hagersville Has Seard
Only Four Below Perfect—Oldest O. R. A. Competitor

Long Branch Ranges Aug. 5—"It's the greatest sport on the world and a real holiday—but it would be nice to get into the prize list." This is the sentiment of a gentleman of the old school, Capt. R. A. Griffith, of Hagersville, who for more years than he cares to remember has attended the annual meting of the Ontario Rifle association, and now has the distinction of being its oldest competitor.

Captain Griffith is 77 years of age Every year since 1882 he has dropped around to the ranges for the meeting To-day, firing in the first stage of the Lieutenant Governor's match, biggest event of meeting, he scored a 31., just four below a perfect mark in competition against younger marksmen who are the greatest in Canada.

Thirty-seven years ago as a young captain in the Halidimand Rifles, Captain Griffith won theDuke and Duchess of Cornwall match. So long ago that he cannot remember the date he won the "Off-Hand Match" at the Dominion Rifle Association meeting in Ottawa—a match which is no longer fired.

In 1882 a Hagersville team composed of Capt. Griffith, Major Van Loon Lieut. W. Anderson, Sergt. Proud, Sergt. Roulston and Sergt. J. C. Griffith won the Brassey cup and also won it again in 1886. In 1885 the same team won the Ladies Challenge Cup presented by the ladies of Toronto.

He laughed as he spoke about it to-day. "The big trouble nowadays is that I can't keep up with the young fellows," he said, "the bullseyes are a little bit too far away."

CaptainGriffith is a watch maker. His eyes indicate that. They are deep blue, far seeing eyes.Hewears spectacles but most of the time they are perched so far forward on his nose that he looks over them. They never give him any trouble, he says.

He has one son, Lieut. E. A. Griffith, who himself is a noted rifle shot, but who has been unable to attend the local meeting during the past two years.

Osnabruck Centre Almost Wiped Out; 30 Homeless

TWO MEN SERIOUSLY INJURED AS FLAMES CAUSE $100,000 LOSS

33 Buildings Burned—Churches, Halls and Homes Destroyed In Four-Hour Fire

(Globe, Monday, Aug. 31)

Cornwall, Aug. 30—Two persons were seriously injured, 30 rendered homeless and 33 buildings razed when fire, believed started by two boys playing with matches, destroyed two-thirds of Osnabruck Centre late yesterday. Damage of $100,000 was done in the village, which is 20 miles west of Cornwall.

John Laporte, 70, is in Cornwall Hospital, with little hope held out for his recovery. He was badly burned attempting to save his household effects. Irvin Neville, 22, fell from a roof and broke both ankles. He is also seriously burned.

Two churches, a lodge hall, Osnabruck Township Hall, a store and many dwellings were among the buildings destroyed.

...FOUR-HOUR FIGHT—Starting shortly before 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the fire swept an area a-mile in length and half a mile wide before it was brought under control at 8 p.m. Firemen from Cornwall and more than 400 volunteers were hampered by lack of water, and by the fact a high wind swept sparks over a wide area to start new fires every few minutes.

The fire started in a barn owned by James McBain, at the western boundary of the village. George Ware, aged 5 and David McBain, 4 were playing in the barn. the McBain youngster rubbing together two matches which he had found in his home. One of the matches, he afterward said, ignited and broke the burning splinter setting fire to a pile of straw Within a few minutes the barn was a mass of flames, and a strong southwest wind carried showers of sparks to all portions of the village. The boys escaped from the barn without difficulty.

Half an hour after fifteen buildings had been destroyed, a change of wind carried the sparks away from the main section of the village, but the flaming embers set fire to more than twenty buildings southeast of it. Isolated barns more than a mile from the scene of the original fire were destroyed before volunteer fire-fighters could reach them.

Within an hour telephone calls for help had brought more than 400 men from the near-by villages of Lunenburg, Newington and Wales. Owing to the recent dry weather, only two wells within 500 yards of the original fire contained water and these were rapidly exhausted.

At 6 o'clock firemen from Cornwall with a motor-pump, but were seriously hampered by the lack of water. Chemicals were used to good effect in saving a schoolhouse and one or two dwellings. The fact that the fire covered such a large area made it almost impossible for firemen to concentrate upon any particular section. Consequently the conflagation continued until the wind dropped shortly after 8 o'clock.

The loss in practically every instance was complete. So rapidly did the fire spread that it was impossible for volunteer firemen to remove more than one or two pieces of furniture from each building before the heat interrupted their work. The buildings were of frame construction, erected years ago, and they burned like paper. Nothing remains today above the foundation lines, every vestige of combustible material having been burned.

Persons whose houses are within the fire area, and still in danger from drifting sparks, were hauling water several miles today in order that they might meet any emergency which might arise.

From the McBain barn the fire first spread to a sawmill about 300 yards distant, owned by Herman Alguire. The tinnery building, surrounded by lumber, slabs and sawdust, quickly caught fire and burned fiercely. Then building after building caught until the whole thirty-three were destroyed

The above holocaust is only indicative of the peril that the citizens of Jarvis are living in every day, and should such a calamity reach us, nothing would prevent a repitition of the Osnabruck catastrophe. Let us then avail ourselves of the opportunity that presents itself at the present moment. While we have been fortunate in the past, as Osnabruck has been fortunate for the past fifty years, that is no indication that our past good luck will carry us much farther into the future. All we need is a spirit of Progress and Protection. All who will take a few moments of time to estimate the cost of a perfect waterworks system for the village, can surely arrive at only one conclusion. The Cost is not Prohibitive when we consider the protection of our beautiful Village, and 'On the permanence of our structure depends the success of Citizenship'.

Birthday Party

On Friday last , August 28th., T. Butcher, one of our pioneer residents, celebrated his 75th birthday at his home in Nanticoke, surrounded by his children and grandchildren, also three brothers, James and Robt. of Cheapside and John of Jarvis.

The afternoon was all too short for the many reminiscenses related and stories told, and Thomas was the youngest of the party.

The family presented "Dad" with a comfortable easy chair and in accordance he expressed the thought that he was much too young to adopt of twenty five years or more, with the evening of life approaching he sure would enjoy the comforts of this chair. Mr Butcher presented to each of his family a silver spoon engraved to mark the occasion and to each of his grandchildren he present ed seventy five cents in token of the happy event.
