(By Lou Gibb)

With a week and a half to go before they meet the first team in the Provincial play-offs, the Juventus will have plenty of time to go stale but the boys are too ambitious to let anything like that happen, states Captain O'Donnell, who has the boys out practically every night giving them a workout. The boys are full of confidence and it is going to take some team to beat them.

Announcement was made yesterday from Blair, that the Rural Softball play-offs start on August 12th and the first round must be completed by August 20th. Therefore, a winner will have to be announced in the Church League this week. It is hoped at the present time apparently that position clinched.

The result of the draw made at Blair last Saturday evening for the softball play-offs can be seen in another column of this paper. Jarvis will meet first the winners of Erie League at Jarvis.

Final Church League Standing

United	5	1	6
St. Pauls	4	2	6
St. Ann's	2	6	6
Knox	0	6	6

The Juventus are naturally jubilant over the fact that they are for the second straight year champions of the Haldimand County group in their respective rating. They battled hard during the mat half of the scheduled season and their ability is evidenced by their present standing.

Having to start in to the Provincial play-offs against Hamilton is by no means a break for them, because that city should provide about the toughest opposition they will have throughout the province. But H. H. Bensch, secretary of the Haldimand County League and a member of the O.E.A.A. Executive, stated that it would be very difficult to start them on the play-downs against any other

SANDUSK W.I.

The Sandusk W.I. met at the home of Mrs. E. Font on August 25th. The meeting was opened in the usual manner. The roll call started off with an excellent response, everybody participating in an enthusiastic manner which was continued. This was followed with community singing. A paper on "Historical Research" full of interest which had been written for us by Jas. F. Bess was read. Mrs. J. R. Pond, member, was read by Mrs. J. R. Pond.

We were very fortunate in having Mrs. Monture and her daughter Alice with us. The program was then turned over into their capable hands and a most enjoyable time resulted. Mrs. Monture first gave a most interesting talk on work in the institutes of the Indian Reserve. An interesting exhibit of the oldest possessions in your home, they took place. The meeting was closed by singing "O Canada" and the hostess served lunch.

This talented pair were most generous in sharing their exceptional gifts with us and all their offerings were enthusiastically received. There was a large attendance present to appreciate them. At the conclusion of their performance, Mrs. Elliott offered them a hearty vote of thanks on behalf of everyone. An interesting exhibit of the oldest possessions in your home, they took place. The meeting was closed by singing "O Canada" and the hostess served lunch.

REMINISCENCE

The tragic death of Marjorie Reicheld who was a great favourite in your village recalls to mind the names of that first band of early settlers that came to Rainham and Walpole and who amid the difficulties and hardships of the first years, laid the foundation of that strong religious colony of Lutherans who to this day maintain the principles and teachings of their forefathers of a century ago.

In visiting "God's Acre" at Fry's Corners, Fisherville or Cheapide, you might read the names of the Kholers, Beckes, Schmeiders, Schmeiders, Reichelds, Schmeiders, Schmeiders, Shoupes and Weidericks.

One name gratefully remembered is that of the Rev. Mr. Joe whose ministrations covered the country along the lake front and the Nicholas Schneider, a local preacher, who without pay gave his very acceptable services to the settlers in Rainham and Walpole.

Petty Thieves Again Active

Sometime between Saturday night and early Tuesday morning, a thief entered the garage of Newton Marsh and stole the spare tire and rim of his automobile. The tire was a union make and the size was 600. This is not the first occasion that thieves have entered private garages of residents of the Village. It is sincerely hoped that the first round in the O.R.S.A. play-offs will necessitate a third game on neutral grounds.

Line Struck By Lightning

Lightning found its mark late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning with a greater vengeance for quite a number of years. The main line of the Dominion Telephone Co. was struck just west of Sandusky with the result of a blaze immediately started. As soon as it was discovered, employees shut off the gas and the blaze was extinguished. The serious damage resulted from the strike, although such an incident is out of the ordinary and without precedent in this

First Game of O.R.S.A. Play-Offs Won By Jarvis

In a closely contested game played at the local park on Tuesday evening last, Jarvis, winners of the Haldimand County League and Rainham Center, winners of the Erie League, met for the first game of the first round in the O.R.S.A. play-offs. The second game will be played at Rainham Center on Friday evening. A win for the locals will make them eligible for the second round, while a win for Rainham Center will necessitate a third game on neutral grounds.

The local boys turned in very good efforts although they had four errors night and early Tuesday morning. They showed superiority however, on their hitting having ten hits while the opposition were held down to four. Banks pitching was largely responsible for the few hits by the opposition. He had five strike-outs throughout the game while Richard had but one in the entire nine innings. In the second inning the locals went on the score sheet by scoring two runs. Four's short grounder was fumbled by N. Richard allowing him to make first. Houlston popped out to Moerschfelder. Brock advanced Peas when Schurr fumbled his grounder. Church's three base hit brought in the two men on bases, but the third out was made before he got in himself. In the fourth inning Rainham Center tied the score. Richard reached first when Peas dropped the third strike and made an erratic throw to first. Miller's fumble on Moerschfelder's report that in a five foot out recently threatened would be to the score were put in the crop. This is evident that the large crop this year is all in the straw.

A Government Called To Action—And Acting

By Mark C. Senn

Chaos and discouragement are not too extreme terms to describe the economic situation in Canada when the Conservative Government was called to office in 1930. Depression was flaunting its dismal evidences. Agricultural prices were dropping. In addition the Dominion was the dumping ground of manufactured merchandise and farm products from countries with depreciated currencies or lower living standards, shipped by the majority of carriers with little or no regard for the cost of production.

The situation was gloomy indeed, and it has been truthfully said that Canada turned to the Conservative party in its darkest economic hour. Unquestionably the element of greatest discouragement to the citizens prior to the election had been the inaction of the government in the face of the situation. As each new situation developed and increased the imperative need that something should be done—the government simply failed to act. The King ministry brought an increase in the tariff of some foreign countries against the Dominion that was not a national unemployment problem.

In the circumstances it was no wonder that the Canadian people turned to the Conservative party for leadership out of their difficulties. They had no alternative. And when they accepted office Mr. Bennett and his colleagues had no misconception as to what was expected from them. They knew they were called to do a job. They proceeded to act—with a promptness and a decisiveness which would have been a credit to any government.

The Bennett Government assumed office on August 7, 1930. One month and one day later—on September 8—it summoned Parliament and presented to it a comprehensive program for meeting the emergency economic crisis into which the country had landed. Actually, it is doubtful if ever Parliament has accomplished as much in such a brief time as the Bennett Government did in the first three months of its term. In the first place, as an emergency measure, it appropriated $200,000,000 to be spent on useful relief work. Secondly, as a belated show of national spirit and independence to nations which had already pushed up insupportable trade barriers against the Dominion, the tariff was increased. Finally, to relieve the producers of Canada from unfair competition which they should never have had, an embargo was placed on the importation of goods from nations which were not signatory to the Treaty of Versailles. This latter step had the effect of excluding the products of forced Soviet labor.

At one stroke—and within the short space of three weeks—this legislative program accomplished more for Canada than had been achieved in the entire year and a half of apathy by the King Government since the depression had given its first warning signals. The $200,000,000 was disbursed immediately and impartially in the localities in which it was needed—in striking contrast to the administration of the King Government which had been a mere trickle of aid into "strategic" areas.

Moreover, for the first time in its history, the government introduced into tariff-making, an important new principle. It was to be that the tariff should be made to increase their working standards and to improve the living conditions of the people. A class company which did not take its duties seriously, discarded its mistake when it found its protection cancelled.

Altogether, jobs for between 25,000 and 30,000 Canadian workmen were provided by the tariff changes which the special session of Parliament made. In addition, there was an immediate realization that the long era of outside exploitation of the Canadian market was over, and that if they desired to hold their trade here, the other nations must have their own markets flooded at their will by the produce of under-paid labor or by the dumped goods of industry and agriculture, while their own markets remained securely protected by tariff barriers.

This latter step had the effect of seeing that Canadians got economic fair play.

(ADVERTISMENT)

Are You Patriotic To Your Town?

Do you sincerely believe that Jarvis is the finest Village in Canada? Yes, North America? We do. We sincerely believe in Jarvis and in Jarvis' future. We believe that Jarvis is yet destined to be a better town than it is today. We believe that the great majority of the residents of Jarvis have an abiding faith in the Jarvis of today. It is this faith that has made Jarvis and it is this faith that will serve to continually improve Jarvis.

We have attained several civic improvements within the past year and our taxes are the envy of our neighbors. Our civic administrations since we were incorporated as a Village in 1908, have been headed by men of intelligence who have been able to see into the future and thus guide our destinies in a most capable manner. In a period of twenty-seven years, five townships have been amalgamated into the Jarvis of today. The tax-payers, which would give an average tenure of office of well over five years each. This speaks of the capabilities of the men who have led Jarvis. It is now one of the finest Villages one would possibly want to look for.

Older residents relate to us, how difficult it was to pull his load down main street in the spring of the year, when famous Walpole Clay served the purpose of cement or macadam as in this present day. To-day our streets are considered the best in any municipality in our vicinity. Our streets are of comparative modernity in the Dominion. It was many years ago that dim gas lights illuminated only the more important corners, while to-day our own Hydro-Electric system illuminates our way at night as safely as the day time. Cement sidewalks will take us to any part of the Village that we care to go. Our homes are comfortable and we do not know the meaning of "Slum Area" as it is becoming so popularly known in our town. The drains they have been using was borrowed and the owner called it in late last week. Efforts were made to obtain another drum, but one could not be located in time for the usual Saturday evening concert. The present financial position of the band is embarrassing to say the least and it is therefore, very near impossible for them to purchase another second hand instrument to carry on their organization.

They need financial aid badly and surely they have rendered sufficient evidence as to their value to the town that such should be foreseen in some of the progressive organizations in the Village whose activities are for the purpose of accumulating progressiveness. We are informed by the President of the band that they hope to borrow an instrument for next Saturday evening from one of the neighboring organizations. But this will not be permanent. Where are they going to get a drum of their own?

In an exchange of games last year the local club were defeated at Selkirk, while they redeemed themselves on the return games here. It is expected that Selkirk will be the guests of the Jarvis Club next Thursday.

Did You Miss The Jarvis Band?

Without the usual Band Concert last Saturday evening the Village lost its usual hum of activity and the absence of the band on this occasion is emphatically points out the value of the organization to the Village.

The band did not play on Saturday night because they did not have a drum. The drum they have been using was borrowed and the owner called it in late last week. Efforts were made to obtain another drum, but one could not be located in time for the usual Saturday evening concert.
