SEALING WAX

GREATEST SEAPORT.

When people think of big British seaports they instantly call to mind Liverpool and Southampton, therefore, it may surprise them to learn that London is Britain's busiest seaports by a long way.

During the year ended October 31, the net tonnage using London was $58,693,242. Liverpool was a poor second with 33,505,650, and Southampton third with 25,267,860. Then came Hull with over 11,006,000, al-

SEALING WAX.

The use of sealing wax on letters is a very ancient custom, but it by no means follows that it is entirely suitable to present day uses. The postal employees wax angry at its present day use on the back of letters because of the danger from flying fragments of hardened wax to the eyes of the employees. The post office authorities, however, have ruled that "the department knows of no justiliable reason for requesting the public to forego the use of a sealing material which has been in use from time immemorial, and
