It is always a pleasure, Mr McDonald says, to call on Finns anyway because their houses are always spottessly clean, they talk good English, and there prevails an air of thrift and hard work.

AN EXAMPLE. An Ontario chauffeur has just established this record, $00,000 miles in an automobile in 18 years without an accident. This should be surely enough to convince anyone that it is still possible, in the year of grace 1935, to venture out on our asphalt and concrete speedways without exposing oneself to a crash or a smash. For this record indicates 120 miles per day. And the driver is in charge of an autobus. Yet he doesn't consider himself a hero. His system if tario chauffeur has just as of an autobus. Yet he doesn't consider himself a hero. His system, it he will give it you, will be something like this: "Keep your mind on your job, and don't go hunting after thrills." That is excellent commonsense, but commonsense isn't to be found on all highways, alas! as the mounting toll of accidents shows.—
