THE WORLD AT LARGE

CANADA

GOVERNMENTS AND TARIFFS.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King wants wider markets as does every one else, but when the United States market was being narrowed by United States tariffs he was afraid to do anything but to stand by the thought-provoking. If the United States is now seeking wider markets in Canada it is because Mr. Bennett was not afraid to act. Mr. King cannot be blamed for the loss of markets, but he is blameworthy for not making up for that loss by conserving our own. He saw foreign markets closed to Canada by hostile tariffs, yet he allowed those who framed those tariffs to have access to our markets on the same old terms. He held to his preference for wider markets while all other countries were raising barriers. He failed to realize it was a condition, not a theory, that confronted him.

Fearful last Mr. Bennett should succeed in retrograding trading arrangements for raw materials, Mr. William Duff, M.P., during the session and again this session, introduced a resolution calling for negotiations looking to that end. The resolution was withdrawn after debate, on the Finance Minister's representation that it was not helpful while negotiations are in progress. It is a condition, not a theory, that confronted him.

KIND WORDS.

The Ottawa Journal publishes the records to show that in the last two years it has been the most quoted newspaper in Canada. It has a creditable showing. Situated in the Capital, right near the seat of all our jurisprudence, it is not surprising that the editorials of the Journal are regarded as highly judicial. Our contemporary is never known to indulge in hysteria. Its Canadian lines stand out.

ROLLING IN WEALTH.

Late in March there will be some thousands of silver dollars in Canadian money. When these currencies get into circulation will be rolling in wealth.—Stratford Beacon Herald.

A TRUE EVENT.

The Soo can't spend its money collecting 74 cents and keep solvent. In the last five years, the city has been slipping behind as regards its uncollected taxes and the city lot had to take over from owners who couldn't pay their taxes. If there is one lesson the Soo should take to heart it is that a city can't spend more money than it collects.

AN ECONOMIC GESTURE.

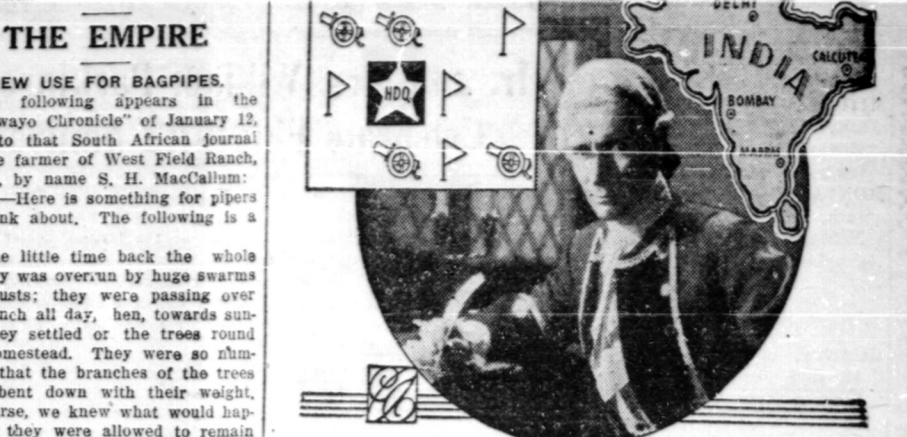

The depression is having a disastrous effect on the once-popular bridge act of calling a spade a spade. Workers are not "suspended"; they are "suspended"; and so on as far as the art of synonyms will take us. The Manchester Guardian reports that London firm recently received an application for a job from an unemployed man in which the art of "putting it gently" was raised to the nth degree. He wrote, "I am temporarily disengaged because of an economic disturbance on the part of my previous employer."

NEW USE FOR BAGPIPES.

The following appears in the "Bulawayo Chronicle" of January 12, 1934, in that South African Journal by the farmer of West Field Ranch, Insiza, by name S. H. MacCallum.

Some little time back the whole country was overrun by huge swarms of locusts; they were passing over the ranch all day, being tossed about by the wind and the trees round the homestead. They were so thick that the branches of the trees were bent down with their weight. Of course, we knew what would happen if they were allowed to remain there; by the morning, there would not be a leaf left on the trees. So my cousin suggested I get out the bagpipes and see if that would frighten them. I treated the locusts with the bagpipes. Turn out the pipes when locusts are about. The times were "MacCallum's Lament," "Cochrane of the North," and "Believe Me, It's True."

EMPIRE TRADE.

During 1934 British import trade increased by upwards of $285,000,000, or 18.5 per cent. over that of 1933, of that increase, $190,000,000 came from the Empire, which is 9 per cent. more than in 1932, while the increase in foreign imports was $72,000,000, or 10.5 per cent. over that of 1933, which is an increase of 12.5 per cent. over 1932, while the increase of British exports to the Empire was $110,000,000, or 11.5 per cent. over that of 1933, which is an increase of 12.5 per cent. over 1932.

EQUINE COMEBACK IN LONDON.

An attempt is being made to stage a comeback for that reputable noble animal, the horse, as an agent of locomotion. At the Royal Agricultural Hall this week crowds are gathering to admire the tremendous teams of the exhibited heavy draught horses of the exhibited draught horses, coal distributors, big stores, and the refuse department of the corporation of the City of London favor horse-drawn vehicles. So breeders are producing faster-paced horses to suit the traffic rate of the post-Belshazzar age; more horses are being put on the London streets this year than last, says the Daily Herald.

On the other hand, whatever Odiam press may host for animal transport, the Beaverbrook press is definitely against it. A leader-writer on his way to the office last Tuesday morning, naturally annoyed to find the cause of obstruction to the nine horse-drawn vehicles in order along the files, and discovered that horses are the chief villains in traffic jams that they are disappearing from the London streets, and that it is a kindness to the horse to keep him in London harness, what the horse thinks no one has yet discovered.—Time and Trade.

Only two so-called unlucky days are listed on the calendar for 1935. They are Friday the 13th of September, and the 13th of December.

If you would increase the volume of knowledge if a man knew at 25 what he thought he knew at 18.

By SAX ROHMER

Fu Manchu extracted the venom from that poisonous arrow from the plants of the scale. He caused no one to be hurt, continued Nayland Smith. "That's the only safe way for a city or an individual is to go into debt. Nobody knows what the future holds.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

Is The Motor Horn

Several months ago the motor horn was outlawed in the city of Toronto. It was worked so well that it was now considered the most completely safe and reliable of all horns day and night. The original idea was to have a horn that would be used at one time as a motor horn and at another time as a regular horn. It was worked so well that it was now considered the most completely safe and reliable of all horns day and night.

DAIRY PRODUCTS IN CANADA

Total milk production in Canada says "The Agricultural Situation and Outlook," published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Department of Trade and Commerce, continues to show an upward tendency which has been almost entirely due to the greater number of cows being milked. It is likely that this trend will continue during 1935.
