CANADA'S MOTHER

About twelve hundred Canadian mothers lose their lives each year from causes arising out of what should be the perfectly normal function of childbirth. Also, more babies die during the first month of life than during the eleven months which follow.

Child-bearing is a natural process but it does place nature under an unusual physical strain which should be prepared for. In the absence of proper care, serious conditions which may arise go undetected, with unfortunate results for both mother and child.

A death is a death, but the death of a mother is of particularly grave significence because of the health and social problems which co commonly arise in the family, following upon the loss of the mother. Nor is death always the worst thing that happens. Indeed, death may be preferable to an unhappy, useless life following recovery from conditions which commonly destroy life.

It may well be asked if so much suffering, disability and mortality are necessary to the reproduction of the race. We answer definitely and emphatically "No". In Canada and in other countries, it is regarded by those who have studied the question that at least one-half of the maternal deaths which now occur can and should be prevented.

It is remarkable how careless of human life we are at times. It is astonishing how indifferent many women seem to be with regard to their own life and health. You would think that when we know how to save life, everything possible would be done. Such is not the case, however; we go on year after year with but little improvement.

There is no secret or mystery about the matter. Progress will be made just as soon as increasing numbers of women receive the care and supervision they require throughout pregnancy; when they have medical an enursing care at confinement and during the post-natal period.

It is true that social conditions contribute to the problem, notably when poverty prevents a woman from receiving the medical care which she should have. There are, however, thousands of mothers who could secure the care they need and would be receiving it were it not for their own negligence.

To the woman herself, to her husband and her family, we say that pregnancy should not go unsupervised. The vast majority of women come through without any trouble, but no one can say which woman will not experience trouble. Prenatal care, by which we mean regular and continued medical supervision throughout pregnancy, will allow for the detection of trouble early enough to overcome it by proper treatment, and so to prevent catastrophe. Pre-natal care s preventive obstetrics

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

THE TAXPAYER'S MONEY

When it comes to an election, perhaps one of the most important planks of any government's policy is its stewardship of public monies during its tenure of office. Very often it is a plank that is not given the attention it deserves by the voting citizenry. Nevertheless it is their money that the government has spent, and they are not only entitled to know but they should make a point of knowing, whether the management of the country's finances has been in capable hands and properly administered.

Consider, therefore, the record of the government headed by Right Honourable R. B. Bennett. In 1930 when it took office, among the staggering tasks involved was that of refunding more than one billion dollars of War and Victory Loan Bonds in the ensuing four years. Beside that, money had to be raised for unemployment and farm relief, for deficits on the Canadian National Railways and other current purposes of government.

How effectively this task has been accomplished is revealed in a recent review of the years 1930-34 inclusive, issued by the Minister of Finance, Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes. Thanks to the keen foresight and business acumen of both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Rhodes, advantage was taken of the money market to effect an interest saving of $14,615,847 to the taxpayers of the Dominion. Refunding loans aggregating approximately $1,138,486,000 of debt outstanding at the time Mr. Bennett went into the Premier's chair were negotiated at lower rates of interest to achieve this result.

The financial policies of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Rhodes have thus put nearly $15,000,000 cash into the pockets of the Canadian taxpayer. Not only so, but Canada's credit position in the financial markets of the world is stronger today that it has been for several years. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Rhodes have no apology to make for their stewardship. Rather they have every reason for pride. They have steered Canada's financial ship into smoother waters, and should be given the opportunity again to demonstrate their ability to chart a sound course for the Dominion for the next five years.

A human being not only has two sets of teeth, which appear consecutively, but also two sets of hair, one of which vanishes soon after birth.

OBITUARY

GEORGE U. REYNOLDS

After a period of illness extending over many months, Mr. George Reynolds, a lifelong farmer in the Township of Woodhouse, passed away at his home on No. 6 Highway, on Saturday, March 23rd in his 80th. year.

The late Mr. Reynolds followed farming all his life in the Township in which he died and was very successful, his present home being one of the finest in the township. He was a man honored and respected in his community, whose word given in honor was as good as a bond and whose counsel was sought by many in trouble

About Fifty years ago he married Eliza Ann Eagle, of Woodhouse Township and to whom were born seven children, all living, namely, Mrs Clarence Finch (Maude), of Woodhouse; John, of Detroit, Mrs., Charles Ionson, (Ethel), of Walpole Township, Mrs. George Secord (Jessie), of Detroit; Thomas, of Woodhouse; Mrs. Robert Laidlaw (Edna), of Hagersville and Mrs. Lloyd Underhill (Vera) of Detroit.

The interment was in the Port Dover Cemetery. The many floral offerings were a silent tribute to one who was beloved by all. The pall bearers being Mr. Neil Elliott, Mr. Emerson Miller, Dr Bruce A. Smith, William F. Jaques, Roy Misner and John Jaques.

Prior to her marriage she was for some time registrar at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby. In Hamilton she led several teachers' training classes for Sunday school work and, before her illness, was superintendent of the primary department at First Church (United), Hamilton. She was also known to many young people as a swimming instructor. Surviving are her husband and daughter Ruth, of 163 Ward Avenue, West Hamilton; and two sisters, Mrs. J. The principal municipalities of the County were well represented and considerable progress was made at this meeting. The following are the executive for 1935.

Over seventy-five enthusiastic farmers were present and viewed the moving pictures of the different machinery in operation, and those in attendance were from all parts of Haldimand and Norfolk counties. The three prizes given away to the lucky ticket holders went to John Hunter, 1st; Lloyd Mitchell, 2nd; and Sanford Dougherty 3rd. Andrews Bros. of Woodhouse were the first purchasers of a tractor and plowing outfit complete. Mr. Church reports the prospects for business during the season of 1935 as very bright.

Jarvis and The O.B.A.A.

Will Jarvis be represented in the Haldimand County Baseball League during 1935? That seems to be the question at the present time. One thing definite is that they will not be represented with a juvenile as well as an intermediate team and whether they will be able to round out one team eligible for the intermediate class is quite indefinite.

Unfortunately the Juvenile team that upheld the credit of the Village so well in 1934 is broken up, due to age limit etc. and there does not seem to be the material available to fill the vacancies thus caused. Would it be the proper thing to do to take the Juniors still eligible for juvenile class and put them in the intermediate team? No! They will need a little more seasoning. So far as the intermediate squad are concerned they had also better give up the ship if it is going to be necessary for them to travel a radius of twelve miles in order to make up a team that can provide sufficient interest from their ability as baseball players to earn the support of the public.

Jarvis W.M.S. Meet

The W.M.S. of Knox Church met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Fleming on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Chas Powell conducted the meeting. Paper were read by Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Fleming. Mrs. McLeod read the lesson and Mrs. Butcher led in prayer. The hostess served afternoon tea at the close of the meeting.

These were followed by a number of still pictures, with many exquisitely coloured slides of many countries, closing with a view of the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier" in Westminster Abbey at the heart of the British Empire.
