have had decidedly fewer accidents in the past several months. The Scherectady-Troy road statistics show that the past year and a half had 42.3 per cent fewer night accidents than the preceding 18 months, and 21.2 per cent fewer day accidents. The emphatic reduction in night-time accidents, double the improvement in day-time accidents, is a tributed to the fact that both of the highways have had lighting in the past 18 months. Other road conditions remain unchanged, but each of these heavily-traveled main thoroughfares was made a "ribbon of light" wi, h in-
