Woolen Mills For Alberta

A recent announcement indicated gary. As Alberta annually produces about 3,500,000 pounds of wool, and as a fair-sized woolen mill operates at a capacity of some 500,000 pounds of wool in the grease, and a large mill from 1,000,000 upwards, it is obvious that the annual wool clip in this province is keeping several large mills outsde the province busy. The woolen industry, as distinct form others, enjoys perhaps the longest economic life of all industries for the reason that it is not extractive in the sense that other industries exhaust the sources of their 'raw material. Many woolen mills have been in existence a century in the same location. Hence the establishment of an up-to-date woolen mill in Calgary infers the establishment of a basic industry whose life, in the greater of the ground probably agree that "sermons in stones" are preferable when not of the life would probably agree that "sermons in stones" are preferable when not of the life woolen who love the countryside would probably agree that "sermons in stones" are preferable when not of the life woolen when the carried woolen when the carried woolen who love the countryside would probably agree that "sermons in stones" are preferable when not of the life woolen when the carried woo a fair-sized woolen mili operates at a ment of a basic industry whose life. under proper conditions, should continue for generations. - Calgary Her-
