CREAMERY MONOXIDE

With the return of the Crates from his honeymoon we all thought the excitement was over for awhile.

However we were doomed for another shock, and from the department where it was least expected, the office staff.

The boys all say with all these matrimonial prospects looming in the near future, that it is a definite sign of a cold winter.

Too bad we haven't a few good real estate agents in Jarvis to look after the promotion of building on some of these vacant lots.

It must be sort of disconcerting to have everything settled but the abode but they say love finds a way always.

We hope the last statement will give comfort to those whom it may concern.

And to think Newt has to dance a jig in the Fig Trough, it is expected the boys will all have an opportunity of witnessing the feat before the end of the week.

Naturally the extent to which the Bible Society has achieved the "impossible" is referred to in a striking review of its publication of translations, and the encouragement it has given to the pioneer work of the Colporteurs, of the Society in Korea, China, India, Nepal, Tibet and many another field.

The work of the Colporteurs in Canada receive, special and appreciative mention, many being particularly named. The present world situation is rapidly changing and it is seen through the eyes of the Society's representative. Though there has been a decrease in circulation, and though resources were strained, their utmost to ensure that the world wide work of the Society should not falter.

The keynote of the whole Report may be summed up in the closing lines of the Report: "Let us continue to flinchingly the difficulties of the baffling present and keeping our eyes fixed upon the future when the immutable purpose of God shall be revealed to those who have planned and worked for a new world, but (as many of them know) it is only when the divine principles set forth in the Bible shall guide and inspire the life of the world-wide task of every land where its operations extend, and even in days of financial and economic stress it is deserving of the fullest possible support as it gives, forward to the Kingdom of God will come in its fullness."

The reading of this Report will convince any fair-minded person that the Bible Society is rendering an essential and growing service, not only to Canada, but to every land where its operations extend, and even in days of financial and economic stress it is deserving of the fullest possible support as it gives, forward to the Kingdom of God will come in its fullness."

"THE IMPOSSIBLE"

Being the Popular Report of "The British and Foreign Bible Society", 1932, by the Rev. Edwin W. Smith, Literary Superintendent.

Amongst the popular, published by religious and philanthropic societies, there is none which ranks higher in esteem than the Popular Report of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

The title this year is arresting, the theme being the pioneer aspect of the Bible Society's enterprise, often amidst seemingly impossible conditions.

Literary quotations from writers as varied as Eva Gore-Booth, V. H. Friedlander, St. Augustine, F. W. H. Myers, Browning, Dante and Aeschylus—indicate that the report has ever, has a distinct literary flavour about it.

The main idea is grouped about our Lord's great saying: "With men it is impossible, but with God, all things are possible." "Un and Heaven there is nothing impossible; all you need is a man with a heart."

Naturally the extent to which the Bible Society has achieved the "impossible" is referred to in a striking review of its publication of translations, and the encouragement it has given to the pioneer work of the Colporteurs, of the Society in Korea, China, India, Nepal, Tibet and many another field.
