

ASK NO QUESTIONS!

By BELDON DUFF

SYNOPSIS
Mystery surrounds "White's House," a Connecticut farmhouse leased by Ann West. Only a few months before her husband disappeared, a wife who with Miss West's assistance, took shelter in the farmhouse, disappeared. The lease was on a question. Otto, the attorney, was on the spot. Suspicious points at the Diamond, a handsome man, who was driven home after dinner engaged to be married. What was more, a veterinarian and former owner of the horse, was in the house. A ghostly figure was seen in the tunnel. A ghostly figure was seen in the tunnel. A ghostly figure was seen in the tunnel.

CHAPTER XXVII—(Cont'd.)
DAVID turned. Sweet poured down his face and down his naked chest, the flesh till it looked like polished bronze. "Whoever this is," he said, "I'm glad they're coming. I can't do it alone."

Ann was typical of the star which guided the Prentice fortune, a woman who could blink a little at the possibility of a ghost. No sooner had this decision been reached than the sound of voices and the crashing of feet made it clear that the tunnel was not empty. Hales Crossing had arrived. The youngster crossed the floor—wanting to know if the blue eyes were staring at him or if he had done what he left behind. The girl who had been his bride, a child before him, was there. Then, suddenly, she was gone. The light of recognition and relief shined like twin stars from their depths. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand.

"I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand.

"I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand.

"I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand. "I'll set the lamp down on the floor," he said, and buried his head under her hand.

NEIGHBORS TALK

"I am employed in a theatre and it is a problem to make ends meet, as I help support my mother and sisters. I like to dress well but haven't very much to spend on clothes. To give the appearance of variety to my slender wardrobe I change the color of a dress some faded. I always use Diamond Dyes for the work—using them as dyes for dresses and as tints for stockings. I have always gotten such perfect results that our neighbors talk. I have the great number of new things I have learned about Diamond Dyes from my wardrobe mistress. She says she has tried all the dyes on the market and none do such splendid work and are so easy to use as the world's most popular dyes—and they deserve to be."

JE No. 14—33

Off To The Junk Yard

After more than a million miles in the transcontinental mail service the old 490 is junked. Major Bishop, Alan Winslow, Clarence Vance and other world-famous pilots have flown it.

Plant That Drills Through Ice

The strange mechanism by which a plant may drill its way through solid ice, so that thick beds of blue ice, is described in an article by Dr. Casey A. Wood, associate of the U.S. National Museum, in a recent publication of the Smithsonian.

The plant, we are told in a press release from the Smithsonian, is the sea slug Solidanella alpina, in the Alps. Says Dr. Wood, in the Smithsonian Annual Report: "In the autumn the solidanella plants, which are well-provided with fuel, such as starch and protoplasm, for the coming winter, penetrate the ice by means of their roots. These roots are still many degrees above the temperature of the ice. Bacteria alone can make hay hot, but the plant is able to do this. The bacteria are still many degrees above the temperature of the ice. Bacteria alone can make hay hot, but the plant is able to do this."

The man who the lantern looked at. "You're not going to see credit, son. But this isn't no lynching party. I'm Seth Toby, chief of police. And these are my deputies, sworn in at a law here. You've got to get out of here. The mob over yonder," he jerked his head in the direction of a crowd of men. "Must be halfway to the Crossin' by now."

"Oh," gulped Willie, and stood aside. The men filed past him and crawled, one by one, into the tunnel. "You're not going to see credit, son. But this isn't no lynching party. I'm Seth Toby, chief of police. And these are my deputies, sworn in at a law here. You've got to get out of here. The mob over yonder," he jerked his head in the direction of a crowd of men. "Must be halfway to the Crossin' by now."

Autos Less Used in Belgium

Brussels—Motor cars, probably no less numerous than before the war, are being used in the garages in Belgium. Private cars only coming out for church parades or on some such solemn occasion. However, a Belgian car is being used in the streets of Brussels. The problem of traffic police is greatly complicated by the varying speeds of the different vehicles.

He does not understand the value of wisdom and friendship that the present is a true friend to be the noblest of presents.

ORANGE PEKOE BLEND

Why Haystacks Burst Into Flames

Haystacks sometimes catch fire spontaneously. The reason was recently explained to chemists attending the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. C. A. Browne of the U.S. Bureau of Chemistry and Soils. The Science News Letter, a U.S. Service publication (Washington, D.C.), says: "Hay losses from this cause in the United States run into big money; approximately $20,000,000 a year, Dr. Browne said. "This is enough to enable a big university or a couple of moderate-sized cities to pay for their maintenance in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax."

Hay losses from this cause in the United States run into big money; approximately $20,000,000 a year, Dr. Browne said. "This is enough to enable a big university or a couple of moderate-sized cities to pay for their maintenance in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax."

Hay losses from this cause in the United States run into big money; approximately $20,000,000 a year, Dr. Browne said. "This is enough to enable a big university or a couple of moderate-sized cities to pay for their maintenance in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax in the repair of this unauthorized tax."

EDWARDSBURG CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP

The economical and delicious table syrup. A nourishing sweet for the whole family. THE CANADA STARCH CO. LIMITED, MONTREAL.

HEADACHE Here's Quick Relief!

Women of Arctic Circle Demand 1933 Styles. Manufacturers in the Norwegian boot and shoe trade report that women are fastidious about footwear however far from civilization they may be. At Hammerfest, nearly 300 miles beyond the Arctic Circle, it has been found impossible to sell them a pair of shoes in last year's style. They follow the fashion, it is said, almost inch by inch. They are greatly interested in the latest styles and designs. There is no cheating when he is ill-advised who thinks to work off a surplus of the previous season's models in the Arctic Circle.

Aspirin brings you immediate relief.

Aspirin brings you immediate relief. It acts before you can feel any effect at all from the slowest forms of relief. Do not hesitate to take Aspirin tablets because of this speed. Their quick action is due to the fact they dissolve immediately. They are perfectly safe. They do not depress the heart. That's the beauty of a remedy like Aspirin. Anyone can take it as often as there is any need of its comfort. In sufficient quantity to produce complete relief. You could not take Aspirin every day in the slowest forms of relief. Do not hesitate to take Aspirin tablets because of this speed. Their quick action is due to the fact they dissolve immediately. They are perfectly safe. They do not depress the heart. That's the beauty of a remedy like Aspirin. Anyone can take it as often as there is any need of its comfort. In sufficient quantity to produce complete relief. You could not take Aspirin every day in the slowest forms of relief.

Aspirin brings you immediate relief. It acts before you can feel any effect at all from the slowest forms of relief. Do not hesitate to take Aspirin tablets because of this speed. Their quick action is due to the fact they dissolve immediately. They are perfectly safe. They do not depress the heart. That's the beauty of a remedy like Aspirin. Anyone can take it as often as there is any need of its comfort. In sufficient quantity to produce complete relief. You could not take Aspirin every day in the slowest forms of relief.

Woman's World

By MAIR MORGAN
"A Woman's Place is in the Home."

mention their popularity in creamed chicken and meat dishes. One cup boiled rice, 1 teaspoon curry powder, salt to taste, 1 quart can of tomatoes, buttered bread-crumbs, add curry powder and salt to tomatoes, mix well. Put layer of tomatoes in bottom of baking dish, then a layer of rice, then a layer of tomato, and so on until all is used, having the last layer of tomatoes. Sprinkle top with breadcrumbs and bake in moderate oven half an hour, serve in baking dish.

Organic Blouses. Like spring flowers are the new crisp organic blouses that have invaded fashion's realm. Some of the very newest ones are of crinkled or gaudy with stripes like crinkled. Others are bloused organics. Still others are of the sheer starched or gauzy. Aside from their inviting freshness, their new and distinctive styling, the colors have strong drawing powers. There is a deep pink, an array of blues, golden yellows, all the pastels as well as rich browns, reds, and black. And, of course, there is white. The styles are clever and different. They may be pert and young with double-breasted collars and puffed up sleeves, or they may be sophisticated with trim, tailored lines. One outstanding style had puffed sleeves and an Ascot collar, a new spring note. The majority have high necklines. One of fashion's dictators this spring is color contrast and the blouse is one way to introduce it into the costume.

When Kindness Like a Planet Sets. When kindness like a planet sets, and bitter thoughts infect the mind, when love her phantom, forgives, when blind suspicion leads the blind, imagination fainting lies, with fallen stars her ways are strewn, and fancy, once her friend, flies to the cold caverns of the Moon. —Eric Clough Taylor.

When kindness like a planet sets, and bitter thoughts infect the mind, when love her phantom, forgives, when blind suspicion leads the blind, imagination fainting lies, with fallen stars her ways are strewn, and fancy, once her friend, flies to the cold caverns of the Moon. —Eric Clough Taylor.

When kindness like a planet sets, and bitter thoughts infect the mind, when love her phantom, forgives, when blind suspicion leads the blind, imagination fainting lies, with fallen stars her ways are strewn, and fancy, once her friend, flies to the cold caverns of the Moon. —Eric Clough Taylor.

When kindness like a planet sets, and bitter thoughts infect the mind, when love her phantom, forgives, when blind suspicion leads the blind, imagination fainting lies, with fallen stars her ways are strewn, and fancy, once her friend, flies to the cold caverns of the Moon. —Eric Clough Taylor.

MUTT AND JEFF—By BUD FISHER

THEY GOT JEFF UNDER OBSERVATION! ALL HE DOES IS 'CUT OUT PAPER DOLLS AND SILENT! ONE HOUR OF THIS— MUTT, THERE'S ONLY ONE MAN IN THIS COUNTRY WHO, IF ELECTED PRESIDENT, CAN BRING BACK PROSPERITY. WHO'S THAT? YOU! SEE HOW YOU'RE TALKING SENSE? YOU'LL BE OUT OF HERE IN A FEW DAYS.

THEY GOT JEFF UNDER OBSERVATION! ALL HE DOES IS 'CUT OUT PAPER DOLLS AND SILENT! ONE HOUR OF THIS— MUTT, THERE'S ONLY ONE MAN IN THIS COUNTRY WHO, IF ELECTED PRESIDENT, CAN BRING BACK PROSPERITY. WHO'S THAT? YOU! SEE HOW YOU'RE TALKING SENSE? YOU'LL BE OUT OF HERE IN A FEW DAYS.

Flower Name Sake

Sunday School Lesson

April 16 Lesson III—Jesus Transfigured—Mark 9: 28, 17, 18, 29-30. Golden Text—And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth.—John 1: 14.

ANALYSIS. I. THE MOUNT OF VISION, Mark 9: 2-13. II. THE VALLEY OF SERVICE, Mark 9: 14-29.

INTRODUCTION—Jesus' unexpected and startling announcement of his approaching death seemed to be the denial and destruction of every Messianic hope. The perplexed and saddened disciples needed a glimpse of the divinity that was hidden in their Master—some assurance that the way his cross was the way of triumph. This assurance they were soon to receive.

THE MOUNT OF VISION, Mark 9: 2-13. The Gospels tell us nothing of that wonderful week which Jesus and his twelve disciples needed a glimpse of the divinity that was hidden in their Master—some assurance that the way his cross was the way of triumph. This assurance they were soon to receive.

THE VALLEY OF SERVICE, Mark 9: 14-29. The Gospels tell us nothing of that wonderful week which Jesus and his twelve disciples needed a glimpse of the divinity that was hidden in their Master—some assurance that the way his cross was the way of triumph. This assurance they were soon to receive.

THE VALLEY OF SERVICE, Mark 9: 14-29. The Gospels tell us nothing of that wonderful week which Jesus and his twelve disciples needed a glimpse of the divinity that was hidden in their Master—some assurance that the way his cross was the way of triumph. This assurance they were soon to receive.

Ruffles and Puffs For New Blouses

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern. A charming new blouse that will place you in the "know" of fashion. Don't you think it adorable? The high beruffled collar is so entirely in spirit with the Victorian age. At the same time, it is easy and becoming to wear. While crinkly crepe satin makes the original blouse. It would also be very effective in a decided contrast with the ruffle of white crepe. It's the most simple thing to fashion. Just a few seams to join. And it will cost you next to nothing. Style No. 3884 is designed for sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards 35-38 or 39-inch fabric. HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS. Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (post preferred; wrap it carefully) for each number, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto, Ont. M4C 1A9. Peter's confused talk (v. 5) was foolish because he argued, "It is good to be here, therefore let us stay here." God is best served in helping needy people. Jesus led his enraptured men from the Mount of Vision to the Valley of Service. The purpose of public and private worship is not spiritual enjoyment, but preparation for action.

THE VALLEY OF SERVICE, Mark 9: 14-29. The Gospels tell us nothing of that wonderful week which Jesus and his twelve disciples needed a glimpse of the divinity that was hidden in their Master—some assurance that the way his cross was the way of triumph. This assurance they were soon to receive.

Attractive Lawyer Miss

Real spring has come, not alight windy rain. But violets growing down a quiet lane. Not sudden gusts of cold from the sea. But quivering wings in every bud. Real spring, with days like jewels set upon a carpet. And all its age-old hunger to your heart. An aching need to sin against your face. And all the old sweet freedom of the race. Real spring, with wide brown furrows turned, and white and brown. A new world of promise showing every where. New lambs and colts in pastures warm and bright. Old orchards trees with daisies in between. A mother-hen at alighting dusk of day. Finds a warm corner up against the wall. And makes of her own body safe and snug. A kindly shelter for her tiny brood. Push small green fingers up to feel the sun. Whose roots lie deep below the furrows plowed. Seeking the substance from the sun and rain. Real spring, with all the fragrant lovely earth. Pulsing with gracious life and joy and life. A quickening in the hidden heart of things. Across the stony dark, the best of things. —By Edna Jacques in The National Home Monthly.

Young People Today Meet Too Frequently. Stratford, Ont.—Young people courting today see too much of each other, is the opinion of Mrs. William Smith of St. Mary's. Mrs. Smith and her husband recently celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Smith said she had no particular desire to criticize young people of today but she thinks the customs of the "good old days" are a little better. "When we were courting the boy friend came only once in two weeks," said Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith is 59. She still does her own darning and mending and sews the use of glasses for this work. She owns a pair which she says she wears when she can find them. Children is her favorite game. Her husband is 94 and his favorite recreation is to get out in the garden. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married in St. Mary's and had six children, five of whom are still living.

Young London Dancer Takes Paris by Storm. A nineteen-year-old London dancer has taken France by storm. She is already known as "the girl with the perfect legs," and has been engaged to lead the corps of ballet dancers at a fashionable Paris theatre. She is Miss Mary Horner. Since she was first able to toddle about Miss Horner tried to dance when she heard a piano played. On leaving school, against the wishes of her mother, she went on the stage. "It is perhaps not surprising that Mary is so successful as a dancer, for she loves all dancing, from classical to modern jazz," her mother said. "When she was 14 she enrolled at Greek dancing, and a year later was engaged as a dancer in 'Rose Marie' at a fashionable Paris theatre. She has since appeared in cabarets in several London hotels, and danced at the London Hippodrome." Miss Horner's first interest was in ways been dancing, but she is also a very keen fisher, an excellent swimmer and fond of tennis.

Extreme Compliment. The family shout, "Well, rather!" And then they about in solemn style. "It looks just like his father."

Extreme Compliment

The family shout, "Well, rather!" And then they about in solemn style. "It looks just like his father."

Rational.

The family shout, "Well, rather!" And then they about in solemn style. "It looks just like his father."

Rational.

The family shout, "Well, rather!" And then they about in solemn style. "It looks just like his father."

The family shout, "Well, rather!" And then they about in solemn style. "It looks just like his father."