HOW A CAT FALLS

A cat which falls or springs from a height, great or small, always manages to fall on its feet. That we all know. This wonderful feat is made possible by the way the muscles of the cat are arranged, and the quickness of the cat's instinct for bringing them into play.

No matter how a cat is dropped, it is able to turn over in its air; it can so twist itself that its feet shall come in contact with the ground. But the cat must be in health and vigor, or the feat cannot be performed.

Scientists say that if man could master the secret of the cat they also would be able to alight on their feet when falling. There is no reason why human muscles should not be as effective as the cat's.

Many have seen men dive head foremost from a trapeze, turn somersaults in the air, and land safely. Others vault over the backs of horses, whirling round in mid-air, and yet dropping safely on their feet.

The secret seems to be the quick working of the mind; at any rate, scientists state that the ordinary man would have power to do as the cat does if he made up his mind quickly enough. Cat's are the superiors of ordinary man in this and in any other way in which they come safely to earth.

Messrs. Walter Rohrbach, Jacob Rays and Gordon Fess attended the Hamilton, Pt. Colborne hockey game on Friday night.

Mr. Willis Marshall and Miss Jean Hartwick, attended a play in Smithville on Thursday night.

Mr. Bisbee and Mr. Norrie of Dunnville, called on Mr. K. H. Hartwick on Friday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tyrrell of Hamilton, spent Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. Tyrrell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pond, of Chesapeake, spent Monday afternoon visiting Mr. K. H. Hartwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hulbert, of Buffalo, spent Sunday visiting Mrs. Huberts parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hartwick.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Woffle of Delhi called on Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Hartwick and Rev. and Mrs. Brege on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Clarence Dougherty, of Walpole, called on her mother Mrs. H. C. Held on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Mehlbacher of Niagara Falls spent over the weekend with her parents here.

Messrs. O. E. Reicheld and J. R. Kline spent Sunday afternoon in Brantford.

Miss Doris Hartwick is spending a few days in Hamilton.

Mrs. H. C. Held left on Monday night to visit her daughter Mrs. H. Lett, at Syracuse.

Mr. W. H. Culver, has moved his drilling rig on a new location on the farm of Mr. P. E. Reicheld.

Mr. Charles House, of Stevemville spent over the weekend in town.

Mr. A. W. Reicheld made a business trip to Port Maitland one day last week.

The Royal Bank inspection staff paid their annual visit to the local branch here last week.

NELLES CORNERS

Miss Margaret Reibethy of Cayuga spent Sunday at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Fitch, spent the weekend at Corinth. Miss Alice and Mrs. Porter of Glenora returned with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Dreyer, of Courtland, spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. J. Coopers.

Mr. Chas. Humber and friend, returned from their visit to the Pickering and Banting varieties originated at the Experimental Farm here.

The Pickering is a slightly bluish tinge when young, and is of delicious quality quite equal to Golden Banting. Banting is a very early yellow corn of good quality.

These valuable origins make it possible for thousands of Canadians to grow their own fresh fruits and vegetables who were previously unable to do so owing to the longer season required by the other crops.

BEST TO MAKE A WILL

It has been calculated that only a few out of fifty per cent. of the people who have property or money have a will, and, as a result, estates are often divided in ways absolutely contrary to the wishes of the deceased. Many a woman has had to struggle along for years because no will was left and the estate could not be divided up until children had reached twenty-one years of age. Where there is a will, properly drawn up, the testator makes his own rules and disposes of his estate after his death as he sees fit. It is the duty of every man and woman who owns an estate of any kind to make a will so that there will be no misadministration of what is left.

For example if a married man, without children, dies intestate—without a will—half of his estate goes to his wife the remainder to his other relatives. In so many instances the wife has had much to do with the accumulation of the estate but gets only the same share as other relatives, generally contrary to the wishes of the deceased. In the case of a married man leaving a wife and children and no will, leaving more than a thousand dollars, the estate is divided as follows: the wife gets one-third and two thirds is divided among the children as they reach the age of twenty-one years. Until they reach that age, often, funds are insufficient to maintain the child. Similarly, if a wife dies, leaving an estate but no will, the same share as the husband.

Making a will has no effect on the expectation of life; but it should be intelligently drawn up so that there can be no dispute and costly legal snarls after death, with consequent shrinkage of the estate. Where a man is making a will, it usually is wise to name a trustee to act as executor or trustee company so that all formalities may be observed and that there shall be as little waste of the estate as possible. Wives are showing no lack of love or hope of the death of their mates when they insist that proper will be made.

BETTER FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FOR CANADIAN TABLES

(Experimental Farms Note)

Canadians like good things to eat and desire to have them at all seasons of the year. This has been kept in mind by the breeders of new fruits and vegetables in the Experimental Division at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and the aim has been to originate, if possible, something better than was yet available, and good success has followed those efforts.

After a long winter, there is a great craving for something with acidity, hence there is much demand for rhubarb, not only for the acid but because it is the first edible product from the soil in spring. There is a great difference in rhubarb from the green, coarse, stringy variety to the attractive, fine grained sort known as "Rhubarb" originated at the Experimental Farm, and considered to be the best rhubarb on the market, and already very popular.

Not only is it red on the outside, but it is so much more tender and makes such an attractive sauce that even those who do not care much for rhubarb are tempted to eat it. It is so much more tender and makes such an attractive sauce that even those who do not care much for rhubarb are tempted to eat it.

"RIDE HIM COWBOY" AN EXCITING WESTERN PICTURE

Seldom is there so well knit a plot and melodious a story in a Western as "Ride Him Cowboy" underlines "Ride Him Cowboy," the feature production which opens at the Regent theatre Friday, March 17th. Kenneth Perkins, the author, has brought out the true life of the West with commendable exactness, at the same time filling his story with fast action, thrilling and hair raising episodes.

There is also a glowing romance with touches of humor which lends a welcome relief to the overwhelming intensity of the action. The battle scene fighting gang of bandits adds breathless suspense to a picture that holds one in the grip of its swift changing action.

John Wayne, the former University of Southern California football star, is a splendid hero type—a dashing figure of a man more than six feet tall. He proves that he can ride and act as well as carry the whole weight of the picture on his shoulders.

Others in the cast, well known to all stage and screen lovers include Harry Gibson, Otis Harlan, Charles Selton and Frank Hagney.

Too much can be said of "Duke the Devil Horse," who rescues his master from a horrible death on the desert, and polishes off the leader of the bandits with his hoofs. His intelligence and intuition are uncanny. It seemingly can do anything but talk.

The picture is set in a gorgeous background of the Western country with its beautiful mountains, lakes and desert spaces. It is a picture that will thrill every youngster and every older who loves plenty of action and thrills. The pleasing realism also will set feminine hearts a flutter.

This is the first of a series of six Western action pictures being produced by Leon Schleimer, producer of "Looney Tunes" and "Merris Melodies" to fill a long felt need for first class dramatic productions of Western life. It is directed by Fred Allen and is being distributed through Vitaphone.

STREPTOCOCCUS

Bring back again those happy days of Caesar, Brutus, Hector. They loved and sold, they lived and died.

With never an Inspector.

In cavernous days, to get a wife, Upon the beam you cracked her. Then dragged her home, but nowdays.

Both first seen an Inspector.

In Eden's garden Mother Eve With a few leaves heeded her. The fruit they ate, today would wait Till passed by an Inspector.

On other days out in the park We loved our girl and needed her. Today you try it if a car And quick comes an Inspector.

We send our little girls to school To teach her and correct her. But all the day it seems that they Examine and inspect her.

They fix her eyes, her teeth, her nose Until they've almost wrecked her. You'd be surprised the things that she Must show to some Inspector.

The little hen once laid her eggs As nature did expect her. But now each step from nest to nest Is checked by some Inspector.

Her coop, her roost, everything With which they can connect her. The farmer, dealer, grocer, all Are bossed by some Inspector.

The cow must not give up her milk, For beef you can't dissect her. Unless the smell of all her parts Suits some darn fool Inspector.

When all is ended and old Nick Has got each malfactor. We hope in each hot spot in Hell There sizzles an Inspector.
