Do You Know?

Certainly anyone writing about the "dear damned distracting town," as Pope called it, has wonderful material to work on. As Lord Wakefield, one of the City's greatest modern benefactors, says in his introduction to Col. Robert Blackham's "The Sovereign City": London is "solid" history in the same sense as the River Thames is said to be "liquid" history.

Light Traps Moths

Light traps are used in northern Canada to haul hoons of locusts. When it is necessary to move one of these traps from one lake to another, cables are fastened from a capstan on the boat to the pole of a large tree and the traps pull themselves under their own power across the portage.
