A visit by motor to Norfolk County the other day impressed us very much with the changes that have taken place in that district during the past few years. A generation ago Norfolk, with its sand farms, was certainly not counted among the richest of our counted among the richest of our counted among the place in the program of the straight of the word technocracy on a friend's types of soil and climate were suited for, and then specializing in those lines, the people of Norfolk have made for, and then specializing in those lines, the people of Norfolk have made remarkable advancement in the productivity as well as in the prosperity of their county. Norfolk can grow apples. Her leaders studied the situation, decided that the only way to make it profitable was to give special attention to nonducing a good uniform

And now from England comes the news that an experimenter there has discovered that the life of razor blades can be greatly lengthened by keeping them lying north and south by the compass. He has kept a record of the length of the life of the various razor blades he has used. Prior to orientating his razor blades he found that no blade would last him longer than about one month or six weeks. During the past two and half years, during which he has conducted his experiment, his blades averaged 72 days, one went as high as 166 days.

He credits it to terrestrial magnetism.—Financial Post.

Contrast in Courts

Two drug traffickers were arrested recently, one in Canada and the other across the line. One, sentenced in Montreal, must serve fourteen years in a penitentiary, receive twenty-five lashes and pay a fine of $3,000. The other, tried across the line, was freed on a technicality.—Niagara Falls Review.
