Mr. Wm. Macell, of Jarvis, visited with Mrs. Clara Cairns in Hamilton on Monday.

Thanksgiving guests with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Walter were: Miss Margaret MacKay, of Seaford; Miss Grace Walter, of Toronto; Mr. Russell

Walter, of Seaford and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Biggar and daughters, Margaret and Lorene, of Mount Hope.

The alterations being made on the property recently purchased by Mr. Albert Meehan next to the Bank of Commerce is a decided improvement and when completed will add greatly to the appearance to that particular section.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Warner, who for the past few months, have been living in the Bingleman house, are moving to their new place of residence, near Nanticoke, where Mr. Warner, who is a gas well digger, is putting down several wells in that vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Garber were among the most successful exhibitors at the Black Minoras at the Simcoe Fair with seven breeders, competing with forty-six birds, the strongest class in the entire show. Mr. Garber was successful in winning as many prizes as his competitors combined and also took several prizes in R. I. Red classes.

The Fifth annual Plowing Match of the Haldimand Plowmen's Association will be held at the farm of Mr. Henry Johnson, one mile north of the Village, on No. 6 Highway, on Thursday, October 26th. The annual banquet will be held in the evening in the Jarvis Town Hall, at which a prominent speaker will be present to address the gathering.

Birthday Anniversaries

Away back in the year 1860, James Berkly McKnight, was born in this Village, and Jim thought enough of this pretty little Village to spend his life here. He was in active business here for over fifty years, and was a prominent speaker in the wheel of success, being deeply interested at all times in any and every thing that was for the stability and progress of the Village. He retired some years ago, from his active pursuits in life to enjoy in quietude the results of his many years labor. On Sunday last he celebrated his 83rd birthday surrounded by the following members of his family, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davidson, of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hunter and daughter Ruth, Mrs. Elmer Featherstone, of Waterloo, and Miss Jean Davidson, of Freeport. Mr. and Mrs. McKnight are both enjoying the best of health in the evening of their life, and the "Record" is proud to announce the consequences of conduct are the result of their good health and happiness resulting from their active and energetic lives.

London District Mutual Fire Underwriters Convene

At a largely attended meeting of large interest, if the voyage prospered but not repaid at all if the ship he lost, the rate of interest being made high enough to pay not only for the use of the capital but for the risk of the loss of the ship. Loans of this character have ever since been common in marine insurance.

The simplest and most general conception of insurance is a provision made by a group of persons each incident of which cannot be foreseen, but when such loss shall occur, to the whole group.

Its essential elements, therefore, are foresight and co-operation. Foresight is a special distinction of civilization, and co-operation is the basis of all social progress.

Insurance is the consequence of foresight, and it is the basis of all social progress. It is the consequence of foresight, and it is the basis of all social progress.
