WINTER

IN CHOOSING CHICKS - LOOK AHEAD SIX MONTHS

In buying your chicks this Spring, you make or break your next Winter's egg profits. Bray flocks proved their profitableness last winter, by laying steadily through the coldest months. And Bray chicks are hatched from big eggs—more than half of them from eggs running 25-30 ounces per dezen. The pullets grow big and lay more big eggs. Customers report pullets from this season's early hatches, up to 2½ lbs. at 9 weeks, and losses next to nothing.
