Dunnville, Ont., Dec. 5, 1933

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are meeting today in annual Session to mark the passing of another year and to review the work therein. As we are now entering the 19th year of our Society we trust our report of the year's operations with its many days of anxiety and discouragement will be acceptable. Still the fact remains that many young hearts have been filled with gratitude for the timely appearance of your representative on the scene of want and need.

The records go to show that the Society has duly formed, the work begun, slowly at first, and from small beginnings, but with ever increasing volume and interest. It is difficult to picture in a brief space the conditions existing in the early days regarding neglected or improperly cared for children or to estimate the opposition met in having them committed to the Society's care. The cruelty to children met frequently then, has no equal in our records of today. I do not mean to intimate that we have reached an Utopia, but as a matter of comparison, conditions then were in many cases appalling. During all these years the work of the Society has been making a distinct impression on those amongst whom its efforts are directed. And as each year goes by it is found that the work is not growing less but greater by the increasing dependence of suffering ones upon the Society's aid. We appear now to come to the assistance of those in difficulty at an earlier stage of their troubles. The problems are not less difficult in many cases, but there is perhaps more willingness on the part of those most concerned to cooperate with the Society. The actual work involved in carrying out interviews, visitations, and correspondence is laying an increasing burden upon the office which is perhaps not appreciated by those not closely connected with what goes on.

That those most directly concerned in a material sense are aware of the benefits occurring from the Society's work is evidenced by the continued support received from our County Council and the Women's Institutes of the County. Our relations with them have been pleasant and we appreciate their willingness to aid. And while speaking of this we should not lose sight of the many acts of kindness of many friends throughout the County. In view of this and the continued interest of our many friends we look confidently to the future, realizing that the people of this County will accept their responsibilities and that help, material and otherwise, will always be forth coming as it may be required.

The response of our Committee to the needs of children made possible the work of the year which we are today reviewing. We have had the moral and financial support of the Councillors of the County and the co-operation of Civic and County officials, and of other Welfare Agencies, and the feeling that our hands have been upheld by all good people generally.

The yearly summary reveals how wide-spread is the scope of work — how many homes are reached—and how many and varied are the needs which are met.

16. Wards returned to Society	5
17. Wards visited	85
18. Warnings given	10
19. No. of wards on our list	57
20. No. of wards of other Societies and chargeable to our Co.	4
21. Amount held in trust	$55.42
22. No. of children in Juvenile Court	25

At present we have 30 children in private boarding. Nine wards are with parents or relatives. Ten wards were released, either as temporary wards or having reached their majority. The children in homes are in Municipalities:— Walpole 12, Hagersville 4, Seneca 1, North Cayuga 2, Oneida 3, Dunn 1, Canboro 7, Moulton 6, Dunnville 6, Sherbrooke 2, Hamilton 5 In other counties 3. Wards in boarding homes are as follows: Walpole 6, Hagersville 4, North Cayuga 1, Oneida 1, Canboro 6, Moulton 7, Onondaga 6, Dunnville 1 Sherbrooke 1, Hamilton 4.

Domestic difficulties and entanglements, for instance were frequently met with in homes in which children were reported as receiving inadequate care and often accompanied conditions of need and neglect.

Several family groups were given varying degrees of attention according to the circumstances and needs of the cases, but always our efforts were directed toward keeping the children concerned in their own homes with their own parents, while endeavoring to so better the living conditions that the children would be assured proper care and fair treatment.

Some people unfortunately seem to be unable to adequately perform the duties of parenthood without oversight, warning, encouragement and help, and yet respond to kindly interest in themselves and in their children. Very frequently the factors which ordinarily influence family behaviour are lacking and the Society becomes a successful substitute.

Throughout these depression years the relief given by the municipalities held together many homes which could not otherwise have survived. Special needs, some of them very pathetic, we have been able to meet through the generosity of organizations and individuals.

We have never failed to secure the sympathetic help of our friends, the Reeves, and the Township Councillors, whether we called upon them for assistance in our work or for relief in cases of deprivation.

While need, sickness, lack of employment and other misfortunes have figured in many of the cases with which we have been called upon to deal, there has been an increase in the cases of neglect.

By recourse to the Courts, we were able to enforce our claim for consideration of the children's interest.

One boy who was made a ward, after being placed in a boarding home, expressed himself as follows: these, "I never had such a good time in my life before. I like going to school and I like my teacher. I have nice clean bed to sleep in, and I say a nice Prayer, "Now I lay me down to Sleep."

A baby boy born on the 10th was critically ill when brought to the Society's immediate action placed him in hospital and he is now in better health.

One child, born on the 10th of Sunday School boy his first Christmas. It was his first time attending a religious service and his brother are now regular attendants.

The Mental Health Clinic visits our County has been of great value in the way of giving us real help and direction as to the care and treatment of children who are receiving our attention. Unfortunately lack of funds prevent sending subnormal children to institutions for special training. We have at present children who are receiving attention in Orillia Public School.

Much splendid work has been done for the crippled children through the efforts of our organization in conjunction with the Rotary and Dunnville Lions Clubs. Excellent results have taken place and we feel grateful for the part the Service Clubs are taking for crippled children. Neatly children have been sent to the School for the Blind. A number to School for the Deaf and Bellerville. We are glad to say have been vitally interested in these cases.

The necessity of keeping a budget that has been stationery the past year, with the increasing difficulty in procuring free foster homes for children, made it impossible to extend care to many children who would doubtless have benefited by such provision.

A great deal of time and energy is expended in the efforts to carry out provisions of the Children's Unmarried Parents Act. During the year we have investigated cases under this Act. The purpose of the Act, which is to secure financial assistance from the fathers, is not possible of attainment in all instances, because of the frequent lack of evidence to corroborate the mothers' statements. In the provisions of the Act are intended to some extent the case of the unmarried mother, she is left with former times when parental responsibility whatever could be attached to the putative father, even when the Court Order is secured, or Agreements are signed, still remains the difficulty of collecting, many of the putative fathers being unemployed or having precarious employment at the present time.

During the past year 40 cases were completed, or are in the process of completion, 9 adoptions have been completed these adoptions give a very high degree of satisfaction to all concerned, assurance they carry for the future well being of the children.

In addition to the splendid support and assistance we have received in our work locally, we appreciate the help derived from our close association with the Department of Public Welfare, largely through the Children's Aid Branch under which we operate. Our sincere thanks are extended to our esteemed Provincial Inspector for his wonderful interest and guidance in our work.

To all, locally and elsewhere, who have assisted in our work we are remembered the needs of the children in our care we express our sincere appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,
CHAS. R. BILGER,
Local Superintendent.

CHOREA

Chorea, better known as St. Vitus' Dance, is a disease of children, children between five and fifteen years of age being the most frequent victims. It is more often seen among girls than boys, and it appears to select what is described as the overactive highly strung, excitable child.

The cause of chorea is not definitely known, but it is generally agreed that it is an infection due to the same germ that causes rheumatic fever. This opinion is held because of the frequent association of chorea and rheumatic fever, and because, in both conditions, the heart is apt to be damaged. Rheumatic fever does occur in children without any of the joint symptoms which are commonly associated with the disease.

Other factors, such as shock, fright exposure to wet or cold, have all been considered as being immediate or precipitating causes, but it has not been shown that they are, in any sense, the real causes of chorea.

The onset is usually gradual. It will be noticed that the child is nervous and irritable. He has some difficulty in using his limbs, as is evidenced by his dropping or upsetting things, and his occasional stumble and falls. These signs are followed by irregular, jerky movements, which may be limited or general, mild or severe. There is loss of weight, a poor appetite, the child tires easily and, not infrequently, he complains of headache.

In addition to the physical symptoms, there occurs a marked change in the disposition of the child, with irritability and emotional outbursts. The disease, even in its mildest forms, requires adequate treatment. Following recovery from the attacks definite steps should be taken to prevent a recurrence.

Prevention of further attacks will include a consideration of the tonsils, which, if deseased, should be removed. The next step is to build up and maintain, at a high level, the general health of the child through attention to diet, fresh air, exercise rest, et cetera.

Until the child reaches a stage of good health, he requires extra rest together with the avoidance of any physical or mental strain. As long as the child is below par he should be guided away from competitive evenst and exciting or worrying tasks. It takes time, even in a child, to rebuild health, and the process demands understanding and patience, together with perseverance on the part of parents.

Egg Marketing Receives Attention

A committee meeting of some considerable importance to egg producers in general was held in Hagersville on Saturday last to further consider the problem of marketing. Several important matters were discussed and it was decided to call a general meeting of producers to be held on Friday afternoon next, February 16th, to further discuss the problem and report on findings to date.

The meeting is called for 1.30 P. M. and will be held in the Hagersville Council Chambers. It will be open to all egg producers and ladies will be particularly welcomed.

The committee, appointed in January has been making a rather exhaustive study of egg marketing and has been in close touch with the Ontario Marketing Board. The members of the committee feel they have made progress and are now prepared to make some definite recommendations which will be disclosed at next Friday's meeting.
