SIMPLIFYING DAIRY SANITATION

(Experimental Farms Note)

The production of clean, wholesome, safe milk of good keeping quality demands the observance of certain requirements. Keeping dirt out of milk should need no stressing. Wholesomeness implies freedom from undesirable flavour and odours as well as satisfactory richness. Safety is promoted by tuberculin and blood testing of cattle, dry hand milking, and finally pasteurization, which is the one really adequate protection. Keeping quality depends upon the control of bacterial growth first by keeping the number of bacteria as low as possible and second by checking the growth of those present by prompt cooling to below 50 degrees F.

In the early days, bacterial contamination of milk was believed to be due to dust falling into the milk during milking. Later studies have shown that this is only a minor source, and that improperly cared-for dairy utensils contribute far more bacteria than all others combined. Thus lack of attention to this major source means that care taken in other respects is largely wasted in so far as improving keeping quality is concerned. To this end the Division of Bacteriology, Central Experimental arm, Ottawa, have been working on simplified methods for keeping utensils in good sanitary condition. The old method of taking apart and brushing the tubes of a milking machine after each milking has been found to give no better results than a simple suction rinse method, while filling the tubes with a weak lye solution between milkings keeps them clean and sanitary even without the use of hot water. Really boiling water in quantities large enough to sterilize cans, pails, etc. is rarely available, and is expensive to provide. To meet this situation, the Division of Bacteriology advises rinsing the utensils with a hypochlorite (chlorine) solution just before using. Shipping cans in particular need treatment, as enormous numbers of bacteria often develop on the inner surfaces after washing and "sterilizing" at the milk plant.

Probably the simplest method of prefenting bacterial growth is to place the cans of milk in ice water in an insulated cooling tank propided with an agitator to keep the ice water in circulation around the cans. Using either natural ice or electrical cooling, milk can be cooled rapidly to below the danger point and held there until ready for shipment. This is simpler than using aerators or stirring milk in the cans, and does away with possible contamination from these operations.

Rumor has it that action for damages against the Jarvis School Board is contemplated for the dumping of sewage from the Public School septic tank on Knox Church Cemetery property. Naturally those interested and taking pride in the care and upkeep of the Cemetery resent such sacrilege.

BIRTH

SWAIN—In Simcoe, on Thursday, June 28th., 1934, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swain, Simcoe, a son.

BASEBALL

Last weeks game was another disappointment to the local intermediates and also possibly a greater disappointment to the fans. The fast Hagersville A team took the glories to a score of 12—6. A very unfortunate feature of the game was the delay in starting. Not only for this particular game but for the games in the future. The management of the Jarvis team can scarcely expect the fans to take a two hour sun bath on the open air bleachers when the thermometer is registering in the neighborhood of 100

The Juniors after diligent endeavors finally made their way to Dunnville last Saturday afternoon and emerged victorious to a score of 16—6. It appeared for some time that the game would have to be forfeited on account of insufficient transportation facilities, however providence gave the boys a break and they went on their way rejoicing.

The Intermediates wish to thank the fans very kindly for their generous support of the Hagersville game on Thursday. The winner of the lamp was Mr. Laird Miller.

Transportation to the away from home games is becoming a worry to the management of the intermediate as well as the Junior teams. Therefore any citizen who would care to help the boys out by offering the use of their car, same would be appreciated very much.

Induction Service

The Induction Service of Rev. W. J. Holley into the charges of Jarvis and Garnet, was held at Wesley United Church on Friday evening last. The Rev. H. S. Fiddes, of Port Rowan, Secretary of the Haldimand-Norfolk Presbytery had charge of the induction. Rev. W. J. Rayner, of Lyndoch gave the charge to the new minister, and Mr. S. MacPherson, of Simcoe, gave the charge to the congregation, both bringing timely and practical messages. Rev. J. M. Copeland of Delhi led in prayer.

At the close of the service Mr. J. J. Parsons, Secretary of the Official Board introduced the members of the congregation present to Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Holley as they passed through to the school room where a social hour was spent and lunch was served, giving the new minister and his wife a very cordial welcome to Jarvis.

It Is Still Time Cut Weeds Now

This is Weed Week and if you have not already entered into the spirit of the occasion and acted on same, you still have time to cut all weeds appearing on your land or premises. This is a patriotic duty and every citizen of the county of Haldimand should assume their share of the responsibility in making Haldimand county a better place to live in. This applies not only to farmers but to those living in villages and towns as well, for quite often some of our worst weeds appear on vacant lots and waste places in our Villages.

Farmers are asked to watch particularly for sow thistle, devil's paint brush and crowfoot daisy. It should be noted that the crowfoot daisy has been added to the list of weeds on the Weed Act by special by-law passed at a recent meeting of the County Council. The Warden of the county calls on every citizen to do his or her share of the work.

Jarvis W.I. Meet

The Jarvis Womens Institute will be held at the Jarvis Town Hall on Wednesday, July 11th at 2 o'clock.

Roll Call— "What County I Wish to See and Why" Topic, "Sketches of Four Famous Women of Canada" by Mrs. H. Belbeck, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Ryder and Mrs. Stallwood, which should prove very interesting.

A report will be given by Mrs. McBride of the June Convention held in Selkirk on the 1st of June.

All members are to enter the competition by bringing a cherry pie, the best one to win a prize. Please do not forget members, we want lots of cherry pie. Mrs. H. Belbeck and Mrs. Harrison to provide sandwiches.

Does Fertilizer Pay?

This and many other questions were discussed at the Fertilizer Field meeting held on the farm of Mr. Ross Dosser last Tuesday evening, July 3rd.

The principal speaker was Prof. Henry G. Bell of the Extension Branch of the Chemistry Department O. A.C., who earlier in the day payed a flying visit to the various fertilizer experiments in the county.

About forty farmers were present to look over the plots of Barley and several teams were picked to make various measurements as to height of grain and length of head. It was found in this case that a mixture of 2—16—6 gave the best results.

Later the gathering met at the house where Prof. Bell gave a most interesting address illustrated with lantern slides on the manufacture and use of fertilizers. Considerable time was also devoted to open discussion and answering questions. Reference was made to the oat plots located on the farm of Mr. John Wodham just east of Jarvis, which are now showing some results. Farmers and others were urged to watch both these experiments closely.

The members of the Jarvis Boys Grain Club were also in attendance A. Gordon Skinner, Agricultural Representative acted as chairman.

And It Came To Pass

A number of the local fishermen under the guidance of pilot Hedges, of Nanticoke, who escorted them to the Bass fishing grounds of Lake Erie, on Monday last, have threatened to have one of the prominent members of the club ostrasized from ever participating in the annual fish ing trip.

Arriving at the fishing grounds at 5 A.M. the cast off was made in unison so that each member would have an equal chance of the pool. Mr. Kindree, the new government hog grader, was nearly hauled out of the launch by something attacking his hook, and all the others were swept off balance by the sudden lurching ahead of the boat. Mr. Hedges, the pilot immediately put the engine in reverse, but to no avail. Onward sped the boat, crew, fishermen and pilot, with Kindree dexterously and adroitly handling his fishing gear, the fish meanwhile hauling the large launch through the surging waters at a terrific pace. After nearly two hours frantic effort on the part of this distinguished mariner, he succeeded in landing the monster.

After this thrilling and exasperating two hours, all the others wound up their reels, and declared by solemn oath, that never again would they attempt fishing when the official hog grader was along.

On good authority it is said the fish weighed several pounds, and that upon removal from the water, Lake Erie receded several feet.
