Canada, The Empire and The World at Large

CANADA

IT IS HIGH TIME for the vast of the empire to quit. Business is good. The depression is a thing of the past. And that in itself is a good sign for a nation. The fact that it could not find a better way to the future than to quit, is a sign of a nation's maturity.

Times are better. There are facts and figures to make the most out of present opportunities. Today is a day of opportunity for the empire.

—Victoria Inverness.

ORILLIA GETS INTO LINE

A TIME OF SUSPENSE

Harvest is three and a half months away but what a time of suspense and tragedy those one hundred and fifty days may include. That is the most important time of the year for the prairie provinces. Upon what is produced from the soil between now and the first week in August depends in great extent what the welfare of the people will be for the succeeding year. After harvest, of course, comes the worry of prices and markets, but the main thing now is the production, —Calgary Herald.

MARVELS OF TELEVISION

Only 25 years ago the Halifax municipal council made it legal for automobiles to run two days a week on the country roads; contrast this with the situation today when the motor cars go on their way summer and winter. What has happened in this field is expected in television within even a shorter period—Halifax Chronicle.

WOMEN PREFER MALE

Two cheaper than one. A very good friend of ours who recently had occasion to breakfast on a railway train found that the one dollar breakfast consisted of fruit or cereal, ham and two eggs, toast and coffee. Being like ourselves, a man in the morning, he ordered this breakfast, but with the qualification that the main dish should contain only one egg. He obtained his breakfast, but the bill was one dollar and twenty-five cents. Upon repeating an explanation, he was informed that while ham and two eggs was part of the dollar breakfast, ham and one egg could only be served at a rate of 25 cents. The action was drawn to the rule on the items named in the table of the menu. —Toronto Saturday Night.
