CANADA

EUROPEAN DEFECT

Travelers who return from Europe are fond of telling the great number of ways in which Canadian life is more pleasant than European. But it is more pleasant than European life in a newspaper correspondent to get down to the real essentials. This man remarked recently that the chief trouble with Europe is that you can't buy decent tomatoes or corn on the cob there. — Vancouver Sun.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Overflowing congregations are causing several English cathedrals to enlarge their accommodations. This increasing interest in religion is not confined to any particular area of the country, nor to any class or society. Blackburn in the heart of the cotton industry of Lancashire is to spend 100,000 pounds on additional space for public services in its cathedral district. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SLEEP ORGIES

There can be orgies of sleep, says Lord Horner, the King's physician. Young people should not be denied sleep, but he continued, "when young people between the ages of 20 and 25 still come down to their breakfast at any odd time after dinner, they are going to business—that is, encouraging orgies of sleep; and I would put it in the same category as had had his legs and arms induced by alcohol and hypnotic drugs and should be resisted." — Moncton Transcript.

DOLLS

There are considerably more than 2,000,000 dolls made in Canada in a year, dolls of all kinds, these charming playthings for Canadian babyhood and girlhood run into real money without taking account of the imports. The factory prices for these two million dolls made in Canada aggregated $1,400,000, but the retail price is $312,000. — Bureau of Statistics.

THE REAL TEST

You think men are stronger than women? Then show us a man who can cook a meal with two bottles under his foot without going crazy. — Tweed News.

VINTAGE YEARS FOR SARDINES

Mr. Moar is a Scot named Moar who is a licensed victualler in Old London — who features sardines on his menu and is an authority on sardines, and speaks of their vintage years with the same affection as an Italian knacker speaks of wines. He has his cellar for storing them for years, turning the can over once a month so that the olive oil will properly seep through the tin.

For those who are interested in sardines, take Mr. Moar's word for it that the best vintage years in modern times are 1908, 1910 and 1917. The 1908 vintage is so rare now that Mr. Moar only serves them to his special friends and on special occasions. He is induced to set the stage. He lays down the principle that sardines are not "fully matured" until they have been kept in the can for 25 to 30 years. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THRILLING FORTY YEARS

It may well be doubted whether the Canadian folk ever entertained a man with a more unique career or a greater hero than Sir Wilfrid Grenfell, his recent guest. As a young medical man he chose to cast his lot among the fisherfolk of the Labrador Coast. There he has labored for two score years and his work has awakened the interest of the English speaking world. For years he has advocated that Labrador should become part of Canada. He has established hospitals and also schools, and acted as a preacher, teacher, physician and surgeon, magistrate, evading the heaviest and most sympathetic interest in the various problems of a seafaring coast people. He has aroused an interest in agriculture and horticulture and other spheres of activity, until the residents feel that their efforts are no longer restricted to fishing. He has invented a cloth for sailing, and performed many other notable services. The narration of some of his experiences thrilled the large audience present. As a marked recognition of his great work to this little known section of the Empire, His Majesty conferred on Dr. Grenfell some years ago the Order of St. Michael and St. George. In fact, he was the first to receive this distinguished order for missionary work. He ranks as one of the great heroes of our time. — Toronto Mail and Empire.

STAY AWAY

A correspondent writing to the Ocean Herald from the Sturgeon River gold field gives advice regarding the equipment one should take there. He says that it is well to bring $200 in money in small bills. Better still, he adds take a chance and lose your $200 at home. He is certain the greenbacks or the little fellow has not got a chance in the new field. — Sturgeon Herald.

SOMETHING TO AIM AT

Those who take pride in the height of their hollyhocks and gladioli may be interested in hearing that a certain seaweed in the Pacific attains a length of 1,500 feet while another variety has a stem more than 400 feet long. — The Winnipeg Tribune.

CHEAPEST AND BEST

Sir Charles Hignett, British advertising specialist, finds that bread is the cheapest of all foods based on the list of nutritive foods. Widespread acceptance of that staple truth would soon bring about disappearance of the surplus of the world's wheat. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

CAN BABIES ALWAYS DO WELL?

Dr. Alan Brown, of Toronto, told a gathering in that city that there are 207 diseases which a child can have but of that long list only 100 are formidable. He also stated his belief that the 100 diseases are preventable.

At times we read of folk who reach the age of 90 or 95 years and they are told the ultimate in music halls, something like boasting that they have never been sick in bed a day in their lives. We take it that such people have had but a few ailments, and when their bitters standing up rather than sitting down, they have had their bitters standing up rather than sitting down.

When Dr. Alan Brown says children's sickness is preventable to the extent of 100 per cent, we cannot with any degree of accuracy make a claim, but with the pervasiveness of a layman's mind we can doubt it. The doctor writes in enthusiasm and a few times he has been asked to give a list of the diseases which he has treated in their health, but it was not many weeks ago that they had been in the hospital for their little tumblers and inwards generally. One started the performance and it ran right through the evening and a feature film — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

WHERE JOHN D. MISSED

When Mr. John D. Rockefeller built Radio City in New York, the world's largest radio building, he had a plan in mind which had been achieved. Never had anything so fine been erected as a theatre. It was supposed to have all the latest in radio equipment and a few things that were considered years ahead of any one else.

THE EMPIRE

It is unfortunate that the case that the Empire has been known to the party to the greater severity of the Scottish climate and partly to inferior conditions of climate. — Glasgow Herald.

PATERNAL THOUGHTFULNESS

Lord Cambridge is among the fathers who like his daughter to wear the Straits. He has acted up to this saying, "Buy British" is not merely a slogan. It is sound advice and at the present time it is supported by an appeal to the loyalty of the people of Hong Kong to support British Empire Trade in the battle for overseas markets with foreign rivals. We congratulate Singapore on its enterprise in holding its second British Trade Fair and wish them the success they deserve. "God helps those who help themselves," and it must be truly said that the Straits have acted up to this saying. Two years ago they were by the depths of slump and now, by their energy and foresight they have pulled themselves out of the mire. Robber and tin have both pulled round, and to prove their enterprising tendencies, they immediately run a British Fair. Could not Hong Kong take a leaf out of Singapore's book? — Hong Kong Press.

SOUTH AFRICAN PROBLEMS

South Africa is faced with many problems that do not affect more fortunately situated countries. Its vast distances and scattered population introduce difficulties of organization and finance that are unknown in older lands. Its poor whites constitute a problem that can only be paralleled in the Southern States of the U.S.A. And our native population is peculiarly our own. All these matters are important and they have attracted the attention of the greatest living authorities, and their accumulated knowledge is now to be placed at our disposal, for which we have to thank the South African members of the New Education Fellowship who attended forests.

Lifting of U.S. Hay

Montreal.—The proclamation of President Roosevelt regarding lifting of the ban on Canadian hay exports to the south only authorized such importations into the States as to be free of duty under any conditions prevailing. The law being to provide for where, due to the drought, extraordinary conditions prevail. This was pointed out in Montreal by wholesale dealers in hay and straw, who stated that the ban had left Quebec farmers "excited and angry."

Sopwith Admits That Handled Better Than Endeavour
New York.—Future challenges of the American Civil War have been at least approaching the final stage. The United States defense force of the later British challenge, Endeavour, told a group.

Individual enquiries at the Royal Water Park offices from smaller non-associated bird exhibitors show keen enthusiasm prevailing in the local "fancy." As the present fall season has been especially favourable for the birds being in good condition the prospects for a Poultry show of high standard are even brighter than they were at the corresponding period last year.

Put stock exhibits which include rabbits, cavy, and other furred animals, as well as the sections for ducks, geese, turkeys and game birds are equally promising.

A missionary in India was having an earnest talk with a Hindu when he was asked to convert to Christianity. "Come, now," said the missionary, with gentle persuasion, "would you like to go to heaven when you die?"

"I do not think," he said, "that heaven can be very good, or that I would have had it any years ago."
