The Weekly Newspaper

The meeting in Montreal of the Ontario and Quebec Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association drew attention again to the excellence of these publications. The country paper as it is familiarly styled, is becoming an ever increasing power in Canadian public life. Its influence and its standard are higher than ever before.

There are fewer weekly papers now than some years ago, due to an amalgamation of the two. The result has been to have three struggling papers now have one well informed community. Able, well informed men are making the publication of weekly papers their life work. Generally the one man is owner and editor; and he becomes a prominent figure in the community. He is his own master, and his views on public affairs are expressed fearlessly and effectively.

If a publisher of a weekly newspaper so desires, he can be the voice of the community in the public life of the country, but it is worthy of note that few such men seek parliamentary honors—possibly because they know too much about politics and politicians.

The subscription price of the weekly newspaper is higher than it used to be and this enables the publisher to turn out a better edition. Delegates to the meeting in Montreal were particularly representative of their communities, men familiar with local public opinion, which largely they helped to mould; and their good sense was made evident in the election as President of the Simcoe Reformer, one of the youngest and most enterprising members of the weekly newspaper fraternity. —Toronto Globe.

A New Tax Burden

The recent bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature by Highway Minister McQueston, if passed will require the owners of private vehicles in their business enterprises to obtain a departmental permit similar to that at present required by a common carrier or transport. This bill will meet with strong opposition.

Word already expressed taxed business man. The revenue from licenses and gasoline tax already supply the government with an appreciable revenue over and above highway expenditures and it hardly appears justified to exact further revenue from this source. Although it is understandable that new sources of revenue must be created to meet obligations, it is difficult to see how a tax on private vehicles will go before public opinion rises against the state.

Beware—It's A Racket

Spring is now bursting forth again and with the coming of this season there also comes new and fancy rackets.

At the present time, so it is reported, there is one young racketeer touring the outlying districts, working a novel gyp on gullible housewives.

Last autumn this young man gathered a number of horse chestnuts and skilfully wired pretty flowers to them. Now he is selling them at a quarter a piece to housewives who believe that the pseudo bulbs will grow pretty pink posies. However, this is not the only forte used by these so-called gypers. They also sell grass seed, at least that is what they call it. They claim that it is what they sell is no ordinary grass seed, oh no! this seed is practically trained because it won't grow any higher than two inches thus doing away with the tiring business of cutting lawns. They are right. If you plant the stuff you won't have to use the lawn mower, as a matter of fact you will be lucky if you can find any grass to use the lawn mower on, because the famous grass seed is ninety per cent saw dust. So don't buy any grass seed or bulbs from many sporadic peddlers.

Prof. W. H. Sproule

Speaks

The Board of Trade banquet held last Friday evening was a very enjoyable as well as educational event for the members of the Board and their farmer guests. In view of the fact that dairying is one of the most important industries in this district, the Board of Trade were well advised in securing Professor W. H. Sproule, head of the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, as guest speaker.

Prof. Sproule's remarks could not help but be of primary interest to each and everyone present. His qualifications regarding the subject of dairying in any form has made him possibly the outstanding Dairy authority in the Province. Under his supervision extensive research work is carried on in the Dairy Department of the O.A.C. with very beneficial results to the dairy industry.

It may be difficult for the farmer to realize these benefits in view of the lengthy processes involved in research work, they are nevertheless evident to-day from efforts of the past and the present efforts will have their effect in the future. The hundreds of students who have availed themselves to the educational advantages of this institution under Prof. Sproule as well as associated manufacturers in the great Dairy Industry consider themselves fortunate in having been associated with him and in having the service of his Department at their disposal to help them to solve the many difficulties that arise from time to time within the industry.

Local hockey fans who labour under the opinion that Professional hockey is crooked, should be convinced by the N.H.L. play-offs this year. It is not a crooked game, it is a game of skill and speed, and it is becoming a racket. It is obvious that they have salaries to pay to the athletes as well as many other high expenses. Ballyhoo and showmanship plays a big part in the racket. The "I told you so" certainly took it on the chin when the Leafs made one of the most spectacular comebacks to score six goals in the second period and go on and defeat Boston eight to six on the round on Thursday night.

The biggest upset of the play-offs, however, was the downfall of the Chicago Blackhawks. They have been a young, fast, tricky force in line in Schirmer, Chapman and Lorne Carr. Stewart and "Hal" Cotton give the youngsters the added experience necessary. In Murray and Jervis they have two very promising defences and young Eddie Wiseman is one of the fastest skaters in the league. Incidentally Schirmer was the big gun of the N.H.L. scorers this year and Chapman was not far behind. Although Roy Worters seems to be shipping a little he is still one of the most polished net guardians in the game. Altogether the Hawks were outskated, outshot and outplayed and young Mike Karakas had two very exciting evenings.

Detroit are going to be hard to stop in their determined advance towards the goal of all professional hockey players, the Stanley Cup. After defeating Maroons three straight in a best of five series for the N.H.L. championship, they appear determined to take the battered mug in their stride. If The Americans are their opposition, we cannot see how they can be stopped, but if Toronto defeats the New Yorkers as they are favoured to do, it may return to Ontario and we think it will.

In the first game of the N.H.L. play-offs the Maroons and Detroit broke the record for overtime games. As in the case of Toronto, several times it was a rookie who pulled the game out of the fire. "Mud" Bruneteau was the hero with "Hee" Kilrea getting the assist. In our opinion, however, Normie Smith was the real hero of the series. Only one goal was slipped past him. Smith, after continued attempts to make the grade from the International section, has proved himself this year and he should stick.

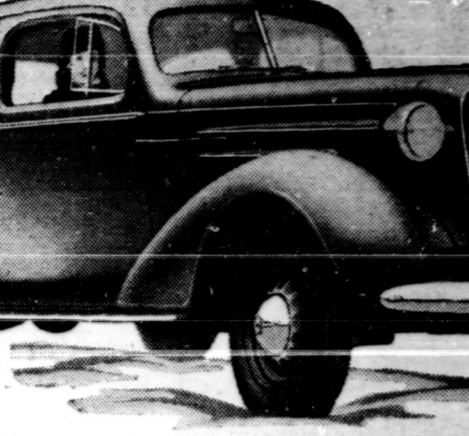

Maroons defeat was a great surprise to a good many followers of Canada's National sport. Detroit were expected to extend the "Redmen" to lose out to them, as the Maroons are a great money team. Detroit proved to be a greater money team, winning 1-0, 3-0 and 2-1. If Maroons had won the Stanley Cup this year it would have been the third successive year that Thomas Patrick Gorman has led a team to victory. The cup would have probably been presented to Tommy, not the Maroons.

The Maroon's ailis has been forwarded to the press and are as an inferior complex produced by "Bucko" McDonald. (2) The last two games between the Leafs and Gornamites in the league competition was too hard on the players. "You ought to be nice. Reginald and don't play so roughly." (3) That first overtime game took too much out of the Maroons. Perhaps contrary to newspaper reports the Redwings were at home spending a nice quiet night with their wives, etc.

"Joyous Jawn" Adams had an alibi all ready in case his proteges failed to come through. Adams claims that the dressing room given to the Wings was a small by four and he also says that Gornam is a dirty so-and-so. Those are strong words "Jawn".

After a meeting of the executive of the Haldimand Baseball Association, it would appear that Cayuga and Selkirk will be the only Intermediate teams to enter. Despite our prediction, Caledonia seems to be seriously considering entering the Tobacco Belt League. Port Dover Juniors have also stated their intentions of doing so. Caledonia will have the only Junior team to enter in the group. Hagersville are entering a Junior team this year and the locals are undecided. Apparently the success of the past two seasons has gone to our heads and if we cannot have a winning team, we do not want any.

Every day it becomes more apparent that the Haldimand League is going to the dogs or to the Tobacco Belt League. One thing that has been regretted is the absence of the Dunnville "Mudcats" for the past two years. A town the size of Dunnville ought to produce a crack team that would give worthy opposition to any team in the group. The Haldimand League is badly in need of a shakeup and we know of no better time than the present.
