By Mair M. Morgan

Cake as a Desert
How often has a perfect dinner or luncheon been almost too much because a luscious cake has been served along with a fruit or cream dessert? The cake in itself was no good, no nourishing and such a perfect ending to the meal that it would have been quite enough and one could have appreciated its flavour more than mixing it with other foods.

Chocolate Fudge Cake
Chocolate Fudge Cake spells perfection for the lone desirer. It has all the elements of sweetness, flavour and nourishment and it can be made as decorative as you please. Serve it on a crystal plate or platter, add chopped walnuts or chopped white almonds put the fudge icing on in swirls as shown in the illustration and the high light of the meal is ready.

Chocolate Fudge Cake
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 cup sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Preserved Vegetables
There were 177,677 lb. of canned vegetables imported in June valued at $29,284 compared with 174,948 at $16,074 in the same month last year. The amount from the United States was 88,994 lb. and from other countries 88,683 lb. Pickles and sauces were imported to the value of $31,201, of which $20,409 came from the United Kingdom and $7,547 from the United States.

Fudge Frosting
2 squares unsweetened chocolate cut in pieces
Dash of salt
2 1/2 cup milk
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter
Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar, salt, and corn syrup, and stir until sugar is dissolved and

FU MANCHU

Etham joined us, uttered one short, dry sob, and dropped upon his knees. Denby had not been there just a little while before. How he came to be there we dared not guess. Fu Manchu! I felt my flesh creep...

Handling Eggs

Eggs should be gathered in a wire basket and held in a cool place until the basket, or on wire trays, overnight, to permit all water to evaporate from the eggs. Eggs in a wire tray or tray will cool more rapidly than in a bucket or case. They should not be placed in cases until the temperature of the eggs has been reduced. Germ development continues for several hours when warm eggs are placed in cold cases. Use of cool cases aids in keeping eggs fresh. Flats and diffusers also carry considerable heat which should be removed by cooling them before eggs are placed in them. Circulating air in the egg room will speed cooling. If the air is dry, the humidity in the cooling room may be kept high by keeping the floor damp and by hanging pieces of wet burlap in the room. This will also tend to reduce the temperature of the room. When eggs are cooled on the farm in the dealer's plant and later exposed to high temperatures in transit, they should be protected by shades and insulation. The farmer will find that wrapping the eggs in a piece of canvas or blanket and keeping the run from shining will help keep the eggs cool until they are being taken to market.
