

The Children's Hour

"The Children's flour" brings up visions of Longfellow's happy circle of an ultra-modern New York theatrical success, but to some lucky children it brings visions of the hour when they get home from school—hungry as little bears and supper time not for hours yet! It is then that special snacks taste so good and what is more popular than bread and but ter spread with home-made fam or felly? Doctors agree that jams and jellies made in the modern way with bottled fruit pectin are very whoesome and healthful. The fruits have not lost their natural goodness by a long bolling, and lovely flavors have heen captured to be enjoyed; at any season. The tang of fresh and ripe strawberries can be carried through from June to January. Just imagine!
