Another Suggestion

The Free Press has suggested on several occasions that May 24th be made Memorial Day. There is no fixed day in Canada for Memorial Day as in the United States. It is a moveable feast. Canada should have a general Memorial Day, when not only the soldiers who died for Canada, but our great statesmen and the builders of Canada could be remembered. As far as this part of Canada is concerned it is an ideal time. The country is at its best; the Spring flowers are in all their glory.

Lake sends outside in a year. We don't refer to money sent by wage-earners to families, or to the mail-order business, but to the returns from the retail business here.
