What About Fire Protection

There have been rumors and suggestions to the effect that our present fire fighting equipment is becoming antiquated in the event of a serious conflagration, outside assistance would be an absolute necessity. Our present chemical apparatus serves very efficiently in minor fires or for inside work where the flames have not gained too great headway, but beyond that the time is coming when greater protection will be required.

Our Band

The Jarvis Brass Band gave further evidence of their ability and permanency insofar as a band is concerned when they led the L.O.O.F. lodge to divine service at Wesley United Church last Sunday evening. The occasion was just one of numerous such events that the band are called upon to serve. It serves to recall the difficulties and trials the band has had in re-organizing into a single organization approximately two years ago. Those who have had part in rebuilding the old Jarvis Band are deserving of the highest commendation.

JARVIS SCHOOL LITERARY

The Senior Room held their weekly Literary on Friday afternoon. The chairlady was Eva Fitzgerald. The program consisted of several readings by the following pupils: Inez Machell, Jean Leatherdale, Margie Kiefer, Bill Howell and Frank Smith and jokes by Roy Hazlett.

FORCED LANDING

HALDIMAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Perhaps if an account of our meeting is held over a few days our readers will have less time in which to forget the date of the next meeting—the 2nd Monday at 2 P.M.

THEY COME BACK FOR BRAY CHICKS Year After Year

WHEN A man buys 200 Bray Chicks— And takes 204 out of the chick boxes— And raises 201— One more than he paid for— And the 201 suit him "right down to the ground"— What happens? Well, naturally, he writes (as did this customer at Hannon, Ont.):

"I was certainly well pleased, so will you send me this year's price list. I hope to have the same good luck this Spring." And, ordering BRAY chicks again, he can very properly expect the same "good luck." For, after all, it isn't good luck. It's good management. BRAY chicks are bred and hatched to behave that way. There's no reason why they shouldn't be for YOU, too. Order yours today, and see if they don't.
