

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIAN BROTHERHOOD.
Philemon 4:20.
GOLDEN TEXT—There can be neither bond nor free—for ye all are one man in Christ Jesus—Galatians 3:28.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING.
TIME.—The exact date for this brief epistle is not exactly known, but it was probably written about A.D. 62.

PLACE.—It was written from Rome, where Paul was a prisoner, and sent to Colossae, a city in southwestern Phrygia.

"I thank my God always, making mention of thee in my prayers." Paul's imprisonment did not prevent his constant intercession for others at the throne of grace.

"Hearing of thy love, and of the faith which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints." Love of Christ should always beget love for those who belong to Christ, and multiply our faith in others.

"That the fellowship of thy faith may become effectual, in the knowledge of every good thing which is in you, unto Christ." The word here translated fellowship might well be translated communication, meaning charitable distribution.

"For I had much joy and comfort in thy love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed through thee, brother. Just as a father is always delighted, encouraged, and rewarded when reports are brought to him of the honorable, successful, beneficial life of one of his children, so Paul is ever grateful to find joyful and comforted in his own heart, though in prison, when he hears of one of his converts."

"Wherefore, though I have all 1-3rd parts in chains to fulfil thee that which is befitting." The apostle simply means to state that his apostolic office and Philomonic obligation to him or his conversion (v. 19), would warrant the apostle, if so disposed, in laying his commands upon Philomonic in the matter about which Paul is now to speak.

"Yet for love's sake I rather beseech." Love has the right to ask anything honorable, and true love would never ask anything not honorable. "Being such a one as Paul the aged." Paul was over about 60 years of age, but probably appeared much older because of the terrific hardships which he had suffered and the enormous amount of work he had accomplished since his conversion.

"And, now a prisoner also of Christ Jesus." The apostle makes a three-fold appeal here; his love for Philomonic, the comparative feebleness of his present physical condition, due to nothing else than loyalty to Jesus Christ; and his helplessness as a prisoner a Rome for Christ's sake.

"I beseech thee for my child, whom I have begotten in my bonds." Paul still postpones mentioning the exact matter which has prompted the writing of this letter. Before he names the one about whom it principally is concerned, he refers to him in the most affectionate manner, calling him his own child, of whose conversion he was the instrument, or, no, of his spiritual child, at the spirit's hand of his captivity. "Onesimus." Onesimus was a slave in Philomonic's household, who, for one reason or another had run away, probably stealing a considerable amount of plate or money before he disappeared.

"Who once was unprofitable to thee." It so happens that, in name Onesimus means profitable, helpful. Paul does not make light of the sin

"Whom I would have kept with me, that in thy behalf he might minister unto me in the bonds of the gospel." In these words, the relation of master and slave disappears for the moment. Both are servants for Christ's sake in the discharge of a ministry congenial to both.

"But without thy mind I would do nothing; that thy goodness should not be as of necessity, but of free will." By this the apostle means that he would not keep Onesimus without Philomonic's permission.

"For perhaps he was therefore parted from thee for a season, that thou shouldst have him for ever; no longer as a servant, but more than a servant, a brother, beloved, specially to me, but how much rather to thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord." The phrase for ever probably has a double significance, meaning for all the years of the life that remained to Onesimus on this earth, and then for all the eternal ages to come in Philomonic's company. But Onesimus was coming back, to his master a free man, not that Paul was asking for his emancipation, but that Christ had made him free, and he was, therefore, truly a brother beloved.

"If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself." Is not this exactly how we are to receive him? God in Jesus Christ? All things are freely bestowed on us in the beloved (Eph. 1:6).

"But if he hath wronged thee at all, or oweeth thee ought, put that to mine account." The Lord Jesus Christ, became our surety for us, bearing our own "sin as his own" (1 Peter 2:24).

"I Paul write it with mine own hand. I will repay it." It would appear that Paul wrote these and at least the two following words with his own hand. Whether he wrote the entire letter with his own hand, or only these few words, or all of them, is a matter of speculation. "That I say not unto thee that thou owest to me even things own self besides." Every Christian who has had an experience of conversion through the agency of another person loves that person until his death, and there are thousands of such examples today throughout the world.

"Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord; refresh my heart in Christ." Paul's joy in Philomonic would abound when he was assured that Philomonic would grant his request in receiving Onesimus back into his household as a child of God. Verse 7 expresses his gratitude that, in the house of Philomonic, many of the saints had been refreshed, now he asks that this refreshing might be extended to him.

"If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself." Is not this exactly how we are to receive him? God in Jesus Christ? All things are freely bestowed on us in the beloved (Eph. 1:6).

"But if he hath wronged thee at all, or oweeth thee ought, put that to mine account." The Lord Jesus Christ, became our surety for us, bearing our own "sin as his own" (1 Peter 2:24).

"I Paul write it with mine own hand. I will repay it." It would appear that Paul wrote these and at least the two following words with his own hand. Whether he wrote the entire letter with his own hand, or only these few words, or all of them, is a matter of speculation. "That I say not unto thee that thou owest to me even things own self besides." Every Christian who has had an experience of conversion through the agency of another person loves that person until his death, and there are thousands of such examples today throughout the world.

"Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord; refresh my heart in Christ." Paul's joy in Philomonic would abound when he was assured that Philomonic would grant his request in receiving Onesimus back into his household as a child of God. Verse 7 expresses his gratitude that, in the house of Philomonic, many of the saints had been refreshed, now he asks that this refreshing might be extended to him.

"If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself." Is not this exactly how we are to receive him? God in Jesus Christ? All things are freely bestowed on us in the beloved (Eph. 1:6).

"But if he hath wronged thee at all, or oweeth thee ought, put that to mine account." The Lord Jesus Christ, became our surety for us, bearing our own "sin as his own" (1 Peter 2:24).

"I Paul write it with mine own hand. I will repay it." It would appear that Paul wrote these and at least the two following words with his own hand. Whether he wrote the entire letter with his own hand, or only these few words, or all of them, is a matter of speculation. "That I say not unto thee that thou owest to me even things own self besides." Every Christian who has had an experience of conversion through the agency of another person loves that person until his death, and there are thousands of such examples today throughout the world.

"Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord; refresh my heart in Christ." Paul's joy in Philomonic would abound when he was assured that Philomonic would grant his request in receiving Onesimus back into his household as a child of God. Verse 7 expresses his gratitude that, in the house of Philomonic, many of the saints had been refreshed, now he asks that this refreshing might be extended to him.

"If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself." Is not this exactly how we are to receive him? God in Jesus Christ? All things are freely bestowed on us in the beloved (Eph. 1:6).

"But if he hath wronged thee at all, or oweeth thee ought, put that to mine account." The Lord Jesus Christ, became our surety for us, bearing our own "sin as his own" (1 Peter 2:24).

"I Paul write it with mine own hand. I will repay it." It would appear that Paul wrote these and at least the two following words with his own hand. Whether he wrote the entire letter with his own hand, or only these few words, or all of them, is a matter of speculation. "That I say not unto thee that thou owest to me even things own self besides." Every Christian who has had an experience of conversion through the agency of another person loves that person until his death, and there are thousands of such examples today throughout the world.

It's Been Made Official Now

Lieutenant Governor J. B. Snyder with the donkey mascot. Snyder has been accepted as official Democratic Party mascot.

Honoring the Unknown Soldier He Selected

Edward W. Younger of Chicago, Ill., placing a wreath on the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day. Younger was the soldier who selected the casket containing the body of the soldier who lies within the Tomb.

These Proud Antlers Proved His Downfall

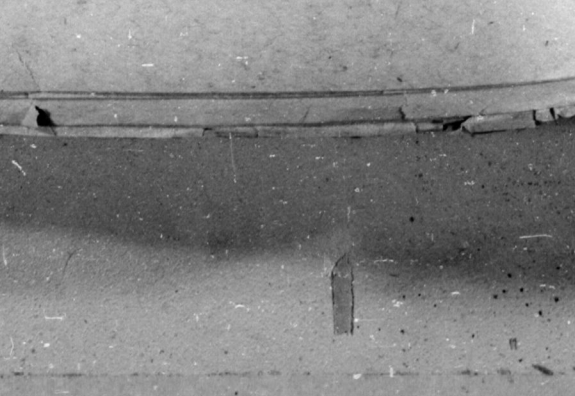

This 215-pound deer, with antlers showing 55 distinct points and closely resembling those of a moose, was shot by Fire Warden Violette in Maine woods after he had been hunted for years.

Farley, Seeing An Unprecedented Prosperity, Sails For Europe

Postmaster General James A. Farley and his wife receive the farewells of former Mayor James J. Walker and Mrs. Walker as they sail from New York for a vacation in Europe, during which they will visit Ireland. Farley declared that unprecedented business revival was in sight.

Train Plunges Into Water from Embankment

Switched cars of southbound Big Four passenger train which plunged from 6-foot embankment near Indianapolis, Ind., killing two and causing injuries to a score, pictured partially covered by waters of Big Sugar Creek.

Ask for NONA TEA
1,350,000 PACKETS SOLD EVERY DAY
MADE LABEL 3 1/2 lb.
YELLOW LABEL 2 lb. 1/2 lb.
THE WORLD WIDE FAVORITE
J. Lyons & Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto & Montreal

FINANCIAL FLASHES

Production for the first 15 days of November at the Kennard Gold Mines, operating the former Horvath Mines in the Lake of the Woods area, was at the rate of $20,000 per month, according to company officials. Of this production, approximately 50 per cent is carried out and a new shaft over a width of 30 feet, was started. The break was traced to the further investigation difficult, as the freezup now on the new shaft level, where the ore is running $20 per ton over a 15-ft. slope.

A comprehensive programme of surface exploration and diamond drilling to be carried on throughout the winter months has been recommended by M. R. R. Gordon, consulting engineer of Kennard Gold Mines for the property adjoining Pontiac and Powell Rouen on the west side of the lake. The programme is to be carried out in 1934 and will include 2,000 feet of diamond drilling, was carried out in 1933, with encouraging results and it is planned to drill these shavings to greater depth and further exploration. In addition an importation of diamond drills is being planned through the Pontiac shaft leading into Rouen. The programme is to be carried out in 1934 and will include 2,000 feet of diamond drilling, was carried out in 1933, with encouraging results and it is planned to drill these shavings to greater depth and further exploration.

Rock Gold Syndicate Makes Big Find
The recent development work of the Rock Gold Syndicate opened up a new body of great importance, with values ranging from $2,000 to $10,000 per ton. The syndicate is now planning to develop this body of ore, which is located on the south side of the lake. The syndicate is now planning to develop this body of ore, which is located on the south side of the lake.

Edward W. Younger of Chicago, Ill., placing a wreath on the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day. Younger was the soldier who selected the casket containing the body of the soldier who lies within the Tomb.

These Proud Antlers Proved His Downfall
A large deer with impressive antlers was shot by Fire Warden Violette in Maine woods after he had been hunted for years.

Farley, Seeing An Unprecedented Prosperity, Sails For Europe
Postmaster General James A. Farley and his wife receive the farewells of former Mayor James J. Walker and Mrs. Walker as they sail from New York for a vacation in Europe, during which they will visit Ireland. Farley declared that unprecedented business revival was in sight.

Train Plunges Into Water from Embankment
Switched cars of southbound Big Four passenger train which plunged from 6-foot embankment near Indianapolis, Ind., killing two and causing injuries to a score, pictured partially covered by waters of Big Sugar Creek.

THE GREATEST TIRE ever built for TRACTION

MUD, snow, sand—roads that you thought impassable before—whatever the conditions may be, Ground Grip Tires will take you easily through without the use of chains. If you have to travel on rural roads in all kinds of weather, you will find Ground Grip Tires the best investment you ever made. Put a set on your car or truck today. No increase in price.

Proved AS THE GREATEST TRACTION TIRE FOR SNOW AND UNIMPROVED ROADS

Firestone GROUND GRIP TIRES
FOR CARS, TRUCKS AND TRACTORS

PAY ROCK GOLD SYNDICATE
Capitalization: 6,000 units—par value $10.00. Issued for Properties: 2,500 units. Acreage: 400 acres, Barrie Twp., Frontenac County.
Recent development reveals wide Mineralized belt. High Assays.
Write for full particulars to PAY ROCK GOLD SYNDICATE OFFICE
623 Bank of Hamilton Bldg. Toronto

The Open Shoe

Of greatest interest in Horseshoe Pitching circles at the moment are the Royal Winter Fair events from November 23rd to November 26th. A last minute rush of rural entries is anticipated due to the short notice given. However, those on hand include Langdon and Moyner of London, Glenning and Shout of Stratford, Sunny Shandrews of Proton, Jim, James Rose of Saskatoon, Sask. John Simons of Coltonville, and Dean and Ray McLaughlin are from Ottawa and Barrie. Toronto is well organized and provides 110 entries. Runnymede, Riverdale and Beaches have 20 entries each, with more to come. Next is the new Legion Club, with 17 Fairmount has 10, Vaughan 8, Downsview 5, Dovercourt 2, Trinity 2, and Shamrock 2.

I'll not try to pick the winner, but according to the odds, it may be any one of these: Backmaster, Toronto Runnymede; McLaughlin, Barrie; Ferris and Craggs, Toronto; Shandrews of Stratford; or Reading and Daniels, Toronto Beaches.

After a man finds out he can make a speech, he starts on the slightest provocation.
Lawyer—Well, thank, I can get you a divorce, but it will cost $50.
Lawyer—Yes, but that includes court fees and all other expenses.
Hank—Well, I guess I don't want no divorce. There isn't $50 difference between them two women.

Home is a place where modern young sons and daughters sleep when everything is closed.
Friend—Do you think it wise to use signals when you play bridge?
Yes, if it's my wife's giving them.

What you don't know costs you a lot of money. Think it over.
Carl—How did you like the girl dug up for you, Cleveland?
Cleveland—As far as I am concerned you can bury her again.

It Hurts To Think About It
"For Sale—Good four-room house—new location and in need of repair. For that reason priced at $500. Aristocratic appetites will not want it. As a hammer and a saw, a few boards and a few gallons of paint will make it worth $10,000.00."

Crocodile—Why is that young saurian so stuck-up?
Alligator—He thinks he is high-powered because he just swallowed an electric cell.

Most people who have nothing to do make this mistake of doing it.
Sister—Has the baby had the measles yet?
Mr. Needard—Don't speak so loud whenever he hears anything mentioned, he hasn't got to cry until he gets it.

Junior-Teacher pulled something on me today that made me sore.
Sister—What was it?
Junior—My ear.

Man—Now, this big fish—
Friend—Yes?
Man—Why did you let him get away?

Should Old-Timers of Forty Make Way for Younger Men?

Writes the Calgary Herald: J. H. Unwin, erstwhile citizen of Calgary and now Social Credit member of the Legislature, has been elected to the position of a meeting in Edmonton last week that "under Social Credit administration people will be enabled to retire at 40 to make way for younger people."

Without questioning the authority of Mr. Unwin to predict what might happen under a true system of Social Credit administration, or raising the question of what success he himself has been able to achieve during his last 40 years of existence, it may be pertinent to point to a recent day in the life of an Ontario nonagenarian, Sir William Mulock.

Sir William recently resigned the chief justiceship of Ontario at the age of 92. During the past 52 years, or since he passed the 40-year mark, he has given the people of Canada a service of untold value. In addition to his judicial duties, he has filled the highly responsible position of chancellor of the University of Toronto for many years, and interested himself in many important movements.

He entered the Laurier cabinet at the mature age of 52—well beyond the usual mark of retirement—and during his membership in the Federal ministry created the Department of Labour, established a direct steamship service between Canada and South Africa and Mexico, and promoted Empire penny postage and more direct Empire cable communication. He was appointed chief justice of Ontario at the ripe age of 77, and filled that position for many years with distinguished authority.

How does a nonagenarian like Sir William spend his time? One day last week he left his country home just north of Toronto, went into that city, attended a swearing-in of judges at 11 o'clock. At 12:30 he attended and spoke at a luncheon at one of the city clubs, and at 3 o'clock he presided over the combined convocation exercises of the University of Toronto and Victoria College. In the evening he attended a dinner given by the governors of the latter institution.

Are Mr. Unwin's days more busily and usefully employed?

Alleged WIT

Tommy—What did you catch when you played hockey from school to go fishing?
Jerry—A clod at the river and a licking at home.

The meanest man of today may feel at home when you called on her last night?
Hal—No; but she made me feel like I ought to be.

Respect Grandpa's Memory—Forget his Methods.
As a sharp knife severs the rope, so death a biting tongue can the bond of friendship.

After the hardest day at the office, the ordinary man needs only thirty minutes at home to bring himself into a good humor.

The Home-Loan Plan
The home loan plan which the federal government has sponsored seems to be a practical conception that ought to help considerably in providing employment and enabling people of limited financial resources to undertake repair work on their property that has been neglected for several years, writes the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

The scheme avoids the factor of over-indebtedness that is often characteristic of government effort. The loans are limited to individuals sums of $2,000. The property owner may require only a fraction of that amount, but in carrying out his repairs he is making a more effective use of his money, and help to circulate money that will aid the return of normal prosperity.

The undertaking of moderately-sized construction jobs can play an important role in re-establishing confidence. These smaller enterprises on a country-wide basis can be more beneficial than the construction of a few large buildings in widely separated centres. They give a more effective distribution of work among the trades and of giving more useful circulation of funds.

If there is general support of the plan the prospect is that it will have a more effective stimulating a great deal of necessary work that has been neglected because property owners saw no convenient method of financing such undertakings. If it proves its worth in the limited sphere of its initiation the principle may be extended to more ambitious enterprises.

Baker Proud of Harmony
The Bowmanville Canadian Statesman observes—Despite the fact that Herbert A. Baker is President of forty-three-million-dollar American Can Company, he still has a pride in his native Canadian village. Mr. Baker was born at Harmony, graduated from University of Toronto in 1906, and on his recent election to this important office is one of the largest industrial corporations in the United States. Mr. Baker told the press that he was born in Harmony, Ontario, and let it go at that. He said he was born in Harmony, Ontario, and let it go at that. He said he was born in Harmony, Ontario, and let it go at that.

to his judicial duties, he has filled the highly responsible position of chancellor of the University of Toronto for many years, and interested himself in many important movements.

He entered the Laurier cabinet at the mature age of 52—well beyond the usual mark of retirement—and during his membership in the Federal ministry created the Department of Labour, established a direct steamship service between Canada and South Africa and Mexico, and promoted Empire penny postage and more direct Empire cable communication. He was appointed chief justice of Ontario at the ripe age of 77, and filled that position for many years with distinguished authority.

How does a nonagenarian like Sir William spend his time? One day last week he left his country home just north of Toronto, went into that city, attended a swearing-in of judges at 11 o'clock. At 12:30 he attended and spoke at a luncheon at one of the city clubs, and at 3 o'clock he presided over the combined convocation exercises of the University of Toronto and Victoria College. In the evening he attended a dinner given by the governors of the latter institution.

Are Mr. Unwin's days more busily and usefully employed?

ITCH
... STOPPED IN A MINUTE ...
Are you troubled with the itching tortures of the skin? Itch, eczema, or other skin ailments? For quick and happy relief, use COOLING, ANTISEPTIC, ITCH-STOPPING PREPARATION. Its gentle oils soothe the inflamed skin. Clear, granular and non-irritating. A 15c tin kills the itch instantly. A 50c tin kills the itch forever. Proves it or money back.

MINARD'S LINIMENT
"KING OF PAIN"
TO END PAIN
Rub in Minard's Liniment on the affected part. It kills the pain instantly. It is a matter of minutes. It is a matter of minutes. It is a matter of minutes.

HAVE YOU
An Aim In Life?
The race may not be to the swift, but the battle to the strong—but this prize is life! Life to go to the mentally alert and energetic. You can bring direction to your own life and learn self-mastery. Mental fitness is a matter of training. Write for particulars of our course.
The Institute of Practical and Applied Psychology
314 CONSPICUOUS BLDG.
Montreal, P.Q.

ITCH
... STOPPED IN A MINUTE ...
Are you troubled with the itching tortures of the skin? Itch, eczema, or other skin ailments? For quick and happy relief, use COOLING, ANTISEPTIC, ITCH-STOPPING PREPARATION. Its gentle oils soothe the inflamed skin. Clear, granular and non-irritating. A 15c tin kills the itch instantly. A 50c tin kills the itch forever. Proves it or money back.

Issue No. 48 — '36
C-1